Malik Says Chinese Reds Will Go Home If U. N. Quits Korea; Committee Adopts Truce Plan

Opposition By Russia Apparently Dooms 13 Nations' Cease-Fire Idea

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 13 (AP)—In an unexpected move, Russia's Jacob A. Malik said today the Chinese Communist forces will go home if all "foreign troops" (United Nations forces) are withdrawn from Korea.

This surprise statement came just before the U. N. Political Committee beat down Malik's stubborn opposition and approved a plan of 13 Asian and Middle East countries for seeking a cease-fire in Korea.

The vote was 51 to 5 (Soviet bloc) with Nationalist China abstaining.

Malik told the delegates that several committee members had stated that the Soviet demand for withdrawal of foreign troops meant only U. N. forces and did not refer to Chinese Communists. He said he wanted it stated for the record that Chinese "volunteers" also would leave Korea.

Asked after the meeting just what he meant, Malik told a reporter that if the foreign forces (meaning the U. N. troops) are withdrawn, there no longer will be any need for the volunteers in Korea and they would be allowed to return to China.

There was no immediate reaction from the United States or other Western Powers.

Russian opposition to the cease-fire proposal made it doubtful that a truce could be arranged. Malik's explanation indicated that he expected the U. N. forces to withdraw first and this is a condition which western delegates indicated they could not accept.

The General Assembly is expected to take up this cease-fire idea tomorrow, with approval expected. It calls on President Nasrollah Entezam, of the Assembly, and two persons to be named by Entezam to see if there is a basis on which a cease-fire can be arranged.

The vote was taken after Canada and the Phillippines warned the Russians and the Chinese Communists that the free nations would fight together if the Communists start a war to gain their demands.

In some unusually plain talking, Lester B. Pearson, Canadian foreign minister, promptly served notice on Moscow and Peiping that the free nations will fight together against the Communists if the Reds force a world war.

Romulo, speaking slowly and carefully, said if peace collapses and war comes "the responsibility shall fall squarely on the governments such as that represented by Mr. Jacob Malik here, and the dark and evil forces for which they work."

Pearson said:

"The Chinese Communists may play a great part in rolling us downhill toward war. We do not want war with China but if faced with the demand of 'give us everything we want or war,' then we may have to take collective security action in the face of that."

GM, Ford Hold Firm In Refusing To Cancel Boosts

Mandatory Controls Hinted By Valentine

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — General Motors and Ford held firm today, for the time being at least, against a virtual government "ultimatum" to roll back their 1951 car price boosts or risk a federal crackdown.

An official announcement, said Economic Stabilizer Alan Valentine, told the companies that unless they complied with his plea for voluntary hold-the-line action, it would be difficult to avoid "mandatory controls on the nation's economy."

"Events and circumstances over which none of us have any control have made it imperative that we must act now to curb, stop and defeat serious spiralling inflation," Valentine said.

Day-Long Conference

The announcement followed day-long talks between Valentine and his price-control deputy, Michael V. DiSalle, on the one side and the nation's 10 big auto manufacturers, on the other.

DiSalle told newsmen he hopes there may be further meetings in which some kind of an agreement can be reached.

Valentine's agency, the Economic Stabilization Administration, said in a statement the companies were asked to roll back all price increases announced last week and to forego any further increases until next March 15.

"Most of the companies replied they were unable to make such a commitment," the ESA statement said.

The announcement concluded:

"ESA officials said they would consider what further action, if any, they felt was necessary in view of the information furnished to them by the companies, and would announce a decision shortly."

Price Ceilings Expected

Some industry officials said frankly they expected the government to crack down with compulsory ceilings on auto prices.

Valentine said the motorcar industry was not being singled out for isolated action — or for "guinea pig" cutbacks, as Henry Ford II phrased it.

Simultaneously, the government studied reports of rising food prices — notably in the Washington area — as major chain stores said they were "swamped" with wholesale food price boosts.

Several chain stores here said producers were hiking their prices all along the line in anticipation of a federal price freeze.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky, cheif Russian delegate to the United Nations, was to sail today aboard the liner America but cancelled passage at the last minute. There was no explanation for his change of mind.

House Approves Yugo Relief Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—After two days of sharp debate the House today passed, 225 to 142, a bill to provide $38,000,000 in food relief to Communist Yugoslavia, which has been stricken by drought.

The administration bill, which already has been passed by the Senate, now goes to a Senate-House conference committee for ironing out of minor differences.

Backers contended that the measure is a wise move on the world front. They pointed to Marshall Tito's long split with Moscow and said his regime must be bulwarked as a barrier against the spread of Soviet Communism in Europe.

On the other hand Rep. Davis (D-Ga) told the House that Tito is as "blackhearted and treacherous a Communist as Stalin himself." He said it was a "weak argument" to contend "our generosity will sway the Communist dictator, Tito, to such an extent that his military strength will be a threat to Russia in the event America and Russia go to war."

Pearson Slapped, Punched Or Kicked By Sen. M'Carthy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. (AP)—Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin hauled off at Columnist Drew Pearson in the plush Sulgrave Club last night and slapped, punched or kicked him, depending on whose version you accept.

The Senator and the columnist-commentator do not fancy each other. Pearson has been critical of McCarthy, who has been conducting a campaign for months against persons he calls Reds in high government posts.

The Senator, taking note of Pearson's writings, has been circulating the word that any day now he will arise in the Senate and take the hide off Pearson.

Last night they met at a party in the club, which is just off duPont Circle and is frequented by many well known Washingtonians.

McCarthy's version — "I slapped him hard."

Radio Commentator Fulton Lewis' version — McCarthy punched Pearson and lifted him about three feet off the floor.

McCarthy told a reporter he met Pearson in the men's cloak room after the party, and he gave this account:

"Pearson said to me: 'McCarthy, if you talk about personal things regarding me on the Senate floor, I'll get you.'

"So I slapped him in the face. I slapped him hard."

Pearson denied he was knocked down.

"The Senator kicked me twice in the groin," he said. "As usual he hit below the belt. But his pugilistic powers are about as ineffective as his Senate speeches. I was not hurt."

THE WINNER — Michigan's governor, G. Mennen Williams, celebrates at Detroit recount headquarters after former Gov. Harry F. Kelly yesterday conceded defeat in the Nov. 7 election. Kelly conceded after a recount of three-fourths of the ballots.

Kelly Concedes Williams Victor In Mich. Election

Recount Increases Governor's Margin

DETROIT, Dec. 13 (AP) — Republican former Gov. Harry F. Kelly, the apparent winner for three days after Michigan's Nov. 7 governorship election, finally conceded re-election tonight to Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Kelly tossed in the sponge after 12 days of a recount during which weary workers had rechecked more than three-fourths of the nearly 1,900,000 votes cast.

There was a touch of irony in Kelly's admission of defeat.

For three days solid after the election the two-time wartime governor had led Williams by margins up to more than 4,000 votes.

Heir To Fortune

Williams, youthful heir to a shaving cream fortune, pulled into a 1,154-vote lead after the official canvass.

Once the recount got under way, he pulled away steadily as batch after batch of ballots switched to his favor.

Ballots in 3,408 of Michigan's 4,355 precincts had been recounted when the end came. Williams had picked up 3,089 additional votes by that time, bringing his total margin to 4,234.

These were the totals:
Williams (D) 934,096
Kelly (R) 929,853

Shallow Victory

The Democratic margin will go down in history, however, as the original 1,154 votes — the leanest plurality in a governorship race since 1837.

Williams' victory, though spectacular, was somewhat of a shallow one. Every other high state official elected Nov. 7 is a Republican. The state legislature traditionally is overwhelmingly Republican.

"I congratulate Gov. William upon his victory and wish him a successful administration," said Kelly in a statement. He has a private law practice in Detroit.

Coca-Cola Price Upped

NEW YORK, Dec 13 (AP)—The Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of New York today announced an increase in the price of a case of Coca-Cola to 96 cents from 80 cents. That will mean an incerase in the retail price to six cents from the familiar five cents long in effect. A carton will cost 30 cents at retail against the present 25 cent charge, the company said.

Proclamation Of Emergency Is Due Friday

Lawmakers Hear Truman Proposals

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — President Truman obtained agreement of congressional leaders of both parties to "a very rapid increase" in U. S. military strength today and indicated that he plans a sharp setup in home front effort to support it.

Mr. Truman's proposals to meet the world crisis were outlined to the congressional leaders at a conference with the President, Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Marshall.

The White House announced afterward that there appeared to be unanimous agreement among the conferees that "our military strength should be built up with the utmost speed."

Confirming this on behalf of the Republicans who attended, Sen. Taft of Ohio told reporters they also agreed fully that "a dangerous emergency exists for the people of the United States."

The White House statement said there appeared to be strong sentiment in favor of declaring a national emergency, a step which many of the conferees expect Mr. Truman to announce in a world-wide radio broadcast at 10:30 p. m., (EST) Friday night.

Some Withhold Judgment

But it acknowledged that some of those present withheld judgment on this idea pending further study as to the legal effects of such a proclamation.

Taft put it this way in a statement he dictated to reporters on behalf of the Senate and House Republican leaders:

"As to the proposed declaration of a national emergency, we did not feel we were sufficiently advised as to the legal effect of such a declaration, or the program that must accompany it, to take a final position on that question.

"If the declaration is legally necessary to advance the development of our armed strength, we would be for it."

One of the legislators who attended the White House conference showed a reporter a list of 17 powers which he said the President gains—among many others—by a declaration of a national emergency.

Among these are power to take control of foreign flag ships in U. S. territorial waters and to lengthen the work day for military employees and workers on government contracts.

Another Conference Set

Legal authorities disagreed, however, as to whether a new proclamation is legally necessary to give the President such emergency powers. Some contended he already has them under emergency proclamations issued by Franklin D. Roosevelt during World War II and never cancelled. Others argued that a new proclamation is needed to give the armed services clear authority to place orders quickly without advertising for bids.

One congressional leader, who declined to be quoted by name, predicted Mr. Truman will announce in his Friday night broadcast that he intends to invoke drastic industrial mobilization powers provided by the draft law.

Late in the day the White House announced that congressional leaders and officials concerned with atomic energy and economic controls will attend a second extraordinary conference at the presidential offices at 10 a. m., (EST) tomorrow.

Farmer-Labor Unity Is Urged

DALLAS, Dec. 13 (AP)—CIO Secretary James B. Carey said today "more than ever before in history, farmers and workers have a common cause."

In a bid for farmer-labor unity, the slender labor leader told the American Farm Bureau Federation that farmers' and wage earners' share of the national income is dropping while the share taken by corporations rises.

Industrial profits are too high, he said. He said General Motors' profits are "absolutely incredible." Farm machinery prices are high, he said, because International Harvester profits have risen 800 per cent in 10 years and John Deere and Allis-Chalmers profits rose 500 per cent.

End To Crippling Wildcat Strike Of Chicago Railroad Workers Ordered By Court

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP)—A U. S. District Court judge tonight issued temporary order directing the Brotherhood of Railroad trainmen to end a wildcat strike at Chicago which has crippled rail freight movement and forced cancellation of some passenger trains.

Judge William J. Campbell signed the order after U. A. Attorney Otto Kerner, Jr., told the court the strike, beginning this morning, was a "concerted action" by the brotherhood. Kerner said the work stoppage was causing obstruction of interstate commerce and the mails, and was "seriously interfering with the war effort."

The extraordinary night session of court followed flight of representatives of the Department of Justice and the Army from Washington to Chicago.

Hearing Set Dec. 21

Judge Campbell set Dec. 21 for a hearing on a preliminary injunction asked by the government. The temporary order will remain in effect until Dec. 23.

The strike tied up military shipments, Christmas parcels and other freight at this big rail center. The Post Office Department in Washington said the strike would mean a major delay in the Chicago mails now moving through Chicago.

With hundreds of loaded freight cars piling up in unmanned railroad yards and the strike spreading, the New York Central and two belt lines declared freight embargoes. The New York Central also said four passenger trains to eastern points would be cancelled tomorrow.

The strike was called suddenly at 1:30 a. m. (CST) today in key railroad yards. Yard workers represented by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen either failed to appear or reported sick and left their jobs.

At Least 16 Lines Involved

The Army, which seized the nation's railroads Aug. 27 to prevent a strike, reacted swiftly. Assistant Secretary of the Army Benetsen said the Army will "take all steps necessary" to get the men back to work.

Sam Vander Hei, the union's Chicago chief, said he received instructions from Union President W. P. Kennedy in Washington to tell the men to go back to work. He said he was passing this word along "but I don't see how I can reach 10,000 of them."

Meanwhile, the strike spread throughout the day. Originally, only eight lines were affected. by nightfall, at least 16 were involved.

19 Kids Put Out Fire, Save School

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis., Dec. 13 (AP)—Nineteen kids saved their country school from burning today by carrying water from an outside pump while their teacher drove two miles to telephone for help.

The youngsters, ranging from first to eighth graders, splashed water on a chimney blaze in the one-story Clover school. They used dinner buckets, pails and old tin cans. By the time Wisconsin Rapids firemen arrived in response to the call by the teacher, Mrs. Opal Baldwin, the fire was out.

Non-Military Aid To Britain Cut Off

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — United States today suspended virtually all Marshall aid to Britain effective January 1 because of a marked improvement in Britain's economic health.

A cautiously-worded announcement emphasized, however, that the flow of Marshall Plan dollars may be resumed later if Britain's condition worsens.

At the same time, top American officials stressed that the United States would continue to give Britain American dollars to spur its new rearmament program. The United States has a fund of $5,000,000,000 to help nearly a score of foreign countries build up their defenses.

The arms fund is distinct from the Marshall Plan, which was set up to get war-battered countries on their economic feet.

The decision to end most Marshall Plan aid was announced jointly by Marshall Plan Administrator William C. Foster and Hugh Gaitskell, British Chancellor of the Exchequer.

It came after nearly six weeks of friendly talks with the British in London.

Radiation Detector Is Developed By GE

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP) — A new radiation detector that will warn atomic workers of a radiation hazard in time to avoid serious exposure was announced today by General Electric Company.

The company said the instrument, a "radiation monitor," would permit direct readings at a glance.

GE engineers said it could warn of the presence of radiation in amounts much less than those permitted by the most stringent safety regulations.

State Officials' Failure To Curb Gambling Scored

Indictment Of Some Demanded By Tobey

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — An angry demand for the indictment of state officials who fail to clamp down on gamblers and racketeers was voiced by Sen. Tobey (R-NH) today at the close of a day's hearing by the Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

"Any sovereign state in the nation can stop this tomorrow morning if it wants to unless there is collusion along the line," he cried.

"We ought to be indicting some public officials," Tobey said, adding he was speaking from knowledge gathered by the committee across the nation. He accused some state officials of having "no more backbone than a chocolate eclair."

Two Witnesses Won't Talk

Tobey's outburst followed the refusal of two witnesses, James Lynch, Padisades Park, N. J., and Arthur Longano, Englewood, N. J., to answer the committee's questions about gambling activities.

Both Lynch and Longano told of serving jail terms and testified they never have had any legitimate business.

Tobey said that, from the evidence obtained by the committee "New Jersey seems to be a hotbed of illegality." He said he failed to understand "why authorities in New Jersey don't watch this thing more closely."

But Tobey said the situation wasn't peculiar to New Jersey alone. He said the committee had found the same thing in California, Florida, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and other places.

Chatterbox Gambler

At its morning session the committee heard a regular chatterbox of a gambler, who admitted cheerfully "wherever there was a crap game, I was there."

Sure, William Moretti told the committee headed by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), he knew Frank Costello, Joe Adonis, Tony Accardo, and the Fischetti brothers, Charles and Rocco—all of whose names have figured in the Senate probe into interstate gambling, racketeering and crime.

Chlorinated Lime Explosion Sends Gas Toward Town

DAGGETT, Calif., Dec., 13 (AP) — An explosion of chlorinated lime at a Marine Corps supply depot today sent clouds of possible deadly gas sweeping across the desert, and for a time threatened the 500 inhabitants of this isolated town.

Prevailing winds carried the chlorine gas steadily toward the town, four miles west of the depot. Some 1,700 marines at the base were believed out of danger.

No casualties were reported from the blast or the fire that followed.

Some citizens here prepared to evacuate if necessary.

Lt. Col. Frank Shine, executive officer of the Barstow annex of the desert depot, gave this explanation of the blast:

A crew of Marines was at work burying a surplus supply of chlorinated lime, bulldozing it into the ground. Moisture in the air apparently caused a gas to form which may have been ignited by a spark, perhaps from a bulldozer scraper.

The explosion sent clouds of gas shooting upward 200 or more feet before being scattered by the wind. The fire was extinguished in several hours, Lt. Col. Shine reported. No estimate on the damage was given.

Reds' Probing Attack Halted; Alert Ordered

Troops' Destination Still Military Secret

TOKYO, Thursday, Dec. 14 (AP)—The 60,000-man United Nations army of Northeastern Korea sped its withdrawal through choked Hangnam harbor today under the menace of Chinese Reds massing in the snow-covered hills nearby.

A Chinese Communist force of around 300 was repulsed early today in a probing attack made only seven miles north of Hamhung—in the perimeter of a huge United Nations sea evacuation. Red planes scouted the jammed Hungnam harbor last night.

The perimeter, from which 60,000 U. N. troops began going aboard ships Monday, went under an alert. (The dispatch made no further elaboration.)

Between eight and nine Chinese Communist divisions ringed this last United Nations beachhead in Northeast Korea.

A briefing officer said the main enemy concentration apparently was moving down the Songchon River valley toward Hamhung.

U. S. Third Division elements drove off the probing attack today, made near Chubongnyon.

Planes Maul 250 Reds

The U. S. Seventh Division reported 1,000 Reds were seen six miles east of Sinhung, which is about 18 miles north of Humhung.

Marine planes caught 250 Reds in Sinhung itself and mauled them in repeated attacks.

Airmen reported that Chinese groups on railroad handcars were moving from the Pujon (Fusen) reservoir area through the Songchon valley toward a point 25 miles north of Hamung.

Here in the perimeter, American infantrymen were in entrenched positions. Behind them was massed artillery.

The Songchon valley, where the big threat apparently lies, opens into the coastal flatland about six miles north of Hamhung.

Quartermaster troops worked frantically today emptying Hamhung's crammed warehouses. Great stockpiles of goods and equipment were moved to Hungnam, deeper inside the perimeter.

Destination Is Secret

The Allies strove to clear the bustling beachhead on the east coast of North Korea before the Communists—possibly 80,000 strong—could strike in force.

A few Reds in captured American uniforms made a light feeler attack on the beachhead perimeter Wednesday but were quickly driven off.

The orderly Allied evacuation began in secret three days ago. It will take several days to complete. Destination of the troops pulling out still was a top military secret.

Allied officers said they were confident that rear guard troops, armed with artillery and mortars, could hold off any Chinese smash long enough to clear the port.

Picked troops from five divisions manned the beachhead perimeter. The line arched out in a 14-mile radius from Hungnam.

Pray-For-Peace Day Set Dec. 24

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP) — The American Council of Christian Churches today set Dec. 24 as a day of special prayer for peace and freedom and for President Truman.

An announcement from council leaders said prayers would be offered for the President "in this time of tremendous strain and superhuman responsibility that he may receive special grace to lead us aright."

The announcement was made in a telegram to Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La), who recently suggested to Mr. Truman that he proclaim a day of prayer—and received a tart reply.

Mr. Truman said in his letter to Hebert that he already had asked in his Thanksgiving proclamation for the people to pray for peace. Then the President added a paragraph saying he regretted Hebert's sentiments were not thought before the November election in Louisiana and some other states.

The council telegram to Hebert was released by the council office here.

The Senator and the columnist-commentator do not fancy each other. Pearson has been critical of McCarthy, who has been conducting a campaign for months against persons he calls Reds in high government posts.

The Senator, taking note of Pearson's writings, has been circulating the word that any day now he will arise in the Senate and take the hide off Pearson.

Last night they met at a party in the club, which is just off duPont Circle and is frequented by many well known Washingtonians.

McCarthy's version — "I slapped him hard."

Radio Commentator Fulton Lewis' version — McCarthy punched Pearson and lifted him about three feet off the floor.

McCarthy told a reporter he met Pearson in the men's cloak room after the party, and he gave this account:

"Pearson said to me: 'McCarthy, if you talk about personal things regarding me on the Senate floor, I'll get you.'

"So I slapped him in the face. I slapped him hard."

Pearson denied he was knocked down.

"The Senator kicked me twice in the groin," he said. "As usual he hit below the belt. But his pugilistic powers are about as ineffective as his Senate speeches. I was not hurt."

Proclamation Of Emergency Is Due Friday

Lawmakers Hear Truman Proposals

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — President Truman obtained agreement of congressional leaders of both parties to "a very rapid increase" in U. S. military strength today and indicated that he plans a sharp setup in home front effort to support it.

Mr. Truman's proposals to meet the world crisis were outlined to the congressional leaders at a conference with the President, Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Marshall.

The White House announced afterward that there appeared to be unanimous agreement among the conferees that "our military strength should be built up with the utmost speed."

Confirming this on behalf of the Republicans who attended, Sen. Taft of Ohio told reporters they also agreed fully that "a dangerous emergency exists for the people of the United States."

The White House statement said there appeared to be strong sentiment in favor of declaring a national emergency, a step which many of the conferees expect Mr. Truman to announce in a world-wide radio broadcast at 10:30 p. m., (EST) Friday night.

Some Withhold Judgment

But it acknowledged that some of those present withheld judgment on this idea pending further study as to the legal effects of such a proclamation.

Taft put it this way in a statement he dictated to reporters on behalf of the Senate and House Republican leaders:

"As to the proposed declaration of a national emergency, we did not feel we were sufficiently advised as to the legal effect of such a declaration, or the program that must accompany it, to take a final position on that question.

"If the declaration is legally necessary to advance the development of our armed strength, we would be for it."

One of the legislators who attended the White House conference showed a reporter a list of 17 powers which he said the President gains—among many others—by a declaration of a national emergency.

Among these are power to take control of foreign flag ships in U. S. territorial waters and to lengthen the work day for military employees and workers on government contracts.

Another Conference Set

Legal authorities disagreed, however, as to whether a new proclamation is legally necessary to give the President such emergency powers. Some contended he already has them under emergency proclamations issued by Franklin D. Roosevelt during World War II and never cancelled. Others argued that a new proclamation is needed to give the armed services clear authority to place orders quickly without advertising for bids

One congressional leader, who declined to be quoted by name, predicted Mr. Truman will announce in his Friday night broadcast that he intends to invoke drastic industrial mobilization powers provided by the draft law.

Late in the day the White House announced that congressional leaders and officials concerned with atomic energy and economic controls will attend a second extraordinary conference at the presidential offices at 10 a. m., (EST) tomorrow.

Farmer-Labor Unity Is Urged

DALLAS, Dec. 13 (AP)—CIO Secretary James B. Carey said today "more than ever before in history, farmers and workers have a common cause."

In a bid for farmer-labor unity, the slender labor leader told the American Farm Bureau Federation that farmers' and wage earners' share of the national income is dropping while the share taken by corporations rises.

Industrial profits are too high, he said. He said General Motors' profits are "absolutely incredible." Farm machinery prices are high, he said, because International Harvester profits have risen 800 per cent in 10 years and John Deere and Allis-Chalmers profits rose 500 per cent.

End To Crippling Wildcat Strike Of Chicago Railroad Workers Ordered By Court

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP)—A U. S. District Court judge tonight issued temporary order directing the Brotherhood of Railroad trainmen to end a wildcat strike at Chicago which has crippled rail freight movement and forced cancellation of some passenger trains.

Judge William J. Campbell signed the order after U. A. Attorney Otto Kerner, Jr., told the court the strike, beginning this morning, was a "concerted action" by the brotherhood. Kerner said the work stoppage was causing obstruction of interstate commerce and the mails, and was "seriously interfering with the war effort."

The extraordinary night session of court followed flight of representatives of the Department of Justice and the Army from Washington to Chicago.

Hearing Set Dec. 21

Judge Campbell set Dec. 21 for a hearing on a preliminary injunction asked by the government. The temporary order will remain in effect until Dec. 23.

The strike tied up military shipments, Christmas parcels and other freight at this big rail center. The Post Office Department in Washington said the strike would mean a major delay in the Chicago mails now moving through Chicago.

With hundreds of loaded freight cars piling up in unmanned railroad yards and the strike spreading, the New York Central and two belt lines declared freight embargoes. The New York Central also said four passenger trains to eastern points would be cancelled tomorrow.

The strike was called suddenly at 1:30 a. m. (CST) today in key railroad yards. Yard workers represented by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen either failed to appear or reported sick and left their jobs.

At Least 16 Lines Involved

The Army, which seized the nation's railroads Aug. 27 to prevent a strike, reacted swiftly. Assistant Secretary of the Army Benetsen said the Army will "take all steps necessary" to get the men back to work.

Sam Vander Hel, the union's Chicago chief, said he received instructions from Union President W. P. Kennedy in Washington to tell the men to go back to work. He said he was passing this word along "but I don't see how I can reach 10,000 of them."

Meanwhile, the strike spread throughout the day. Originally, only eight lines were affected. by nightfall, at least 16 were involved.

Radiation Detector Is Developed By GE

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP) — A new radiation detector that will warn atomic workers of a radiation hazard in time to avoid serious exposure was announced today by General Electric Company.

The company said the instrument, a "radiation monitor," would permit direct readings at a glance.

GE engineers said it could warn of the presence of radiation in amounts much less than those permitted by the most stringent safety regulations.

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis., Dec. 13 (AP)—Nineteen kids saved their country school from burning today by carrying water from an outside pump while their teacher drove two miles to telephone for help.

Non-Military Aid To Britain Cut Off

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — United States today suspended virtually all Marshall aid to Britain effective January 1 because of a marked improvement in Britain's economic health.

A cautiously-worded announcement emphasized, however, that the flow of Marshall Plan dollars may be resumed later if Britain's condition worsens.

At the same time, top American officials stressed that the United States would continue to give Britain American dollars to spur its new rearmament program. The United States has a fund of $5,000,000,000 to help nearly a score of foreign countries build up their defenses.

The arms fund is distinct from the Marshall Plan, which was set up to get war-battered countries on their economic feet.

The decision to end most Marshall Plan aid was announced jointly by Marshall Plan Administrator William C. Foster and Hugh Gaitskell, British Chancellor of the Exchequer.

It came after nearly six weeks of friendly talks with the British in London.

Chlorinated Lime Explosion Sends Gas Toward Town

DAGGETT, Calif., Dec., 13 (AP) — An explosion of chlorinated lime at a Marine Corps supply depot today sent clouds of possible deadly gas sweeping across the desert, and for a time threatened the 500 inhabitants of this isolated town.

Prevailing winds carried the chlorine gas steadily toward the town, four miles west of the depot. Some 1,700 marines at the base were believed out of danger.

No casualties were reported from the blast or the fire that followed.

Some citizens here prepared to evacuate if necessary.

A crew of Marines was at work burying a surplus supply of chlorinated lime, bulldozing it into the ground. Moisture in the air apparently caused a gas to form which may have been ignited by a spark, perhaps from a bulldozer scraper.

The explosion sent clouds of gas shooting upward 200 or more feet before being scattered by the wind. The fire was extinguished in several hours, Lt. Col. Shine reported. No estimate on the damage was given.

State Officials' Failure To Curb Gambling Scored

Indictment Of Some Demanded By Tobey

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — An angry demand for the indictment of state officials who fail to clamp down on gamblers and racketeers was voiced by Sen. Tobey (R-NH) today at the close of a day's hearing by the Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

"Any sovereign state in the nation can stop this tomorrow morning if it wants to unless there is collusion along the line," he cried.

"We ought to be indicting some public officials," Tobey said, adding he was speaking from knowledge gathered by the committee across the nation, He accused some state officials of having "no more backbone than a chocolate eclair."

Two Witnesses Won't Talk

Tobey's outburst followed the refusal of two witnesses, James Lynch, Padisades Park, N. J., and Arthur Longano, Englewood, N. J., to answer the committee's questions about gambling activities.

Both Lynch and Longano told of serving jail terms and testified they never have had any legitimate business.

Tobey said that, from the evidence obtained by the committee "New Jersey seems to be a hotbed of illegality." He said he failed to understand "why authorities in New Jersey don't watch this thing more closely."

But Tobey said the situation wasn't peculiar to New Jersey alone. He said the committee had found the same thing in California, Florida, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and other places.

Chatterbox Gambler

At its morning session the committee heard a regular chatterbox of a gambler, who admitted cheerfully "wherever there was a crap game, I was there."

Sure, William Moretti told the committee headed by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), he knew Frank Costello, Joe Adonis, Tony Accardo, and the Fischetti brothers, Charles and Rocco—all of whose names have figured in the Senate probe into interstate gambling, racketeering and crime.

Reds' Probing Attack Halted; Alert Ordered

Troops' Destination Still Military Secret

TOKYO, Thursday, Dec. 14 (AP)—The 60,000-man United Nations army of Northeastern Korea sped its withdrawal through choked Hangnam harbor today under the menace of Chinese Reds massing in the snow-covered hills nearby.

A Chinese Communist force of around 300 was repulsed early today in a probing attack made only seven miles north of Hamhung—in the perimeter of a huge United Nations sea evacuation. Red planes scouted the jammed Hungnam harbor last night.

The perimeter, from which 60,000 U. N. troops began going aboard ships Monday, went under an alert. (The dispatch made no further elaboration.)

Between eight and nine Chinese Communist divisions ringed this last United Nations beachhead in Northeast Korea.

A briefing officer said the main enemy concentration apparently was moving down the Songchon River valley toward Hamhung.

U. S. Third Division elements drove off the probing attack today, made near Chubongnyon.

Planes Maul 250 Reds

The U. S. Seventh Division reported 1,000 Reds were seen six miles east of Sinhung, which is about 18 miles north of Humhung.

Marine planes caught 250 Reds in Sinhung itself and mauled them in repeated attacks.

Airmen reported that Chinese groups on railroad handcars were moving from the Pujon (Fusen) reservoir area through the Songchon valley toward a point 25 miles north of Hamung.

Here in the perimeter, American infantrymen were in entrenched positions. Behind them was massed artillery.

The Songchon valley, where the big threat apparently lies, opens into the coastal flatland about six miles north of Hamhung.

Quartermaster troops worked frantically today emptying Hamhung's crammed warehouses. Great stockpiles of goods and equipment were moved to Hungnam, deeper inside the perimeter.

Destination Is Secret

The Allies strove to clear the bustling beachhead on the east coast of North Korea before the Communists—possibly 80,000 strong—could strike in force.

A few Reds in captured American uniforms made a light feeler attack on the beachhead perimeter Wednesday but were quickly driven off.

The orderly Allied evacuation began in secret three days ago. It will take several days to complete. Destination of the troops pulling out still was a top military secret.

Allied officers said they were confident that rear guard troops, armed with artillery and mortars, could hold off any Chinese smash long enough to clear the port.

Picked troops from five divisions manned the beachhead perimeter. The line arched out in a 14-mile radius from Hungnam.

Pray-For-Peace Day Set Dec. 24

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP) — The American Council of Christian Churches today set Dec. 24 as a day of special prayer for peace and freedom and for President Truman.

An announcement from council leaders said prayers would be offered for the President "in this time of tremendous strain and superhuman responsibility that he may receive special grace to lead us aright."

The announcement was made in a telegram to Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La), who recently suggested to Mr. Truman that he proclaim a day of prayer—and received a tart reply.

Mr. Truman said in his letter to Hebert that he already had asked in his Thanksgiving proclamation for the people to pray for peace. Then the President added a paragraph saying he regretted Hebert's sentiments were not thought before the November election in Louisiana and some other states.

The council telegram to Hebert was released by the council office here.

Malik Says Chinese Reds Will Go Home If U. N. Quits Korea; Committee Adopts Truce Plan

Opposition By Russia Apparently Dooms 13 Nations' Cease-Fire Idea

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 13 (AP)—In an unexpected move, Russia's Jacob A. Malik said today the Chinese Communist forces will go home if all "foreign troops" (United Nations forces) are withdrawn from Korea.

This surprise statement came just before the U. N. Political Committee beat down Malik's stubborn opposition and approved a plan of 13 Asian and Middle East countries for seeking a cease-fire in Korea.

The vote was 51 to 5 (Soviet bloc) with Nationalist China abstaining.

Malik told the delegates that several committee members had stated that the Soviet demand for withdrawal of foreign troops meant only U. N. forces and did not refer to Chinese Communists. He said he wanted it stated for the record that Chinese "volunteers" also would leave Korea.

Asked after the meeting just what he meant, Malik told a reporter that if the foreign forces (meaning the U. N. troops) are withdrawn, there no longer will be any need for the volunteers in Korea and they would be allowed to return to China.

There was no immediate reaction from the United States or other Western Powers.

Russian opposition to the cease-fire proposal made it doubtful that a truce could be arranged. Malik's explanation indicated that he expected the U. N. forces to withdraw first and this is a condition which western delegates indicated they could not accept.

The General Assembly is expected to take up this cease-fire idea tomorrow, with approval expected. It calls on President Nasrollah Entezam, of the Assembly, and two persons to be named by Entezam to see if there is a basis on which a cease-fire can be arranged.

The vote was taken after Canada and the Phillippines warned the Russians and the Chinese Communists that the free nations would fight together if the Communists start a war to gain their demands.

In some unusually plain talking, Lester B. Pearson, Canadian foreign minister, promptly served notice on Moscow and Peiping that the free nations will fight together against the Communists if the Reds force a world war.

Romulo, speaking slowly and carefully, said if peace collapses and war comes "the responsibility shall fall squarely on the governments such as that represented by Mr. Jacob Malik here, and the dark and evil forces for which they work."

Pearson said:

"The Chinese Communists may play a great part in rolling us downhill toward war. We do not want war with China but if faced with the demand of 'give us everything we want or war,' then we may have to take collective security action in the face of that."

GM, Ford Hold Firm In Refusing To Cancel Boosts

Mandatory Controls Hinted By Valentine

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — General Motors and Ford held firm today, for the time being at least, against a virtual government "ultimatum" to roll back their 1951 car price boosts or risk a federal crackdown.

An official announcement, said Economic Stabilizer Alan Valentine, told the companies that unless they complied with his plea for voluntary hold-the-line action, it would be difficult to avoid "mandatory controls on the nation's economy."

"Events and circumstances over which none of us have any control have made it imperative that we must act now to curb, stop and defeat serious spiralling inflation," Valentine said.

Day-Long Conference

The announcement followed day-long talks between Valentine and his price-control deputy, Michael V. DiSalle, on the one side and the nation's 10 big auto manufacturers, on the other.

DiSalle told newsmen he hopes there may be further meetings in which some kind of an agreement can be reached.

Valentine's agency, the Economic Stabilization Administration, said in a statement the companies were asked to roll back all price increases announced last week and to forego any further increases until next March 15.

"Most of the companies replied they were unable to make such a commitment," the ESA statement said.

The announcement concluded:

"ESA officials said they would consider what further action, if any, they felt was necessary in view of the information furnished to them by the companies, and would announce a decision shortly."

Price Ceilings Expected

Some industry officials said frankly they expected the government to crack down with compulsory ceilings on auto prices.

Valentine said the motorcar industry was not being singled out for isolated action — or for "guinea pig" cutbacks, as Henry Ford II phrased it.

Simultaneously, the government studied reports of rising food prices — notably in the Washington area — as major chain stores said they were "swamped" with wholesale food price boosts.

Several chain stores here said producers were hiking their prices all along the line in anticipation of a federal price freeze.

House Approves Yugo Relief Bill

WASHINGTON. Dec. 13 (AP) — After two days of sharp debate the House today passed, 225 to 142, a bill to provide $38,000,000 in food relief to Communist Yugoslavia, which has been stricken by drought.

The administration bill, which already has been passed by the Senate, now goes to a Senate-House conference committee for ironing out of minor differences.

Backers contended that the measure is a wise move on the world front. They pointed to Marshall Tito's long split with Moscow and said his regime must be bulwarked as a barrier against the spread of Soviet Communism in Europe.

On the other hand Rep. Davis (D-Ga) told the House that Tito is as "blackhearted and treacherous a Communist as Stalin himself." He said it was a "weak argument" to contend "our generosity will sway the Communist dictator, Tito, to such an extent that his military strength will be a threat to Russia in the event America and Russia go to war."

Kelly Concedes Williams Victor In Mich. Election

Recount Increases Governor's Margin

DETROIT, Dec. 13 (AP) — Republican former Gov. Harry F. Kelly, the apparent winner for three days after Michigan's Nov. 7 governorship election, finally conceded re-election tonight to Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Kelly tossed in the sponge after 12 days of a recount during which weary workers had rechecked more than three-fourths of the nearly 1,900,000 votes cast.

There was a touch of irony in Kelly's admission of defeat.

For three days solid after the election the two-time wartime governor had led Williams by margins up to more than 4,000 votes.

Heir To Fortune

Williams, youthful heir to a shaving cream fortune, pulled into a 1,154-vote lead after the official canvass.

Once the recount got under way, he pulled away steadily as batch after batch of ballots switched to his favor.

Ballots in 3,408 of Michigan's 4,355 precincts had been recounted when the end came. Williams had picked up 3,089 additional votes by that time, bringing his total margin to 4,234.

These were the totals:

Williams (D) 934,096

Kelly (R) 929,853

Shallow Victory

The Democratic margin will go down in history, however, as the original 1,154 votes — the leanest plurality in a governorship race since 1837.

Williams' victory, though spectacular, was somewhat of a shallow one. Every other high state official elected Nov. 7 is a Republican. The state legislature traditionally is overwhelmingly Republican.

"I congratulate Gov. William upon his victory and wish him a successful administration," said Kelly in a statement. He has a private law practice in Detroit.

No casualties were reported from the blast or the fire that followed.

Some citizens here prepared to evacuate if necessary.

Lt. Col. Frank Shine, executive officer of the Barstow annex of the desert depot, gave this explanation of the blast:

A crew of Marines was at work burying a surplus supply of chlorinated lime, bulldozing it into the ground. Moisture in the air apparently caused a gas to form which may have been ignited by a spark, perhaps from a bulldozer scraper.

The explosion sent clouds of gas shooting upward 200 or more feet before being scattered by the wind. The fire was extinguished in several hours, Lt. Col. Shine reported. No estimate on the damage was given.

State Officials' Failure To Curb Gambling Scored

Indictment Of Some Demanded By Tobey

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — An angry demand for the indictment of state officials who fail to clamp down on gamblers and racketeers was voiced by Sen. Tobey (R-NH) today at the close of a day's hearing by the Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

"Any sovereign state in the nation can stop this tomorrow morning if it wants to unless there is collusion along the line," he cried.

"We ought to be indicting some public officials," Tobey said, adding he was speaking from knowledge gathered by the committee across the nation. He accused some state officials of having "no more backbone than a chocolate eclair."

Two Witnesses Won't Talk

Tobey's outburst followed the refusal of two witnesses, James Lynch, Padisades Park, N. J., and Arthur Longano, Englewood, N. J., to answer the committee's questions about gambling activities.

Both Lynch and Longano told of serving jail terms and testified they never have had any legitimate business.

Tobey said that, from the evidence obtained by the committee "New Jersey seems to be a hotbed of illegality." He said he failed to understand "why authorities in New Jersey don't watch this thing more closely."

But Tobey said the situation wasn't peculiar to New Jersey alone. He said the committee had found the same thing in California, Florida, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and other places.

Chatterbox Gambler

At its morning session the committee heard a regular chatterbox of a gambler, who admitted cheerfully "wherever there was a crap game, I was there."

Sure, William Moretti told the committee headed by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), he knew Frank Costello, Joe Adonis, Tony Accardo, and the Fischetti brothers, Charles and Rocco—all of whose names have figured in the Senate probe into interstate gambling, racketeering and crime.

IEU Asks Wage Hikes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—The CIO International Electrical Union today asked wage increases from General Electric, Westinghouse and Sylvania Electric Corporations.

Reds' Probing Attack Halted; Alert Ordered

Troops' Destination Still Military Secret

TOKYO, Thursday, Dec. 14 (AP)—The 60,000-man United Nations army of Northeastern Korea sped its withdrawal through choked Hangnam harbor today under the menace of Chinese Reds massing in the snow-covered hills nearby.

A Chinese Communist force of around 300 was repulsed early today in a probing attack made only seven miles north of Hamhung—in the perimeter of a huge United Nations sea evacuation. Red planes scouted the jammed Hungnam harbor last night.

The perimeter, from which 60,000 U. N. troops began going aboard ships Monday, went under an alert. (The dispatch made no further elaboration.)

Between eight and nine Chinese Communist divisions ringed this last United Nations beachhead in Northeast Korea.

A briefing officer said the main enemy concentration apparently was moving down the Songchon River valley toward Hamhung.

U. S. Third Division elements drove off the probing attack today, made near Chubongnyon.

Planes Maul 250 Reds

The U. S. Seventh Division reported 1,000 Reds were seen six miles east of Sinhung, which is about 18 miles north of Humhung.

Marine planes caught 250 Reds in Sinhung itself and mauled them in repeated attacks.

Airmen reported that Chinese groups on railroad handcars were moving from the Pujon (Fusen) reservoir area through the Songchon valley toward a point 25 miles north of Hamung.

Here in the perimeter, American infantrymen were in entrenched positions. Behind them was massed artillery.

The Songchon valley, where the big threat apparently lies, opens into the coastal flatland about six miles north of Hamhung.

Quartermaster troops worked frantically today emptying Hamhung's crammed warehouses. Great stockpiles of goods and equipment were moved to Hungnam, deeper inside the perimeter.

Destination Is Secret

The Allies strove to clear the bustling beachhead on the east coast of North Korea before the Communists—possibly 80,000 strong—could strike in force.

A few Reds in captured American uniforms made a light feeler attack on the beachhead perimeter Wednesday but were quickly driven off.

The orderly Allied evacuation began in secret three days ago. It will take several days to complete. Destination of the troops pulling out still was a top military secret.

Allied officers said they were confident that rear guard troops, armed with artillery and mortars, could hold off any Chinese smash long enough to clear the port.

Picked troops from five divisions manned the beachhead perimeter. The line arched out in a 14-mile radius from Hungnam.

Pray-For-Peace Day Set Dec. 24

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP) — The American Council of Christian Churches today set Dec. 24 as a day of special prayer for peace and freedom and for President Truman.

An announcement from council leaders said prayers would be offered for the President "in this time of tremendous strain and superhuman responsibility that he may receive special grace to lead us aright."

The announcement was made in a telegram to Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La), who recently suggested to Mr. Truman that he proclaim a day of prayer—and received a tart reply.

Mr. Truman said in his letter to Hebert that he already had asked in his Thanksgiving proclamation for the people to pray for peace. Then the President added a paragraph saying he regretted Hebert's sentiments were not thought before the November election in Louisiana and some other states.

Capitol Is Fine Atomic Target

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — Senators heard today that the lay of the land in Washington, with no hills dividing its area, makes it a fine atomic target.

They were told also that the Air Force thinks no defense system, no matter how well developed, can stop a determined air attack entirely.

But the senators were advised as well that President Truman is determined the government shall not flee the capital in event of enemy air raids.

Roger W. Jones, assistant budget director, told a Senate Public Works subcommittee that Mr. Truman believes the government could remain here under attack if Congress now adopts a $190,000,000 proposal to disperse the military high command and other key agencies into the suburbs some 20 miles from downtown Washington.

This plan of limited dispersal has been recommended to the Chief Executive before but was shelved by Congress.

Jones said the President feels that this program—plus alert radar and fighter plane defenses—would make it possible to keep the government here as "a symbol to the nation" in case of air attacks. The budget official added that Mr. Truman thinks the people would not want an alternate capital set up unless Washington were laid waste completely.

U. N. Group To Study Truman Arms Plan

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—The United Nations Assembly today created a 12-nation committee to study President Truman's proposal to combine the U. N arms reduction talks and atomic control discussions.

The vote was 47 to 5 (Soviet bloc). Yugoslavia, Indonesia and Pakistan abstained.

The committee will consist of Canada and 11 Security Council nations — including the United States, Russia, Britain, France and China. It was directed to make recommendations at the 1951 session of the Assembly.

Canadian Atom Plant Blast Kills One Man

CHALK RIVER, Ont., Dec. 13 (AP)—One man was killed and four others were injured today in an explosion at the Canadian government atomic energy establishment in this town about 120 miles northwest of Ottawa.

The explosion was in a small pilot plant in the chemical storage plant on the banks of the Ottawa River.

An official statement said the explosion occurred during the "process of evaporating a liquid." The blast was some distance from the atomic pile, which was not damaged.

Rumor Fashions Mine 'Disaster'

BELLAIRE, O., Dec. 13 (AP) — Ignatz Imbrosky will be surprised to hear that rumor fashioned his accident at the Webb coal mine today into an explosion fable that upset the whole town.

Miner Imbrosky was crushed at noon between two coal cars inside the Webb mine. Mine officials drove Imbrosky to Bellaire Hospital and telephoned Dr. H. E. Ring of Bellaire.

Dr. Ring had a patient in his office at the time.

The story flowered in the telling. By the time it reached the News-Leader, Bellaire daily newspaper, there had been an explosion at the mine and all doctors and ambulances were called to the scene.

C. C. Mackey, veteran reporter of many a mine disaster, tried checking the mine by telephone but ran into the busy signal. He tried to reach Bellaire doctors. All were out.

The fact was mine families all over this Eastern Ohio county, where mine explosions are a dread never fully ignored, were calling the Webb mine to seek news of loved ones supposedly entombed. And, the Bellaire physicians—well, they all just happened to be out at the same time.

Woman Victim Of Auto Wreck

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Dec. 13 (AP) — State's Attorney Charles Edmondson said tonight a man being questioned in the death of 46-year-old Ruth L. Harris of Federalsburg told him an auto accident was responsible for her death last Nov. 11.

Mrs. Harris' body was found in a wooded section 25 miles northeast of Cambridge Tuesday. Identification was supplied today by a daughter, Lois Harris, also of Federalsburg.

Edmondson says 43-year-old George Edwin O'Day, former Federalsburg man, told investigators he was with Mrs. Harris when the accident occurred on river road about two and a half miles east of Williamsburg more than a month ago.

The Dorchester County state's attorney quoted O'Day as saying the car went out of control and hit a tree, the door on the passenger side flew open ad the woman fell from the car to the ground.

Edmondson says O'Day told police he became frightened and dragged the body of Mrs. Harris about 100 feet off the road and fled.

Earlier today, a medical examiner had said a cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of the woman's death.

U. S. Plans More Atomic Plants

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — Sen. McMahon (D-Conn) outlined to the Senate today a billion-dollar federal program to build huge plants for the development of "new and effective atomic weapons."

McMahon said the program is designed to keep this country ahead in the race for atomic supremacy.

The Connecticut legislator, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, withheld details as to the number of new plants to be constructed and their locations.

He made it clear, however, that there will be new facilities in addition to the projected plant on a $250,000-acre site in South Carolina. The South Carolina installation will be used for making hydrogen bomb materials. Another plant, it is reported, may be located in Kentucky.

McMahon said the new plants will be one phase of a three-phase program for which President Truman recently asked Congress to provide $1,050,000,000.

Another phase, he said, will center on building up U. S. stockpiles of uranium ore — the key ingredient of the atomic bomb — and the third phase calls for new weapons and storage facilities.

N. Y. Egg Prices Drop 12-16 Cents

NEW YORK, Dec. 13. (AP)—Retail egg prices were slashed 12 to 16 cents a dozen by leading store chains here and in some other eastern cities today—but held at or near record levels in other places, notably on the Pacific coast.

At Los Angeles, grade AA large eggs ranged from 89 cents to around $1 a dozen. Long-established dealers said the prices were the highest they could remember.

McKeldin Says He Plans "Real Budget"

BALTIMORE, Dec. 13 (AP) — Governor-elect Theodore R. McKeldin said today he is working on a "real budget" for Maryland.

"We don't have one now," said the Republican who will take office next month.

McKeldin said he plans to form a commission to study the entire state government. It will be patterned after former President Herbert Hoover's commission which recommended reorganization of the federal government.

As to the budget, McKeldin proposes one that will put a ceiling on all departments. At present, he pointed out, the governor has no control over expenditures of special fund departments such as the State Roads Commission.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—The United Nations Assembly today created a 12-nation committee to study President Truman's proposal to combine the U. N arms reduction talks and atomic control discussions.

The vote was 47 to 5 (Soviet bloc). Yugoslavia, Indonesia and Pakistan abstained.

The committee will consist of Canada and 11 Security Council nations — including the United States, Russia, Britain, France and China. It was directed to make recommendations at the 1951 session of the Assembly.

Canadian Atom Plant Blast Kills One Man

CHALK RIVER, Ont., Dec. 13 (AP)—One man was killed and four others were injured today in an explosion at the Canadian government atomic energy establishment in this town about 120 miles northwest of Ottawa.

The explosion was in a small pilot plant in the chemical storage plant on the banks of the Ottawa River.

An official statement said the explosion occurred during the "process of evaporating a liquid." The blast was some distance from the atomic pile, which was not damaged.

Rumor Fashions Mine 'Disaster'

BELLAIRE, O., Dec. 13 (AP) — Ignatz Imbrosky will be surprised to hear that rumor fashioned his accident at the Webb coal mine today into an explosion fable that upset the whole town.

Miner Imbrosky was crushed at noon between two coal cars inside the Webb mine. Mine officials drove Imbrosky to Bellaire Hospital and telephoned Dr. H. E. Ring of Bellaire.

Dr. Ring had a patient in his office at the time.

The story flowered in the telling. By the time it reached the News-Leader, Bellaire daily newspaper, there had been an explosion at the mine and all doctors and ambulances were called to the scene.

C. C. Mackey, veteran reporter of many a mine disaster, tried checking the mine by telephone but ran into the busy signal. He tried to reach Bellaire doctors. All were out.

The fact was mine families all over this Eastern Ohio county, where mine explosions are a dread never fully ignored, were calling the Webb mine to seek news of loved ones supposedly entombed. And, the Bellaire physicians—well, they all just happened to be out at the same time.

Woman Victim Of Auto Wreck

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Dec. 13 (AP) — State's Attorney Charles Edmondson said tonight a man being questioned in the death of 46-year-old Ruth L. Harris of Federalsburg told him an auto accident was responsible for her death last Nov. 11.

Mrs. Harris' body was found in a wooded section 25 miles northeast of Cambridge Tuesday. Identification was supplied today by a daughter, Lois Harris, also of Federalsburg.

Edmondson says 43-year-old George Edwin O'Day, former Federalsburg man, told investigators he was with Mrs. Harris when the accident occurred on river road about two and a half miles east of Williamsburg more than a month ago.

The Dorchester County state's attorney quoted O'Day as saying the car went out of control and hit a tree, the door on the passenger side flew open ad the woman fell from the car to the ground.

Edmondson says O'Day told police he became frightened and dragged the body of Mrs. Harris about 100 feet off the road and fled.

Earlier today, a medical examiner had said a cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of the woman's death.

U. S. Plans More Atomic Plants

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — Sen. McMahon (D-Conn) outlined to the Senate today a billion-dollar federal program to build huge plants for the development of "new and effective atomic weapons."

McMahon said the program is designed to keep this country ahead in the race for atomic supremacy.

The Connecticut legislator, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, withheld details as to the number of new plants to be constructed and their locations.

He made it clear, however, that there will be new facilities in addition to the projected plant on a $250,000-acre site in South Carolina.

The South Carolina installation will be used for making hydrogen bomb materials. Another plant, it is reported, may be located in Kentucky.

McMahon said the new plants will be one phase of a three-phase program for which President Truman recently asked Congress to provide $1,050,000,000.

Another phase, he said, will center on building up U. S. stockpiles of uranium ore — the key ingredient of the atomic bomb — and the third phase calls for new weapons and storage facilities.

N. Y. Egg Prices Drop 12-16 Cents

NEW YORK, Dec. 13. (AP)—Retail egg prices were slashed 12 to 16 cents a dozen by leading store chains here and in some other eastern cities today—but held at or near record levels in other places, notably on the Pacific coast.

At Los Angeles, grade AA large eggs ranged from 89 cents to around $1 a dozen. Long-established dealers said the prices were the highest they could remember.

McKeldin Says He Plans "Real Budget"

BALTIMORE, Dec. 13 (AP) — Governor-elect Theodore R. McKeldin said today he is working on a "real budget" for Maryland.

"We don't have one now," said the Republican who will take office next month.

McKeldin said he plans to form a commission to study the entire state government. It will be patterned after former President Herbert Hoover's commission which recommended reorganization of the federal government.

As to the budget, McKeldin proposes one that will put a ceiling on all departments. At present, he pointed out, the governor has no control over expenditures of special fund departments such as the State Roads Commission.

Using Atom Bombs

President Truman has said he would not hesitate to order atom bombs dropped if necessary for the safety of the United States. It was this statement that brought Premier Attlee of Great Britain to Washington on the double-quick. It is interesting to assay the opinions of experts as to why this weapon has not been used against the Chinese aggressors in Korea.

Early in the fighting in Korea Senator McMahon, chairman of the Congressional Atomic Energy Commission, said the bomb is "primarily a weapon to strike at the sources of power or at troops so massed as to furnish a target."

R. E. Peierls, president of the British Atomic Scientists Association, calls the bomb "most ineffective" in military action such as that in Korea because of the probable absence of any center "vital for the conduct of the present operations."

Gen. Leslie R. Groves, wartime head of the atomic bomb project, agrees that to find suitable targets for the bomb is difficult.

An editorial in the Bulletin for Atomic Scientists refers to the "utter uselessness of the atomic bomb unless it could "destroy the fighting capacity of the Communist army."

Hanson W. Baldwin, a military analyst, writes: "The use of the atomic bomb would be almost certain to consolidate most of Asia against us."

Eleven faculty members of Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology declare: "Reliance by the United States on atomic warfare may weaken the morale and confidence of our European allies" and "an atomic war would almost certainly result in the obliteration of our closest ally (Britain)."

It seems the experts are trying to relegate the atom bomb to the status of poison gas, which was tried in World War I but has not been employed since. But there can be little doubt that Russia will disagree with these views as to the functional value of the atom bomb as soon as the Reds amass a sizable stock pile of this weapon.

Parsnips may be left in the ground all winter without harm, it is claimed. Which shows that the ground can take a lot.

The Rule Of The East

The conclusion of some analysts of the situation in the Far East is that the Chinese Communists have visions of becoming the dominant power of the Orient. If this is so they are merely reverting, inordinately soon after their conquest of China itself, to ancient dreams of Chinese conquerors. During the greater part of its long history China has been too busy with internal divisions to look beyond the borders it has been able to defend from foreign incursion. Yet whenever the great mass of the nation has been brought under a single strong government it has reached outward, seeking to extend its control and influence over the rest of the East.

Under theKhans in the 13th century the greatest extent of Chinese power was attained. China dominated all of Asia north of the Himalayas and reached into Europe. Then Kublai Khan came to disaster attempting to bring Japan into this orbit, and China subsided until the Manchus made their conquests in the 18th and 19th centuries.

Who has not dreamed of dominating the Orient? The Turks kept punching at the borders of China for many centuries. Russia has coveted it. Western powers have thought of it, but have concluded that it is a giddy dream. Japan thought in the present century that the time had come to make the dream come true. India lately entertained brief visions of becoming the leader of the East, not by conquest for that is not the Indian way, but by diplomacy and intrigue.

Now it would appear that Russia is reaching for the victory, using the Chinese as tools. The combination might be capable of attaining the ancient goal of dominance in the Orient. Is the combination itself capable of survival? Or do the Chinese know that they are only tools?

Money talks—or at least it once did. These days it just whispers.

Impregnable Fortress

"Give not up Gibraltar!" This was a popular British song early in the 18th century, when England was intermittently at war with Spain. It may be heard again if the Spanish push their demand that the British surrender this bit of the Spanish peninsula.

Gibraltar, the symbol of impregnability, has been British since 1704, and has withstood three sieges from the French and Spanish. One lasted from 1779 to 1783. Since then it has remained undisturbed, except for an occasional bomb dropped in its direction in the two world wars.

Its actual value is much less now than formerly. Guarding the entrance to the Mediterranean, it can still withstand attack from the sea, but from the air it is in a much less favorable position. Probably also long range guns from Africa could weaken its effectiveness if not destroy it altogether, by blocking off boats that sought to pass through the Straits from the Mediterranean to the Atlantic under protection of the Gibraltar guns.

Much more important is its symbolic value. It has been so long a synonym for a fortress which could not be captured, that to give it up would seem like giving up the keystone of the British empire. Franco presumably knows that. He is undoubtedly resorting to the familiar device of shaky governments, distracting the people's attention from the ills around them by picking a quarrel with a foreign country.

About the only ones you can pin anything on these days are babies.

Trips To The Moon

Are you disappointed because you can't ride on a rocket ship to the moon? Blame Adolf Hitler and the chain of wrong policies that brought on the depression of the thirties. In 1931, says Arthur Louis Joquel, II, of the Rocket Research Institute, plans were made for an international commission on space travel, on which American, German and French scientists would be represented. The depression made it impossible to get the money needed for further research, and the rise of Hitler prevented all forms of peaceful international cooperation with Germany.

The Russian danger may cause a renewal of investigations. Unfortunately the idea probably will be not the creation of an air line for pleasant travel, but the establishment of a new location in the stratosphere for the use of bombers.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Factors That Induce Gout

GOUT IS UNLIKE other forms of arthritis in that it responds to the new hormone, cortisone, but it can be induced by ACTH. We cannot predict at this time whether these hormonal products will become everyday treatment for the disorder because we already have procedures that are easier and safer to administer.

In this disease, the system is not capable of coping with certain proteins in meat and eggs. This food element normally undergoes chemical changes before being utilized by the body. Since this does not occur in the gouty individual, protein accumulates in the blood stream and, although some is excreted in the urine, the remainder finds its way into the joints. Here it sets up irritation. Gout is comparable to diabetes, in which sugar is metabolized improperly. In addition, both disorders have a familiar tendency. Contrary to popular belief, gout has no particular preference for the rich and fat but it does favor the male sex.

How does the malady usually start? Most victims are awakened early in the morning with throbbing pain in one of the large toes near the ball of the foot. Many are surprised to find the involved part swollen and red and the skin tense and glistening. Distress may be so severe that the individual is unable to stand. Now and then even the weight of the bedding or the slightest jarring of the bed is enough to make the victim cry out in anguish.

The situation continues for several days unless treatment is instituted. But achin becomes less pronounced and in due time symptoms subside. This is the tricky nature of gout because the disease will continue to smolder even though there are no outward manifestations. Recurrences are the rule. At first, months elapse between attacks but as the years pass the episodes occur closer together, last longer, and become more difficult to control. In some instances so many uric acid crystals accumulate in the affected joint that it is literally destroyed. These chemicals also may find their way into the tendons, cartilages of the ears, and beneath the skin.

Various factors precipitate an attack. The susceptible person may awaken with a swollen and sore toe after having been out on a "toot" on which he ate and drank too much. A meal high in fat and exposure to dampness and cold will do the same. The city man, for example, who decides to go on a hunting or fishing trip in the north woods may find by the second day that he has walked too far on a gouty foot, eaten too much, or taken more "boat whisky" than was good for him. A bout also may follow an acute infection, hemorrhage, or surgery. The latter occurs so frequently that surgeons often suggest a course of treatment for the susceptible individual a few days prior to operation. Occasionally a siege can be traced to an emotional disturbance. Medicines also may be responsible; insulin, ergotamine, vitamin B, laxatives, the sulfonamides, and ACTH are notorious in this respect.

Colchicine is one of our most useful remedies. It is prescribed in tablet form and should be given as soon as possible. Diarrhea develops when too much is administered and this sign is sometimes used as an indication that enough has been used. Meanwhile, purines and fats are eliminated from the diet. Large amounts of fluid will facilitate the elimination of uric acid from the system.

NITROGLYCERIN TABLETS

M. E. O. writes: My doctor prescribed nitroglycerin tablets for angina pectoris and some days I require more than others. Is there a limit on the amount of this preperation?

REPLY

No. Some patients take as many as 20 to 30 daily without harmful effects.

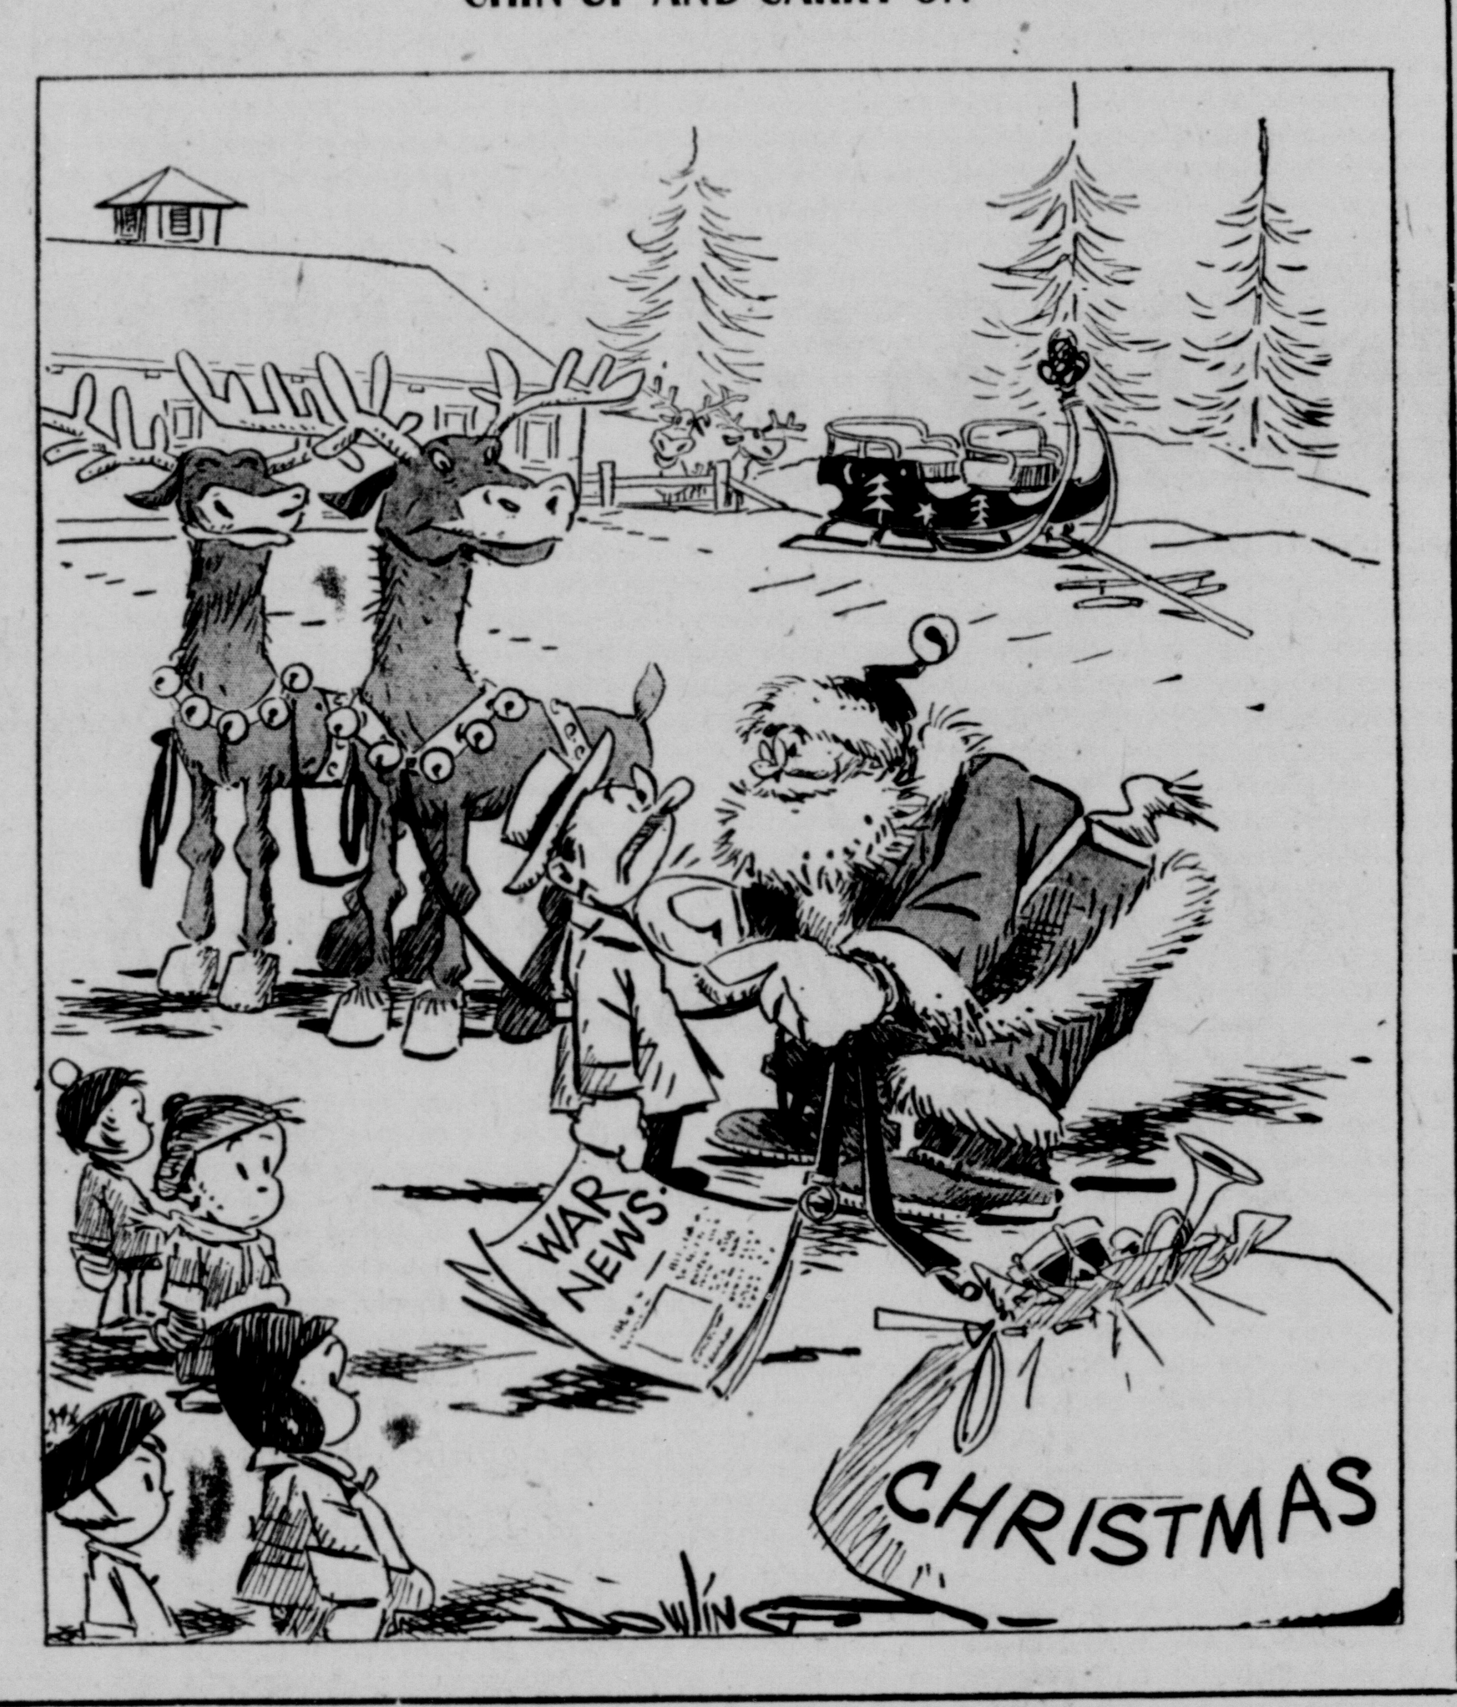
CHIN UP AND CARRY ON



U. S. System Puts Heavy Strain On Its Executive

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dc. 13 — The strain that the American system puts on one man in the presidency is, at a critical moment in history, being talked about from one end of the country to the other. Yet across the seas, and even across the Canadian border, no one man has all the responsibility of executive power—it is shared with a large cabinet which is collectively responsible to the country and can be removed overnight.

There is reason to sympathize with President Truman because the burdens he is carrying are heavier than any American president in nearly 10 years. Only the crisis which Lincoln faced can be said to compare with the series of rises of today. Fears are widely expressed that the survival of America as a free nation can be at stake.

Mr. Truman cannot under our constitutional system really delegate responsibility. He may have advisers in the executive branch of the government but he alone is elected and hence directly responsible to the people, whereas in the parliamentary system in vogue in Britain and Canada the party which is dominant is jointly responsible for both the executive and legislative branches of the government. Whatever may be the defects of this system in a domestic sense, it certainly makes for national unity in a crisis involving the danger of war.

Would Be No Issue

Under the parliamentary system, the secretary of state would not long remain an issue. He would be voted out of power in the national legislature or else he would be given a vote of confidence. The decision would be made and the operation of foreign policy would proceed without the undermining influences of constant debate and friction, because the secretary would be confirmed in office or a new one put in his place.

President Truman is the subject of conversation more than ever before because of various letters he has written showing irritation at critics. Some people explain this as the natural reaction of a man who considers that being president doesn't deprive him of the rights that any person outside the White House may exercise — as, for instance, the right "to blow his top."

Other people are saying that, while the President has the right to get angry, he shouldn't show it—he must not write letters expressing indignation. And if he does, he must couch them in language which is acceptable.

The public in a democracy reserves the right to talk about a president and even to write and tell him how he should behave. But when he answers back — the code of the office is that a president must be dignified and restrained and accept the epithets thrown at him.

As a matter of fact, anyone, who is thin-skinned doesn't belong in politics because the political game involves not only dishing it out but being able to take what is dished out to oneself.

But when all this is considered, the fact remains that just a few weeks ago a couple of would-be assassins shot their way to the front door of the house where the President was sleeping. Outside the house four persons were killed or wounded. The newspapers reported that the President stood up well under the strain — that he took a walk downtown early the next morning and so on — but they also reported that the number of guards had been increased.

Prisoner Of Fate

More and more a president under these circumstances becomes a prisoner of fate . He cannot mingle freely with the people. He cannot come and go as he pleases. He gets a "closed" in feeling and about the only way he can communicate with folks on the outside is by letter or telephone.

The strain which Mr. Truman is under nowadays cannot be imagined by persons on the outside. Death came close to him at Blair House as the shots rang out in October and just a few days ago death came again and took his own close friend and press secretary, Charles Ross. But death stalks even more conspicuously in the frozen fields of Korea as American troops — the men Truman sent there last June —keep their rendezvous with destiny. It is a time for patience for forbearance, for tolerant understanding — and indeed for prayer for the man who carries the greatest burden of our times. And it is possible that the prayers of others will ease this burden and bring an antidote to the spirit of disappointment or even bitterness that may haunt him and give him strength to carry on. For he has two years more of official burdens.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

President's Temper Influences Public Policy; Truman Held Up Price Controls Because Of Baruch; Taft Eager To Talk Foreign Policy With White House

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — All presidents, being human, sometimes lose their temper. And Harry Truman, being intensely devoted to his family, has an understandable tendency to shoot from the hip when it comes to his wife and daughter.

However, those on the inside of the White House know that presidential fuse-blowing is not confined to protecting his family. More and more the President's temper has influenced public policy. Quick decisions, swayed by personal peeve, can effect the lives of millions, and the public has a right to know about them.

Take, for instance, price controls. Failure to impose price controls has shot up the cost of living by billions of dollars, has increased the cost of rearmament to Uncle Sam, and started an inflation spiral which may do inestimable damage. Yet Congress long ago voted presidential power to impose price controls. In fact, Republicans led in giving the President more power than he requested. However, this power has not been used.

Anti-Baruch

One reason is that Bernard Baruch came down to Washington and helped persuade the Republicans to vote these powers; and the President hates Bernard Baruch. He hates him with a passion that distorts and discolors his judgment. When Baruch's name comes up in conversations, dispassionate reason leaves the President.

The hatred began when Baruch declined an invitation to serve on a committee of Democrats to raise money during the 1948 campaign. The President then wrote him a letter not unlike the one sent to music critic Paul Hume; later, he fired Baruch's brother as ambassador to Holland and timed it to occur on Baruch's birthday. Bernie, once a frequent caller at the White House, has never been near there since.

Later, the President blamed Baruch for getting revenge on him by blocking confirmation of Truman's close friend, Mon Wallgren, as chairman of the National Security Resources Board. Baruch denies this. But his influence with Southern senators is considerable, and White House advisers gave him credit for the fact that Wallgren was never confirmed.

Anti-Taft

For a long time the President has been wanting to get the bipartisan foreign policy back on an even keel. But the cornerstone of such a policy is Senator Taft—most influential Republican on Capitol Hill.

For his part, Taft has made no secret of the fact that he would like to be summoned to the White House. When other Republicans, Senators Wherry and Wiley, return from presidential conferences, Taft has queried them like a cub reporter afraid of getting scooped. And when he heard that the White House might call him in last week, Taft was like a schoolgirl about to go to her first prom. He even offered to cancel a trip to Yale, where he is a member of the board of trustees.

But the President who has a personal prejudice against Taft, would not invite him.

Pearson Prediction

Another illustration of presidential peeve which upset his own applecart was the proposed loyalty review board, composed of Judge John Parker of North Carolina, Judge John Patrick Higgins of Massachusetts, and Adm. Chester Nimitz. White House advisers had sold the President on appointing this board to supersede the Tydings Committee for the purpose of thoroughly examining the question of commtinism in the State department.

A nonpartisan board of judges, it was argued, would lift the question of State department loyalty out of partisan politics and give a categoric answer to Senator McCarthy. The President, at first, was all for it.

Then this commentator predicted that the board would be appointed. Immediately the President got peeved. He was not, he made it clear to advisers, going to help make a "Pearson prediction come true."

The bipartisan loyalty board was scrapped, McCarthy's charges became the chief issue of the campaign, and Senator Tydings, Senator Lucas, Helen Gahagan Douglas, Senator Thomas of Utah, plus others of the President's stanchest supporters were defeated.

Had the loyalty board been appointed, it is more than possible that the recent election would have turned out differently.

Palace Guard

Every member of the White House secretariat knows what the President's peeves and pet aversions are. But up until recently they did little to put a quietus on them. In fact, the man who tried hardest to buck the President on certain idiosyncrasies, Clark Clifford, was the object of an intense and jealous campaign by John Steelman to euchre him out.

The White House staff know, of course, that anything even remotely critical of his wife or daughter makes the President blazing mad. The other sure-fire way to get Truman sore is to let drop the idea that someone is trying to build himself up to run for president.

This was one of the things that contributed to Louis Johnson's ouster — though there were others. For a time, Johnson had the run of the White House. He could come and go as he pleased.

Then some of the palace guard dropped word that Louey was planning to run for President in 1952, and immediately the President clammed up. Eventually it was decided to get Johnson out as secretary of defense before the Inchon landing. For, if the resignation request was made afterward, Johnson's stock would be too high. So Louey was fired exactly one day before the Inchon landing.

When the President has time to consider a problem thoroughly and when he doesn't let personalities influence his judgment, his decisions are courageous and usually sound. Invariably he battles for the little fellow. But if, for instance, Matt Connelly, who knows all of Harry Truman's prejudices and work methods, wants to put across a deal for Pan American Airways and American Overseas Airlines, he can usually do it—by dropping a few hints and by arranging a White House conference with one key man absent.

That's why the advisers around the President are so important. That's also why they need to be men with no personal axes to grind, men swayed not by lobbyists' guiles or society dinners, but men devoted only to one cause—to see that Harry Truman does a good job for his country.

Advice From Winston Churchill

WASHINGTON

CERTAIN aspects of politics are like certain diseases, which are so painful even to think about that healthy people rarely mention them. But if a man or woman has cancer, it must be mentioned by the doctor who makes the diagnosis and prescribes the operation. And if a nation is in imminent peril of catastrophe, painful things must also be said by leaders who have courage.

No leader in the Western world has greater courage than Winston Churchill. No one any longer will lightly disregard the voice of the great old man, who almost singlehanded saved the cause of freedom from the menace of Nazism: who was the first, after the war, to see the larger menace of the new Soviet imperialism. And it is time, now, to face up to the real nature of the advice he has been giving for the past two years.

It was just about two years ago, that Churchill began a remarkable series of speeches of which the last was delivered on November 30. In all these speeches, whether on the public platform or in debates in the House of Commons, he has said the same things.

First, he has ascribed to the Kremlin an ambition of world empire. On November 30, he told Parliament:

"(Despite) enormous increases of power and territory, (the Soviets) show no sign of being in any way satiated, satisfied or even contented, and we can perceive no limits at present to their aims."

Despairs Of Matching Power

Second, he has flatly stated that the Soviets were only being restrained from launching a third world war by the American advantage in atomic weapons. At Llandudno in 1948, he said: "Nothing stands between Europe today and complete subjugation to Communist tyranny but the Atomic bomb in American possession."

Third, he has more and more openly confessed despair of matching the Soviet power by ordinary means, at least in the crucial time before our own advantage in atomic weapons will be too greatly impaired by production of atomic weapons in the Soviet Union. In the last speech, in which this despair is total, he said:

"While it is right to build up our forces as fast as we can, nothing in this process will in this period deprive Russia of effective superiority in what are now called 'conventional arms.' All it will do is give us increasing unity in Europe."

Fourth, he has repeatedly advocated negotiations with the Soviet Union on the highest level. In the most powerful and terrifying of all these speeches, when he told the House of Commons last July 7 that "We are more defenseless than we have ever been," he also said:

"A peaceful settlement may (yet) be reached with the Soviet government if a resolute effort is made on the basis not of our present weakness but of American atomic strength. This is the policy which gives the best chance of preventing a fearful war and of securing our survival should it break upon us."

Straight Choice Proposed

Here, however, so awful, so awe-inspiring is the subject, that even Winston Churchill has not spoken plainly. There is plenty of internal evidence of his real meaning, such as the critical reference, in the last speech, to the assurances to the Kremlin that "the United States would not fight what is called a preventive war." There is his further remark that "on this basis the war, if it comes, and God forbid, will come at the moment of the (Soviets') choosing." But his real meaning, which he has stated frankly enough in many private conversations, is only broadly implied in his speeches.

This meaning is that the Kremlin should be given a straight choice by the United States and Britain, between peace now and war now. "The high and secret processes of diplomacy" would be employed, under the Churchillian prescription, to offer Stalin a world settlement on honorable terms, and to warn that our atomic bombs would be used if the settlement were refused. This, indeed, is the only conceivable way to seek a settlement "on the basis of . . . American atomic strength."

It is dreadful that the wisest leader of the West should have been driven, only five years after a great victory, to advocate such an expedient. It is obvious that the most careful consideration should

These Days

The People Of Formosa

IN the huge statement issued by President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee, there are few grains of evidence concerning their agreements and disagreements. Those who drafted the document skillfully avoided publicized commitments of a nature that might flare back at Truman and Attlee from their own electorates. Both exist politically by such narrow margins that the grand daring of statsmanship is not in them.

However, they have thrown a new phrase into the discussion, "the people of Formosa." That phrase has important political meaning at this moment as what it portends is a separation of Chiang Kai-Shek from China. As the statement is worded, it separates Formosa from China—that is, Nationalist China is one entity and Communist China another entity—and the United States and Great Britain can deal with both. The United States says that it will not deal with Soviet China; Great Britain says that it will.

Here is the paragraph to which I refer:

> "We agreed that the issues should be settled by peaceful means and in such a way as to safeguard the interests of Formosa and the maintenance of peace and security in the Pacific, and that consideration of this question by the United Nations will contribute to these ends."

Maybe that is a practical way of handling a simple situation which the deceit and ignorance of statesmen made complex to the point of bringing on an unnecessary war which probably cost 10,000 American lives. Maybe for them there is no other out, because otherwise they would have to denounce and incriminate themselves.

Yet, we need to think of the degradation of our moral position. On November 26, 1943, the Far Eastern settlement had been reached in terms concerning which only Japan had cause for complaint. This was in the Cairo declaration signed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Chiang Kai-Shek. It read:

". . . it is their purpose that Japan shall be stripped of all the islands in the Pacific which she has seized or occupied since the beginning of the first world war in 1914, and that all the territories Japan has stolen from the Chinese, such as Manchuria, Formosa, and the Pescadores, shall be restored to the Republic of China. Japan will also be expelled from all other territories which she has taken by violence and greed. The aforesaid three great powers, mindful of the enslavement of the people of Korea, are determined that in due course Korea shall become free and independent."

From this declaration, Roosevelt and Churchill receded five days later at Teheran, where they met with Stalin. However, they did not inform Chiang Kai-Shek that the agreement he had signed in Cairo had already been invalidated. In a word, Roosevelt and Churchill on December 1, 1943, when they made the Cairo declaration public, issued a document which they themselves had already made a dead letter.

All our present troubles come from that one big lie. The oft-given excuse is that it was the only way to get Russia into the Far Eastern war. But that, too, is a lie. For Russia did not enter the Far Eastern war until August 8, 1945, nearly two years later. Chiang was not told of the lie until the summer of 1945 when General Pat Hurley exposed the deception to him.

The Korean war is a direct product of the American and British consent to the conquest of Manchuria by Soviet Russia in violation of the pledged signature of Roosevelt and Churchill.

Neither a nation nor a man can recede from a moral position without peril. The disadvantage of Dean Acheson, as secretary of state, is not that he lacks ability; it is that he has had to fight this lie, the devil of Teheran, the deceit and folly of Teheran. He has been required to cover up, to deceive his own people, to issue the dishonest white paper on China, to play along with the anti-American policy of Great Britain—all to cover up the lie of Teheran.

But it will not stay covered. It stands out now as the tombstone over the graves of our sons in Korea.

The phrase "the people of Formosa" is but another rationalization in this long retreat from truth. It is our moral Dunkirk.

Using Atom Bombs

President Truman has said he would not hesitate to order atom bombs dropped if necessary for the safety of the United States. It was this statement that brought Premier Attlee of Great Britain to Washington on the double-quick. It is interesting to assay the opinions of experts as to why this weapon has not been used against the Chinese aggressors in Korea.

Early in the fighting in Korea Senator McMahon, chairman of the Congressional Atomic Energy Commission, said the bomb is "primarily a weapon to strike at the sources of power or at troops so massed as to furnish a target."

R. E. Peierls, president of the British Atomic Scientists Association, calls the bomb "most ineffective" in military action such as that in Korea because of the probable absence of any center "vital for the conduct of the present operations."

Gen. Leslie R. Groves, wartime head of the atomic bomb project, agrees that to find suitable targets for the bomb is difficult.

An editorial in the Bulletin for Atomic Scientists refers to the "utter uselessness of the atomic bomb unless it could "destroy the fighting capacity of the Communist army."

Hanson W. Baldwin, a military analyst, writes: "The use of the atomic bomb would be almost certain to consolidate most of Asia against us."

Eleven faculty members of Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology declare: "Reliance by the United States on atomic warfare may weaken the morale and confidence of our European allies" and "an atomic war would almost certainly result in the obliteration of our closest ally (Britain)."

It seems the experts are trying to relegate the atom bomb to the status of poison gas, which was tried in World War I but has not been employed since. But there can be little doubt that Russia will disagree with these views as to the functional value of the atom bomb as soon as the Reds amass a sizable stock pile of this weapon.

Parsnips may be left in the ground all winter without harm, it is claimed. Which shows that the ground can take a lot.

The Rule Of The East

The conclusion of some analysts of the situation in the Far East is that the Chinese Communists have visions of becoming the dominant power of the Orient. If this is so they are merely reverting, inordinately soon after their conquest of China itself, to ancient dreams of Chinese conquerors. During the greater part of its long history China has been too busy with internal divisions to look beyond the borders it has been able to defend from foreign incursion. Yet whenever the great mass of the nation has been brought under a single strong government it has reached outward, seeking to extend its control and influence over the rest of the East.

Under theKhans in the 13th century the greatest extent of Chinese power was attained. China dominated all of Asia north of the Himalayas and reached into Europe. Then Kublai Khan came to disaster attempting to bring Japan into this orbit, and China subsided until the Manchus made their conquests in the 18th and 19th centuries.

Who has not dreamed of dominating the Orient? The Turks kept punching at the borders of China for many centuries. Russia has coveted it. Western powers have thought of it, but have concluded that it is a giddy dream. Japan thought in the present century that the time had come to make the dream come true. India lately entertained brief visions of becoming the leader of the East, not by conquest for that is not the Indian way, but by diplomacy and intrigue.

Now it would appear that Russia is reaching for the victory, using the Chinese as tools. The combination might be capable of attaining the ancient goal of dominance in the Orient. Is the combination itself capable of survival? Or do the Chinese know that they are only tools?

Money talks—or at least it once did. These days it just whispers.

Impregnable Fortress

"Give not up Gibraltar!" This was a popular British song early in the 18th century, when England was intermittently at war with Spain. It may be heard again if the Spanish push their demand that the British surrender this bit of the Spanish peninsula.

Gibraltar, the symbol of impregnability, has been British since 1704, and has withstood three sieges from the French and Spanish. One lasted from 1779 to 1783. Since then it has remained undisturbed, except for an occasional bomb dropped in its direction in the two world wars.

Its actual value is much less now than formerly. Guarding the entrance to the Mediterranean, it can still withstand attack from the sea, but from the air it is in a much less favorable position. Probably also long range guns from Africa could weaken its effectiveness if not destroy it altogether, by blocking off boats that sought to pass through the Straits from the Mediterranean to the Atlantic under protection of the Gibraltar guns.

Much more important is its symbolic value. It has been so long a synonym for a fortress which could not be captured, that to give it up would seem like giving up the keystone of the British empire. Franco presumably knows that. He is undoubtedly resorting to the familiar device of shaky governments, distracting the people's attention from the ills around them by picking a quarrel with a foreign country.

About the only ones you can pin anything on these days are babies.

Trips To The Moon

Are you disappointed because you can't ride on a rocket ship to the moon? Blame Adolf Hitler and the chain of wrong policies that brought on the depression of the thirties. In 1931, says Arthur Louis Joquel, II, of the Rocket Research Institute, plans were made for an international commission on space travel, on which American, German and French scientists would be represented. The depression made it impossible to get the money needed for further research, and the rise of Hitler prevented all forms of peaceful international cooperation with Germany.

The Russian danger may cause a renewal of investigations. Unfortunately the idea probably will be not the creation of an air line for pleasant travel, but the establishment of a new location in the stratosphere for the use of bombers.

Factors That Induce Gout

GOUT IS UNLIKE other forms of arthritis in that it responds to the new hormone, cortisone, but it can be induced by ACTH. We cannot predict at this time whether these hormonal products will become everyday treatment for the disorder because we already have procedures that are easier and safer to administer.

In this disease, the system is not capable of coping with certain proteins in meat and eggs. This food element normally undergoes chemical changes before being utilized by the body. Since this does not occur in the gouty individual, protein accumulates in the blood stream and, although some is excreted in the urine, the remainder finds its way into the joints. Here it sets up irritation. Gout is comparable to diabetes, in which sugar is metabolized improperly. In addition, both disorders have a familiar tendency. Contrary to popular belief, gout has no particular preference for the rich and fat but it does favor the male sex.

How does the malady usually start? Most victims are awakened early in the morning with throbbing pain in one of the large toes near the ball of the foot. Many are surprised to find the involved part swollen and red and the skin tense and glistening. Distress may be so severe that the individual is unable to stand. Now and then even the weight of the bedding or the slightest jarring of the bed is enough to make the victim cry out in anguish.

The situation continues for several days unless treatment is instituted. But achin becomes less pronounced and in due time symptoms subside. This is the tricky nature of gout because the disease will continue to smolder even though there are no outward manifestations. Recurrences are the rule. At first, months elapse between attacks but as the years pass the episodes occur closer together, last longer, and become more difficult to control. In some instances so many uric acid crystals accumulate in the affected joint that it is literally destroyed. These chemicals also may find their way into the tendons, cartilages of the ears, and beneath the skin.

Various factors precipitate an attack. The susceptible person may awaken with a swollen and sore toe after having been out on a "toot" on which he ate and drank too much. A meal high in fat and exposure to dampness and cold will do the same. The city man, for example, who decides to go on a hunting or fishing trip in the north woods may find by the second day that he has walked too far on a gouty foot, eaten too much, or taken more "boat whisky" than was good for him. A bout also may follow an acute infection, hemorrhage, or surgery. The latter occurs so frequently that surgeons often suggest a course of treatment for the susceptible individual a few days prior to operation. Occasionally a siege can be traced to an emotional disturbance. Medicines also may be responsible; insulin, ergotamine, vitamin B, laxatives, the sulfonamides, and ACTH are notorious in this respect.

Colchicine is one of our most useful remedies. It is prescribed in tablet form and should be given as soon as possible. Diarrhea develops when too much is administered and this sign is sometimes used as an indication that enough has been used. Meanwhile, purines and fats are eliminated from the diet. Large amounts of fluid will facilitate the elimination of uric acid from the system.

There is his further remark that "on this basis the war, if it comes, and God forbid, will come at the moment of the (Soviets') choosing." But his real meaning, which he has stated frankly enough in many private conversations, is only broadly implied in his speeches.

This meaning is that the Kremlin should be given a straight choice by the United States and Britain, between peace now and war now. "The high and secret processes of diplomacy" would be employed, under the Churchillian prescription, to offer Stalin a world settlement on honorable terms, and to warn that our atomic bombs would be used if the settlement were refused. This, indeed, is the only conceivable way to seek a settlement "on the basis of . . . American atomic strength."

It is dreadful that the wisest leader of the West should have been driven, only five years after a great victory, to advocate such an expedient. It is obvious that the most careful consideration should

U. S. System Puts Heavy Strain On Its Executive

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dc. 13 — The strain that the American system puts on one man in the presidency is, at a critical moment in history, being talked about from one end of the country to the other. Yet across the seas, and even across the Canadian border, no one man has all the responsibility of executive power—it is shared with a large cabinet which is collectively responsible to the country and can be removed overnight.

There is reason to sympathize with President Truman because the burdens he is carrying are heavier than any American president in nearly 10 years. Only the crisis which Lincoln faced can be said to compare with the series of rises of today. Fears are widely expressed that the survival of America as a free nation can be at stake.

Mr. Truman cannot under our constitutional system really delegate responsibility. He may have advisers in the executive branch of the government but he alone is elected and hence directly responsible to the people, whereas in the parliamentary system in vogue in Britain and Canada the party which is dominant is jointly responsible for both the executive and legislative branches of the government. Whatever may be the defects of this system in a domestic sense, it certainly makes for national unity in a crisis involving the danger of war.

Would Be No Issue

Under the parliamentary system, the secretary of state would not long remain an issue. He would be voted out of power in the national legislature or else he would be given a vote of confidence. The decision would be made and the operation of foreign policy would proceed without the undermining influences of constant debate and friction, because the secretary would be confirmed in office or a new one put in his place.

President Truman is the subject of conversation more than ever before because of various letters he has written showing irritation at critics. Some people explain this as the natural reaction of a man who considers that being president doesn't deprive him of the rights that any person outside the White House may exercise — as, for instance, the right "to blow his top."

Other people are saying that, while the President has the right to get angry, he shouldn't show it—he must not write letters expressing indignation. And if he does, he must couch them in language which is acceptable.

The public in a democracy reserves the right to talk about a president and even to write and tell him how he should behave. But when he answers back — the code of the office is that a president must be dignified and restrained and accept the epithets thrown at him.

As a matter of fact, anyone, who is thin-skinned doesn't belong in politics because the political game involves not only dishing it out but being able to take what is dished out to oneself.

But when all this is considered, the fact remains that just a few weeks ago a couple of would-be assassins shot their way to the front door of the house where the President was sleeping. Outside the house four persons were killed or wounded. The newspapers reported that the President stood up well under the strain — that he took a walk downtown early the next morning and so on — but they also reported that the number of guards had been increased.

Prisoner Of Fate

More and more a president under these circumstances becomes a prisoner of fate . He cannot mingle freely with the people. He cannot come and go as he pleases. He gets a "closed" in feeling and about the only way he can communicate with folks on the outside is by letter or telephone.

The strain which Mr. Truman is under nowadays cannot be imagined by persons on the outside. Death came close to him at Blair House as the shots rang out in October and just a few days ago death came again and took his own close friend and press secretary, Charles Ross. But death stalks even more conspicuously in the frozen fields of Korea as American troops — the men Truman sent there last June —keep their rendezvous with destiny. It is a time for patience for forbearance, for tolerant understanding — and indeed for prayer for the man who carries the greatest burden of our times. And it is possible that the prayers of others will ease this burden and bring an antidote to the spirit of disappointment or even bitterness that may haunt him and give him strength to carry on. For he has two years more of official burdens.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The People Of Formosa

IN the huge statement issued by President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee, there are few grains of evidence concerning their agreements and disagreements. Those who drafted the document skillfully avoided publicized commitments of a nature that might flare back at Truman and Attlee from their own electorates. Both exist politically by such narrow margins that the grand daring of statsmanship is not in them.

However, they have thrown a new phrase into the discussion, "the people of Formosa." That phrase has important political meaning at this moment as what it portends is a separation of Chiang Kai-Shek from China. As the statement is worded, it separates Formosa from China—that is, Nationalist China is one entity and Communist China another entity—and the United States and Great Britain can deal with both. The United States says that it will not deal with Soviet China; Great Britain says that it will.

Here is the paragraph to which I refer:

> "We agreed that the issues should be settled by peaceful means and in such a way as to safeguard the interests of Formosa and the maintenance of peace and security in the Pacific, and that consideration of this question by the United Nations will contribute to these ends."

Maybe that is a practical way of handling a simple situation which the deceit and ignorance of statesmen made complex to the point of bringing on an unnecessary war which probably cost 10,000 American lives. Maybe for them there is no other out, because otherwise they would have to denounce and incriminate themselves.

Yet, we need to think of the degradation of our moral position. On November 26, 1943, the Far Eastern settlement had been reached in terms concerning which only Japan had cause for complaint. This was in the Cairo declaration signed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Chiang Kai-Shek. It read:

". . . it is their purpose that Japan shall be stripped of all the islands in the Pacific which she has seized or occupied since the beginning of the first world war in 1914, and that all the territories Japan has stolen from the Chinese, such as Manchuria, Formosa, and the Pescadores, shall be restored to the Republic of China. Japan will also be expelled from all other territories which she has taken by violence and greed. The aforesaid three great powers, mindful of the enslavement of the people of Korea, are determined that in due course Korea shall become free and independent."

From this declaration, Roosevelt and Churchill receded five days later at Teheran, where they met with Stalin. However, they did not inform Chiang Kai-Shek that the agreement he had signed in Cairo had already been invalidated. In a word, Roosevelt and Churchill on December 1, 1943, when they made the Cairo declaration public, issued a document which they themselves had already made a dead letter.

All our present troubles come from that one big lie. The oft-given excuse is that it was the only way to get Russia into the Far Eastern war. But that, too, is a lie. For Russia did not enter the Far Eastern war until August 8, 1945, nearly two years later. Chiang was not told of the lie until the summer of 1945 when General Pat Hurley exposed the deception to him.

The Korean war is a direct product of the American and British consent to the conquest of Manchuria by Soviet Russia in violation of the pledged signature of Roosevelt and Churchill.

Neither a nation nor a man can recede from a moral position without peril. The disadvantage of Dean Acheson, as secretary of state, is not that he lacks ability; it is that he has had to fight this lie, the devil of Teheran, the deceit and folly of Teheran. He has been required to cover up, to deceive his own people, to issue the dishonest white paper on China, to play along with the anti-American policy of Great Britain—all to cover up the lie of Teheran.

But it will not stay covered. It stands out now as the tombstone over the graves of our sons in Korea.

The phrase "the people of Formosa" is but another rationalization in this long retreat from truth. It is our moral Dunkirk.

Using Atom Bombs

President Truman has said he would not hesitate to order atom bombs dropped if necessary for the safety of the United States. It was this statement that brought Premier Attlee of Great Britain to Washington on the double-quick. It is interesting to assay the opinions of experts as to why this weapon has not been used against the Chinese aggressors in Korea.

Early in the fighting in Korea Senator McMahon, chairman of the Congressional Atomic Energy Commission, said the bomb is "primarily a weapon to strike at the sources of power or at troops so massed as to furnish a target."

R. E. Peierls, president of the British Atomic Scientists Association, calls the bomb "most ineffective" in military action such as that in Korea because of the probable absence of any center "vital for the conduct of the present operations."

Gen. Leslie R. Groves, wartime head of the atomic bomb project, agrees that to find suitable targets for the bomb is difficult.

An editorial in the Bulletin for Atomic Scientists refers to the "utter uselessness of the atomic bomb unless it could "destroy the fighting capacity of the Communist army."

Hanson W. Baldwin, a military analyst, writes: "The use of the atomic bomb would be almost certain to consolidate most of Asia against us."

Eleven faculty members of Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology declare: "Reliance by the United States on atomic warfare may weaken the morale and confidence of our European allies" and "an atomic war would almost certainly result in the obliteration of our closest ally (Britain)."

It seems the experts are trying to relegate the atom bomb to the status of poison gas, which was tried in World War I but has not been employed since. But there can be little doubt that Russia will disagree with these views as to the functional value of the atom bomb as soon as the Reds amass a sizable stock pile of this weapon.

Parsnips may be left in the ground all winter without harm, it is claimed. Which shows that the ground can take a lot.

The Rule Of The East

The conclusion of some analysts of the situation in the Far East is that the Chinese Communists have visions of becoming the dominant power of the Orient. If this is so they are merely reverting, inordinately soon after their conquest of China itself, to ancient dreams of Chinese conquerors. During the greater part of its long history China has been too busy with internal divisions to look beyond the borders it has been able to defend from foreign incursion. Yet whenever the great mass of the nation has been brought under a single strong government it has reached outward, seeking to extend its control and influence over the rest of the East.

Under theKhans in the 13th century the greatest extent of Chinese power was attained. China dominated all of Asia north of the Himalayas and reached into Europe. Then Kublai Khan came to disaster attempting to bring Japan into this orbit, and China subsided until the Manchus made their conquests in the 18th and 19th centuries.

Who has not dreamed of dominating the Orient? The Turks kept punching at the borders of China for many centuries. Russia has coveted it. Western powers have thought of it, but have concluded that it is a giddy dream. Japan thought in the present century that the time had come to make the dream come true. India lately entertained brief visions of becoming the leader of the East, not by conquest for that is not the Indian way, but by diplomacy and intrigue.

Now it would appear that Russia is reaching for the victory, using the Chinese as tools. The combination might be capable of attaining the ancient goal of dominance in the Orient. Is the combination itself capable of survival? Or do the Chinese know that they are only tools?

Money talks—or at least it once did. These days it just whispers.

Impregnable Fortress

"Give not up Gibraltar!" This was a popular British song early in the 18th century, when England was intermittently at war with Spain. It may be heard again if the Spanish push their demand that the British surrender this bit of the Spanish peninsula.

Gibraltar, the symbol of impregnability, has been British since 1704, and has withstood three sieges from the French and Spanish. One lasted from 1779 to 1783. Since then it has remained undisturbed, except for an occasional bomb dropped in its direction in the two world wars.

Its actual value is much less now than formerly. Guarding the entrance to the Mediterranean, it can still withstand attack from the sea, but from the air it is in a much less favorable position. Probably also long range guns from Africa could weaken its effectiveness if not destroy it altogether, by blocking off boats that sought to pass through the Straits from the Mediterranean to the Atlantic under protection of the Gibraltar guns.

Much more important is its symbolic value. It has been so long a synonym for a fortress which could not be captured, that to give it up would seem like giving up the keystone of the British empire. Franco presumably knows that. He is undoubtedly resorting to the familiar device of shaky governments, distracting the people's attention from the ills around them by picking a quarrel with a foreign country.

About the only ones you can pin anything on these days are babies.

Trips To The Moon

Are you disappointed because you can't ride on a rocket ship to the moon? Blame Adolf Hitler and the chain of wrong policies that brought on the depression of the thirties. In 1931, says Arthur Louis Joquel, II, of the Rocket Research Institute, plans were made for an international commission on space travel, on which American, German and French scientists would be represented. The depression made it impossible to get the money needed for further research, and the rise of Hitler prevented all forms of peaceful international cooperation with Germany.

The Russian danger may cause a renewal of investigations. Unfortunately the idea probably will be not the creation of an air line for pleasant travel, but the establishment of a new location in the stratosphere for the use of bombers.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Factors That Induce Gout

GOUT IS UNLIKE other forms of arthritis in that it responds to the new hormone, cortisone, but it can be induced by ACTH. We cannot predict at this time whether these hormonal products will become everyday treatment for the disorder because we already have procedures that are easier and safer to administer.

In this disease, the system is not capable of coping with certain proteins in meat and eggs. This food element normally undergoes chemical changes before being utilized by the body. Since this does not occur in the gouty individual, protein accumulates in the blood stream and, although some is excreted in the urine, the remainder finds its way into the joints. Here it sets up irritation. Gout is comparable to diabetes, in which sugar is metabolized improperly. In addition, both disorders have a familiar tendency. Contrary to popular belief, gout has no particular preference for the rich and fat but it does favor the male sex.

How does the malady usually start? Most victims are awakened early in the morning with throbbing pain in one of the large toes near the ball of the foot. Many are surprised to find the involved part swollen and red and the skin tense and glistening. Distress may be so severe that the individual is unable to stand. Now and then even the weight of the bedding or the slightest jarring of the bed is enough to make the victim cry out in anguish.

The situation continues for several days unless treatment is instituted. But achin becomes less pronounced and in due time symptoms subside. This is the tricky nature of gout because the disease will continue to smolder even though there are no outward manifestations. Recurrences are the rule. At first, months elapse between attacks but as the years pass the episodes occur closer together, last longer, and become more difficult to control. In some instances so many uric acid crystals accumulate in the affected joint that it is literally destroyed. These chemicals also may find their way into the tendons, cartilages of the ears, and beneath the skin.

Various factors precipitate an attack. The susceptible person may awaken with a swollen and sore toe after having been out on a "toot" on which he ate and drank too much. A meal high in fat and exposure to dampness and cold will do the same. The city man, for example, who decides to go on a hunting or fishing trip in the north woods may find by the second day that he has walked too far on a gouty foot, eaten too much, or taken more "boat whisky" than was good for him. A bout also may follow an acute infection, hemorrhage, or surgery. The latter occurs so frequently that surgeons often suggest a course of treatment for the susceptible individual a few days prior to operation. Occasionally a siege can be traced to an emotional disturbance. Medicines also may be responsible; insulin, ergotamine, vitamin B, laxatives, the sulfonamides, and ACTH are notorious in this respect.

Colchicine is one of our most useful remedies. It is prescribed in tablet form and should be given as soon as possible. Diarrhea develops when too much is administered and this sign is sometimes used as an indication that enough has been used. Meanwhile, purines and fats are eliminated from the diet. Large amounts of fluid will facilitate the elimination of uric acid from the system.

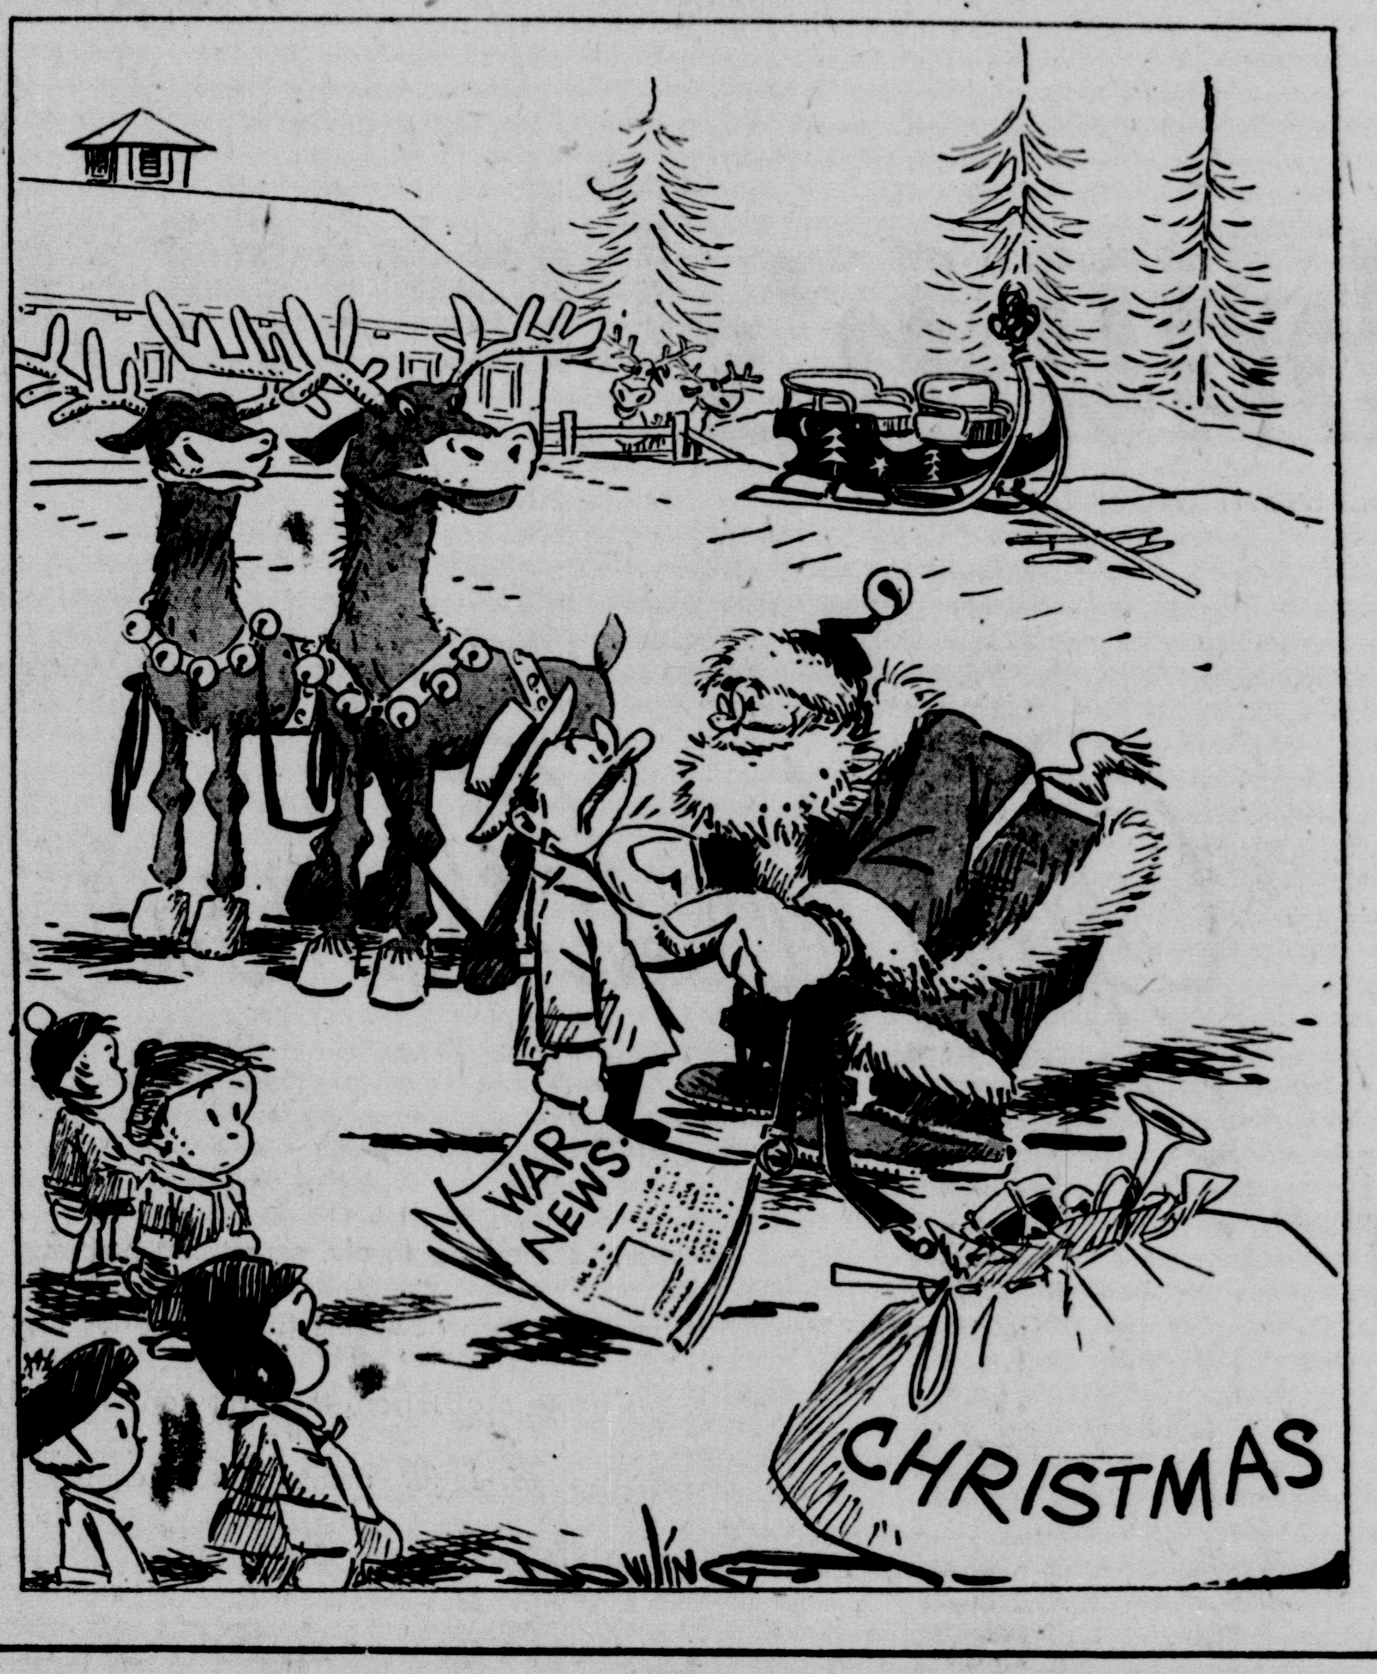
CHIN UP AND CARRY ON



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

President's Temper Influences Public Policy; Truman Held Up Price Controls Because Of Baruch; Taft Eager To Talk Foreign Policy With White House

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — All presidents, being human, sometimes lose their temper. And Harry Truman, being intensely devoted to his family, has an understandable tendency to shoot from the hip when it comes to his wife and daughter.

However, those on the inside of the White House know that presidential fuse-blowing is not confined to protecting his family. More and more the President's temper has influenced public policy. Quick decisions, swayed by personal peeve, can effect the lives of millions, and the public has a right to know about them.

Take, for instance, price controls. Failure to impose price controls has shot up the cost of living by billions of dollars, has increased the cost of rearmament to Uncle Sam, and started an inflation spiral which may do inestimable damage. Yet Congress long ago voted presidential power to impose price controls. In fact, Republicans led in giving the President more power than he requested. However, this power has not been used.

Anti-Baruch

One reason is that Bernard Baruch came down to Washington and helped persuade the Republicans to vote these powers; and the President hates Bernard Baruch. He hates him with a passion that distorts and discolors his judgment. When Baruch's name comes up in conversations, dispassionate reason leaves the President.

The hatred began when Baruch declined an invitation to serve on a committee of Democrats to raise money during the 1948 campaign. The President then wrote him a letter not unlike the one sent to music critic Paul Hume; later, he fired Baruch's brother as ambassador to Holland and timed it to occur on Baruch's birthday. Bernie, once a frequent caller at the White House, has never been near there since.

Later, the President blamed Baruch for getting revenge on him by blocking confirmation of Truman's close friend, Mon Wallgren, as chairman of the National Security Resources Board. Baruch denies this. But his influence with Southern senators is considerable, and White House advisers gave him credit for the fact that Wallgren was never confirmed.

Anti-Taft

For a long time the President has been wanting to get the bipartisan foreign policy back on an even keel. But the cornerstone of such a policy is Senator Taft—most influential Republican on Capitol Hill.

For his part, Taft has made no secret of the fact that he would like to be summoned to the White House. When other Republicans, Senators Wherry and Wiley, return from presidential conferences, Taft has queried them like a cub reporter afraid of getting scooped. And when he heard that the White House might call him in last week, Taft was like a schoolgirl about to go to her first prom. He even offered to cancel a trip to Yale, where he is a member of the board of trustees.

But the President who has a personal prejudice against Taft, would not invite him.

Pearson Prediction

Another illustration of presidential peeve which upset his own applecart was the proposed loyalty review board, composed of Judge John Parker of North Carolina, Judge John Patrick Higgins of Massachusetts, and Adm. Chester Nimitz. White House advisers had sold the President on appointing this board to supersede the Tydings Committee for the purpose of thoroughly examining the question of communism in the State department.

A nonpartisan board of judges, it was argued, would lift the question of State department loyalty out of partisan politics and give a categoric answer to Senator McCarthy. The President, at first, was all for it.

Then this commentator predicted that the board would be appointed. Immediately the President got peeved. He was not, he made it clear to advisers, going to help make a "Pearson prediction come true."

The bipartisan loyalty board was scrapped, McCarthy's charges became the chief issue of the campaign, and Senator Tydings, Senator Lucas, Helen Gahagan Douglas, Senator Thomas of Utah, plus others of the President's stanchest supporters were defeated.

Had the loyalty board been appointed, it is more than possible that the recent election would have turned out differently.

Palace Guard

Every member of the White House secretariat knows what the President's peeves and pet aversions are. But up until recently they did little to put a quietus on them. In fact, the man who tried hardest to buck the President on certain idiosyncrasies, Clark Clifford, was the object of an intense and jealous campaign by John Steelman to euchre him out.

The White House staff know, of course, that anything even remotely critical of his wife or daughter makes the President blazing mad. The other sure-fire way to get Truman sore is to let drop the idea that someone is trying to build himself up to run for president.

This was one of the things that contributed to Louis Johnson's ouster — though there were others. For a time, Johnson had the run of the White House. He could come and go as he pleased.

Then some of the palace guard dropped word that Louey was planning to run for President in 1952, and immediately the President clammed up. Eventually it was decided to get Johnson out as secretary of defense before the Inchon landing. For, if the resignation request was made afterward, Johnson's stock would be too high. So Louey was fired exactly one day before the Inchon landing.

When the President has time to consider a problem thoroughly and when he doesn't let personalities influence his judgment, his decisions are courageous and usually sound. Invariably he battles for the little fellow. But if, for instance, Matt Connelly, who knows all of Harry Truman's prejudices and work methods, wants to put across a deal for Pan American Airways and American Overseas Airlines, he can usually do it—by dropping a few hints and by arranging a White House conference with one key man absent.

That's why the advisers around the President are so important. That's also why they need to be men with no personal axes to grind, men swayed not by lobbyists' guiles or society dinners, but men devoted only to one cause—to see that Harry Truman does a good job for his country.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON

CERTAIN aspects of politics are like certain diseases, which are so painful even to think about that healthy people rarely mention them. But if a man or woman has cancer, it must be mentioned by the doctor who makes the diagnosis and prescribes the operation. And if a nation is in imminent peril of catastrophe, painful things must also be said by leaders who have courage.

No leader in the Western world has greater courage than Winston Churchill. No one any longer will lightly disregard the voice of the great old man, who almost single-handed saved the cause of freedom from the menace of Nazism: who was the first, after the war, to see the larger menace of the new Soviet imperialism. And it is time, now, to face up to the real nature of the advice he has been giving for the past two years.

It was just about two years ago, that Churchill began a remarkable series of speeches of which the last was delivered on November 30. In all these speeches, whether on the public platform or in debates in the House of Commons, he has said the same things.

First, he has ascribed to the Kremlin an ambition of world empire. On November 30, he told Parliament:

"(Despite) enormous increases of power and territory, (the Soviets) show no sign of being in any way satiated, satisfied or even contented, and we can perceive no limits at present to their aims."

Despairs Of Matching Power

Second, he has flatly stated that the Soviets were only being restrained from launching a third world war by the American advantage in atomic weapons. At Llandudno in 1948, he said: "Nothing stands between Europe today and complete subjugation to Communist tyranny but the Atomic bomb in American possession."

Third, he has more and more openly confessed despair of matching the Soviet power by ordinary means, at least in the crucial time before our own advantage in atomic weapons will be too greatly impaired by production of atomic weapons in the Soviet Union. In the last speech, in which this despair is total, he said:

"While it is right to build up our forces as fast as we can, nothing in this process will in this period deprive Russia of effective superiority in what are now called 'conventional arms.' All it will do is give us increasing unity in Europe."

Fourth, he has repeatedly advocated negotiations with the Soviet Union on the highest level. In the most powerful and terrifying of all these speeches, when he told the House of Commons last July 7 that "We are more defenseless than we have ever been," he also said:

"A peaceful settlement may (yet) be reached with the Soviet government if a resolute effort is made on the basis not of our present weakness but of American atomic strength. This is the policy which gives the best chance of preventing a fearful war and of securing our survival should it break upon us."

Straight Choice Proposed

Here, however, so awful, so awe-inspiring is the subject, that even Winston Churchill has not spoken plainly. There is plenty of internal evidence of his real meaning, such as the critical reference, in the last speech, to the assurances to the Kremlin that "the United States would not fight what is called a preventive war." There is his further remark that "on this basis the war, if it comes, and God forbid, will come at the moment of the (Soviets') choosing." But his real meaning, which he has stated frankly enough in many private conversations, is only broadly implied in his speeches.

This meaning is that the Kremlin should be given a straight choice by the United States and Britain, between peace now and war now. "The high and secret processes of diplomacy" would be employed, under the Churchillian prescription, to offer Stalin a world settlement on honorable terms, and to warn that our atomic bombs would be used if the settlement were refused. This, indeed, is the only conceivable way to seek a settlement "on the basis of . . . American atomic strength."

It is dreadful that the wisest leader of the West should have been driven, only five years after a great victory, to advocate such an expedient. It is obvious that the most careful consideration should

U. S. System Puts Heavy Strain On Its Executive

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dc. 13 — The strain that the American system puts on one man in the presidency is, at a critical moment in history, being talked about from one end of the country to the other. Yet across the seas, and even across the Canadian border, no one man has all the responsibility of executive power—it is shared with a large cabinet which is collectively responsible to the country and can be removed overnight.

There is reason to sympathize with President Truman because the burdens he is carrying are heavier than any American president in nearly 10 years. Only the crisis which Lincoln faced can be said to compare with the series of rises of today. Fears are widely expressed that the survival of America as a free nation can be at stake.

Mr. Truman cannot under our constitutional system really delegate responsibility. He may have advisers in the executive branch of the government but he alone is elected and hence directly responsible to the people, whereas in the parliamentary system in vogue in Britain and Canada the party which is dominant is jointly responsible for both the executive and legislative branches of the government. Whatever may be the defects of this system in a domestic sense, it certainly makes for national unity in a crisis involving the danger of war.

Would Be No Issue

Under the parliamentary system, the secretary of state would not long remain an issue. He would be voted out of power in the national legislature or else he would be given a vote of confidence. The decision would be made and the operation of foreign policy would proceed without the undermining influences of constant debate and friction, because the secretary would be confirmed in office or a new one put in his place.

President Truman is the subject of conversation more than ever before because of various letters he has written showing irritation at critics. Some people explain this as the natural reaction of a man who considers that being president doesn't deprive him of the rights that any person outside the White House may exercise — as, for instance, the right "to blow his top."

Other people are saying that, while the President has the right to get angry, he shouldn't show it—he must not write letters expressing indignation. And if he does, he must couch them in language which is acceptable.

The public in a democracy reserves the right to talk about a president and even to write and tell him how he should behave. But when he answers back — the code of the office is that a president must be dignified and restrained and accept the epithets thrown at him.

As a matter of fact, anyone, who is thin-skinned doesn't belong in politics because the political game involves not only dishing it out but being able to take what is dished out to oneself.

But when all this is considered, the fact remains that just a few weeks ago a couple of would-be assassins shot their way to the front door of the house where the President was sleeping. Outside the house four persons were killed or wounded. The newspapers reported that the President stood up well under the strain — that he took a walk downtown early the next morning and so on — but they also reported that the number of guards had been increased.

It is a time for patience for forbearance, for tolerant understanding — and indeed for prayer for the man who carries the greatest burden of our times. And it is possible that the prayers of others will ease this burden and bring an antidote to the spirit of disappointment or even bitterness that may haunt him and give him strength to carry on. For he has two years more of official burdens.

The People Of Formosa

IN the huge statement issued by President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee, there are few grains of evidence concerning their agreements and disagreements. Those who drafted the document skillfully avoided publicized commitments of a nature that might flare back at Truman and Attlee from their own electorates. Both exist politically by such narrow margins that the grand daring of statsmanship is not in them.

However, they have thrown a new phrase into the discussion, "the people of Formosa." As the statement is worded, it separates Formosa from China—that is, Nationalist China is one entity and Communist China another entity—and the United States and Great Britain can deal with both. The United States says that it will not deal with Soviet China; Great Britain says that it will.

Here is the paragraph to which I refer:

> "We agreed that the issues should be settled by peaceful means and in such a way as to safeguard the interests of Formosa and the maintenance of peace and security in the Pacific, and that consideration of this question by the United Nations will contribute to these ends."

Maybe that is a practical way of handling a simple situation which the deceit and ignorance of statesmen made complex to the point of bringing on an unnecessary war which probably cost 10,000 American lives. Maybe for them there is no other out, because otherwise they would have to denounce and incriminate themselves.

Yet, we need to think of the degradation of our moral position. On November 26, 1943, the Far Eastern settlement had been reached in terms concerning which only Japan had cause for complaint. This was in the Cairo declaration signed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Chiang Kai-Shek. It read:

> ". . . it is their purpose that Japan shall be stripped of all the islands in the Pacific which she has seized or occupied since the beginning of the first world war in 1914, and that all the territories Japan has stolen from the Chinese, such as Manchuria, Formosa, and the Pescadores, shall be restored to the Republic of China. Japan will also be expelled from all other territories which she has taken by violence and greed. The aforesaid three great powers, mindful of the enslavement of the people of Korea, are determined that in due course Korea shall become free and independent."

From this declaration, Roosevelt and Churchill receded five days later at Teheran, where they met with Stalin. However, they did not inform Chiang Kai-Shek that the agreement he had signed in Cairo had already been invalidated. In a word, Roosevelt and Churchill on December 1, 1943, when they made the Cairo declaration public, issued a document which they themselves had already made a dead letter.

All our present troubles come from that one big lie. The oft-given excuse is that it was the only way to get Russia into the Far Eastern war. But that, too, is a lie. For Russia did not enter the Far Eastern war until August 8, 1945, nearly two years later. Chiang was not told of the lie until the summer of 1945 when General Pat Hurley exposed the deception to him.

The Korean war is a direct product of the American and British consent to the conquest of Manchuria by Soviet Russia in violation of the pledged signature of Roosevelt and Churchill.

Neither a nation nor a man can recede from a moral position without peril. The disadvantage of Dean Acheson, as secretary of state, is not that he lacks ability; it is that he has had to fight this lie, the devil of Teheran, the deceit and folly of Teheran. He has been required to cover up, to deceive his own people, to issue the dishonest white paper on China, to play along with the anti-American policy of Great Britain—all to cover up the lie of Teheran.

But it will not stay covered. It stands out now as the tombstone over the graves of our sons in Korea.

The phrase "the people of Formosa" is but another rationalization in this long retreat from truth. It is our moral Dunkirk.

CHRISTMAS IS IDEAL TIME TO GIVE THOSE GLAMOROUS ACCESSORIES FOR TROUSSEAU OF WINTER BRIDE-TO-BE

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeature Beauty Editor

If you are planning a gift for the Christmas bride or the winter bride-to-be, give her something for her trousseau.

Every prospective bride looks forward to having little glamorous accessories to take away on her honeymoon. Chirstmas is the ideal time to contribute to the bride's hope chest.

Such things as perfume, compacts, bath powder, sachet and other toiletry gifts usually are left to the bride to purchase for herself. These little personal gifts which add to the charm of a lovely bride usually are last minute items to be met by an already strained check book.

Say it with sachets which can be tucked into the lingerie, or looped over hangers to scent clothing, or sachet powder which can be enclosed in little fabric hearts to pin at the hem or neckline of a gown.

Soap is another ideal gift for the bride. A lovely scented soap, perhaps in a pastel shade with a floral decorations, always is useful. There are kits of hand soap and bath soap to flatter the best Christmas stocking a bride-to-be can produce.

Cologne, perfume and compacts also will be welcomed. A light floral cologne or a solid stick that is particularly packable is a good thought. A perfume is a "Beloved" scent would be smart and appropriate. Compacts are so beautiful and unique this year, that it will be difficult to make a choice. Some of the bejeweled compacts with matching lipsticks look for all the world like they are studded with real gems.

Aren't there some children you know who might need you as a Santa? Are you just supposing that "somebody" is taking care of them?

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

NOW and then among the shopping hordes in the marts of every city today, you glimpse the happy, serene face of some woman who has found or is seeking a gift that gives her great pleasure to give. But on all too many faces, there is merely grim determination.

More people at Christmastime should remember the wisdom of Emerson when he said, "Rings and jewels are not gifts but apologies for gifts. The only gift is a portion of thyself." This advice would, perhaps, dispel some of the high pressure caused by carrying out a welter of tasks that are only meaningless gestures, devoid of any sentiment.

Your Happiness

The charm, beauty and joy of Christmas belong to everyone. But your share will slip through your hands, if you succumb to superficialities that drain you of all inclination to bestow freely the most satisfying and significant of gifts—thoughtful attention to those who need it.

If you are finding yourself on a frantic, not-so-merry-go-round of planning, buying and wrapping, there is still time for you to gather for yourself a bountiful supply of Christmas spirit, enjoyment and contentment. By de-emphasizing the details that are crowding you and by turning your attention to the things you've always wanted and meant to do, but never found time for, you can make this the best Christmas you have ever had.

To accomplish this, you must start your giving early. Since there is not a minute to lose, I'll suggest a few ways to start.

How about visiting the nearest veterans' hospital, orphanage or county home? The satisfaction you will get from the cheer you can spread will give a big impetus to your plan. Next, see how much heart you can put into the party your club or church group is giving for those less fortunate than you. And you're sure to feel an inner glow that will put a light in your eyes the moment you arrange to send a CARE package.

Intentions Made Good

Now think a minute—aren't there some children you know who might need you as a Santa? Do you really know or are you just supposing that "somebody" is taking care of them?

The longer grows your list of thoughtfulness gifts, the warmer will be the satisfaction you'll feel. As you return home from your self-appointed rounds you'll be so full of the real spirit, you'll get out Dickens' Christmas Carol and read aloud to the family — "A merry Christmas to us all, my Dears. And God bless us every one."

P. S. from J. R. P.

Polio Outbreaks May Be Related To Use Of DDT

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The possibility that use of the bug killer DDT might have some relation to outbreaks of polio was raised before a special congressional food investigating committee.

The House committee, headed by Rep. Delaney (D-NY), is inquiring into the effects on human health of chemical fertilizers, insecticides, and use of chemicals in food.

The purpose is to see whether the Food and Drug Act should be amended to give it expanded authority to control the use of chemicals when food might be affected.

Dr. Morton S. Biskind, Westport, Conn., research specialist, told the committee he believed that the use of the chlorinated cyclic hydrocarbons—which include DDT—on crops and in food establishments should be prohibited by law "if we want to survive."

He said evidence gathered by Dr. Robert F. Mobbs, of North Carolina, indicates that whenever DDT had been used against polio, not only was there an epidemic of symptoms of DDT poisoning "but the incidence of polio continued to rise and in fact appeared where it had not been before."

"This is not surprising," continued Dr. Biskind, "since it is known that not only can DDT poisoning produce a condition that may be easily mistaken for polio in an epidemic, but also being a nerve poison itself may damage cells in the spinal cord and thus increase susceptibility to the virus."

On the theory that anything's worth considering in this crisis, Sen. Kenneth Wherry came up with the unusual suggestion, off the record, of course, that we paratroop some of our agents into China . . . That these agents role out, say, a hundred million dollars in gold . . . They could bribe any and all Chinese generals and their armies.

It has long been an axiom for Anglo-Saxons or Europeans living in the Orient that "there's no such thing as an incorruptible Chinese officer."

Speaking of Korruption — Sen. Kefauver's Krime Kommittee does not worry New York racketeers and their buddies in Chicago and Kansas City as much as a new problem: Fear that Congress will put through a bill in the next session to change the colors of high denomination bills!

Internal Revenue men would then call in greenbacks of the $100 brand or over . . . The ever-watchful Treasury could pounce on the gangsters for their caches of cash . . It seems, for instance, that one of the Costello henchmen has hundreds of $1000 bills buried safely under his bathtub.

Just elected from Illinois, Fred Busbey's been in and out and in and out since 1942 . . . Elected in November, 1942, he was defeated in November, 1944 . . . Elected in 1946, he was defeated in 1948 . . . Now he's back again.

And he's probably the only Congressman who has actually posed as a member of the Communist Party . . . Attending meetings to gather material.

Naturally, prominent American Legioner Busbey couldn't help laughing up his sleeve when Democratic opponents thoughtlessly charged "Busbey's a Communist!" in his last campaign . . . Apparently their charges didn't hold water with the voters because he got elected, is back again, bright-eyed —and expected to lead off new investigations into Reds in government.

Ever since I first wrote a few lines defining Our Town, clever readers have been adding to the collection . . . Some of the best they contributed on the Capital:

Lord Beaverbrook today is the all-powerful proprietor of a chain of great British newspapers. In his home town of Newcastle, New Brunswick, however, he is remembered as plain Max Aitken, inordinately ambitious son of a Presbyterian minister, and quite definitely outside of the social swim. He engineered his first big "deal" when he was ten.

A soap company offered prizes to lads who amassed the biggest collection of wrappers. Young Max took all of his savings out of the bank, bought soap by the case from the factory, and sold it by the cake at wholesale prices with the proviso that purchasers turn the wrappers over to him. Needless to say, he won first prize—a bicycle—by the proverbial mile.

There still lives in Newcastle an aged socialite who once kept Beaverbrook from membership in the local club. This summer he called Beaverbrook on the evening of his arrival and asked if he might have the pleasure of giving a dinner in his honor. "That's not possible, thank you," answered Beaverbrook, and could not resist adding, "You see, I'm expected to rejoin the King and Queen."

CHRISTMAS IS IDEAL TIME TO GIVE THOSE GLAMOROUS ACCESSORIES FOR TROUSSEAU OF WINTER BRIDE-TO-BE

AP Newsfeature Beauty Editor

If you are planning a gift for the Christmas bride or the winter bride-to-be, give her something for her trousseau.

Every prospective bride looks forward to having little glamorous accessories to take away on her honeymoon. Chirstmas is the ideal time to contribute to the bride's hope chest.

Such things as perfume, compacts, bath powder, sachet and other toiletry gifts usually are left to the bride to purchase for herself. These little personal gifts which add to the charm of a lovely bride usually are last minute items to be met by an already strained check book.

Say it with sachets which can be tucked into the lingerie, or looped over hangers to scent clothing, or sachet powder which can be enclosed in little fabric hearts to pin at the hem or neckline of a gown.

Soap is another ideal gift for the bride. A lovely scented soap, perhaps in a pastel shade with a floral decorations, always is useful. There are kits of hand soap and bath soap to flatter the best Christmas stocking a bride-to-be can produce.

Cologne, perfume and compacts also will be welcomed. A light floral cologne or a solid stick that is particularly packable is a good thought. A perfume is a "Beloved" scent would be smart and appropriate. Compacts are so beautiful and unique this year, that it will be difficult to make a choice. Some of the bejeweled compacts with matching lipsticks look for all the world like they are studded with real gems.

Aren't there some children you know who might need you as a Santa? Are you just supposing that "somebody" is taking care of them?

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

NOW and then among the shopping hordes in the marts of every city today, you glimpse the happy, serene face of some woman who has found or is seeking a gift that gives her great pleasure to give. But on all too many faces, there is merely grim determination.

More people at Christmastime should remember the wisdom of Emerson when he said, "Rings and jewels are not gifts but apologies for gifts. The only gift is a portion of thyself." This advice would, perhaps, dispel some of the high pressure caused by carrying out a welter of tasks that are only meaningless gestures, devoid of any sentiment.

Your Happiness

The charm, beauty and joy of Christmas belong to everyone. But your share will slip through your hands, if you succumb to superficialities that drain you of all inclination to bestow freely the most satisfying and significant of gifts—thoughtful attention to those who need it.

If you are finding yourself on a frantic, not-so-merry-go-round of planning, buying and wrapping, there is still time for you to gather for yourself a bountiful supply of Christmas spirit, enjoyment and contentment. By de-emphasizing the details that are crowding you and by turning your attention to the things you've always wanted and meant to do, but never found time for, you can make this the best Christmas you have ever had.

To accomplish this, you must start your giving early. Since there is not a minute to lose, I'll suggest a few ways to start.

How about visiting the nearest veterans' hospital, orphanage or county home? The satisfaction you will get from the cheer you can spread will give a big impetus to your plan. Next, see how much heart you can put into the party your club or church group is giving for those less fortunate than you. And you're sure to feel an inner glow that will put a light in your eyes the moment you arrange to send a CARE package.

Intentions Made Good

Now think a minute—aren't there some children you know who might need you as a Santa? Do you really know or are you just supposing that "somebody" is taking care of them?

The longer grows your list of thoughtfulness gifts, the warmer will be the satisfaction you'll feel. As you return home from your self-appointed rounds you'll be so full of the real spirit, you'll get out Dickens' Christmas Carol and read aloud to the family — "A merry Christmas to us all, my Dears. And God bless us every one."

P. S. from J. R. P.
YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career—every girl or woman now in business who is eager to reach top-flight success. It tells you how to make that important "good impression" to get your job . . . reveals secrets on how to hold your job. See how easy it is to choose a suitable wardrobe. Save time—uncertainty—needless worry through these short cut steps in charm that lead to YOUR SUCCESS. Polio Outbreaks May Be Related To Use Of DDT

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The possibility that use of the bug killer DDT might have some relation to outbreaks of polio was raised before a special congressional food investigating committee.

The House committee, headed by Rep. Delaney (D-NY), is inquiring into the effects on human health of chemical fertilizers, insecticides, and use of chemicals in food.

The purpose is to see whether the Food and Drug Act should be amended to give it expanded authority to control the use of chemicals when food might be affected.

Dr. Morton S. Biskind, Westport, Conn., research specialist, told the committee he believed that the use of the chlorinated cyclic hydrocarbons—which include DDT—on crops and in food establishments should be prohibited by law "if we want to survive."

He said evidence gathered by Dr. Robert F. Mobbs, of North Carolina, indicates that whenever DDT had been used against polio, not only was there an epidemic of symptoms of DDT poisoning "but the incidence of polio continued to rise and in fact appeared where it had not been before."

"This is not surprising," continued Dr. Biskind, "since it is known that not only can DDT poisoning produce a condition that may be easily mistaken for polio in an epidemic, but also being a nerve poison itself may damage cells in the spinal cord and thus increase susceptibility to the virus."

Now think a minute—aren't there some children you know who might need you as a Santa? Do you really know or are you just supposing that "somebody" is taking care of them?

The longer grows your list of thoughtfulness gifts, the warmer will be the satisfaction you'll feel. As you return home from your self-appointed rounds you'll be so full of the real spirit, you'll get out Dickens' Christmas Carol and read aloud to the family — "A merry Christmas to us all, my Dears. And God bless us every one."

Polio Outbreaks May Be Related To Use Of DDT

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The possibility that use of the bug killer DDT might have some relation to outbreaks of polio was raised before a special congressional food investigating committee.

The House committee, headed by Rep. Delaney (D-NY), is inquiring into the effects on human health of chemical fertilizers, insecticides, and use of chemicals in food.

The purpose is to see whether the Food and Drug Act should be amended to give it expanded authority to control the use of chemicals when food might be affected.

Dr. Morton S. Biskind, Westport, Conn., research specialist, told the committee he believed that the use of the chlorinated cyclic hydrocarbons—which include DDT—on crops and in food establishments should be prohibited by law "if we want to survive."

He said evidence gathered by Dr. Robert F. Mobbs, of North Carolina, indicates that whenever DDT had been used against polio, not only was there an epidemic of symptoms of DDT poisoning "but the incidence of polio continued to rise and in fact appeared where it had not been before."

"This is not surprising," continued Dr. Biskind, "since it is known that not only can DDT poisoning produce a condition that may be easily mistaken for polio in an epidemic, but also being a nerve poison itself may damage cells in the spinal cord and thus increase susceptibility to the virus."

JUST come to town, Malcolm and Marion Boyer (he's the new general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission) haven't found an apartment yet. . . But have already started confusing everybody with their turnabout in names. . . He's Marion and she's Malcolm!

It's quite a switch too from cultivating orchids to A-bombs. . . One of America's top amateur orchid growers, he cultivates acres of orchards, as well as orchids, gardenias and other exotic blooms in the greenhouses on his estate at Greenwich, Connecticut. . . And wife, Malcolm, goes right along with him on the gardening

Samuel Sims Walker is one captain in the 8th Army in Korea who can thank his lucky stars he has a warm and cherished suit of long underwear. . . And the stars he can thank, you might say, belong on the shoulders of his father, Lt. Gen. Walton Walker, head of the 8th Army in Korea. . . When Gen. Walker reached the freezing front lines of his command and at long last saw his son, the general took off his own long underwear. . . Insisted his boy take them.

A colored photograph of six dreamy, beautiful, big-eyed, buxom cows now hangs in the House Press Gallery! . . . That big, good-looking, fun-loving Les Arends, representative from Illinois, had it framed and prominently hung just the other day. . . And newsmen in the gallery have already written the names of other colleagues on the cows! . . . Because the group of cows all look so wide-eyed, with their big ears standing up expectantly, Arends entitled the picture before he hung it "PRESS CONFERENCE."

On the theory that anything's worth considering in this crisis, Sen. Kenneth Wherry came up with the unusual suggestion, off the record, of course, that we paratroop some of our agents into China . . . That these agents role out, say, a hundred million dollars in gold . . . They could bribe any and all Chinese generals and their armies.

It has long been an axiom for Anglo-Saxons or Europeans living in the Orient that "there's no such thing as an incorruptible Chinese officer."

Speaking of Korruption — Sen. Kefauver's Krime Kommittee does not worry New York racketeers and their buddies in Chicago and Kansas City as much as a new problem: Fear that Congress will put through a bill in the next session to change the colors of high denomination bills!

Internal Revenue men would then call in greenbacks of the $100 brand or over . . . The ever-watchful Treasury could pounce on the gangsters for their caches of cash . . It seems, for instance, that one of the Costello henchmen has hundreds of $1000 bills buried safely under his bathtub.

Just elected from Illinois, Fred Busbey's been in and out and in and out since 1942 . . . Elected in November, 1942, he was defeated in November, 1944 . . . Elected in 1946, he was defeated in 1948 . . . Now he's back again.

And he's probably the only Congressman who has actually posed as a member of the Communist Party . . . Attending meetings to gather material.

Naturally, prominent American Legioner Busbey couldn't help laughing up his sleeve when Democratic opponents thoughtlessly charged "Busbey's a Communist!" in his last campaign . . . Apparently their charges didn't hold water with the voters because he got elected, is back again, bright-eyed—and expected to lead off new investigations into Reds in government.

Ever since I first wrote a few lines defining Our Town, clever readers have been adding to the collection . . . Some of the best they contributed on the Capital:

Home is where you hang your hat—Washington is where you hang yourself.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Lord Beaverbrook today is the all-powerful proprietor of a chain of great British newspapers. In his home town of Newcastle, New Brunswick, however, he is remembered as plain Max Aitken, inordinately ambitious son of a Presbyterian minister, and quite definitely outside of the social swim. He engineered his first big "deal" when he was ten.

A soap company offered prizes to lads who amassed the biggest collection of wrappers. Young Max took all of his savings out of the bank, bought soap by the case from the factory, and sold it by the cake at wholesale prices with the proviso that purchasers turn the wrappers over to him. Needless to say, he won first prize—a bicycle—by the proverbial mile.

There still lives in Newcastle an aged socialite who once kept Beaverbrook from membership in the local club. This summer he called Beaverbrook on the evening of his arrival and asked if he might have the pleasure of giving a dinner in his honor. "That's not possible, thank you," answered Beaverbrook, and could not resist adding, "You see, I'm expected to rejoin the King and Queen."

AMERICA'S FUTURE IS IN THE NATIONAL GUARD

Microfilming Will Help Preserve Books Which Record Man's Culture

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Luther Evans, librarian of Congress, says the United States hopes to help "rescue from the hazards of war" the books and other material which record mankind's history.

He said this project is being undertaken by use of microfilming and other methods and is designed to preserve for the future "the basic source material and published works of man's culture."

Dr. Evans outlined some details of the plan before 150 librarians, scholars, scientists and government officials meeting to observe the 150th anniversary of the Library of Congress which Evans heads.

The librarian said the institution also hopes to broaden its activities in the field of adult education and that it plans to provide additional service to Congress as well as the general public.

The Library of Congress was set up by the nation's lawmakers in 1800 for exclusive use of representatives and senators. In subsequent years, however, it has been opened to virtually anyone who cares to use it.

Other speakers who joined in the sesquicentennial birthday of the library included:

Milton E. Lord, Boston, Mass., retiring president of the American Library Assoc.; Dr. Robert B. Downs, director of the University of Illinois Library; Dr. Charles E. Odegaard, Washington, D.C., executive director of the American Council of the American Council of Learned Societies; and Rep. Albert (D-Okla).

Lord said the library—which he called "in reality a national library"—has made a remarkable contribution, not only to Congress, but to the people and growth of the United States.

Dr. Downs said the 150-year old organization is "still a young and dynamic institution" whose work and responsibilities are of mounting importance to the entire world.

Speaking for the nation's scientists and scholars, Dr. Odegaard said the library is a "mecca of scholars" and that both scholars and the library are necessary to the country's future "in this time of urgent need."

Albert recounted the growth of the library from its beginning in 1800 when Congress appropriated $5,000 to buy "a few books to set up a small library."

Canada and the United States have given a unique example to the world of peace and cooperation under the democratic system, despite the fact that the United States is much more powerful and could gobble up Canada.—Nova Scotian Premier Angus MacDonald.

Record Firms Pull Out All Stops In Holiday Platters For Juveniles

By BILL BECKER

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Don the ear-muffs, pop. Santa Claus—plus a bunch of other noisy characters—is coming to town again.

The record companies have pulled out all stops this season in turning their talent-loaded stables loose to beguile and belabor the fancy of your kids and mine.

In addition to the customary conversion of crooners to "Silent Night" and "Adeste Fidelis" and umpteen new versions of "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and "S. C. Is Coming To Town," the flood of Christmas records is boosted by television favorites.

The trend is paced by "Hopalong Cassidy and the Square Dance Holdup," a new Capitol album complete with script and 17 pages of photographs "taken on location with Hoppy!"

Other items slanted for video-minded youngsters include "Howdy Doody's Laughing Circus" and a new Mother Goose by Kukla, Fran and Ollie, both via Victor. The same outfit offers Roy Rogers' "Rodeo" for would-be cowpokes.

A new Yuletide character, "Frosty the Snow Man," is off to a fast start with the support of such as Jimmy Durante (on MGM), Ken Carson (Capitol) and Gene Autry (Columbia).

The kiddies' platter list has songs for almost any purpose including painless education (if you remember the ear-muffs, pop). Exhibits include Baby Snooks (Fanny Brice) learning lessons in truth-telling, cleanliness and assorted virtues (Capitol), and Irving Caesar's "Songs of Safety" (Caravan).

Despite TV, the movie influence remains strong. Victor still has its full Disney stable and Capitol has Bugs Bunny, Tweety Pie, Daffy Duck and Woody Woodpecker.

To show you how the field is being covered, Capitol for example also has these: "Destination Moon" (a short take of the movie); Tex Ritter singing Sunday school songs; Frank De Vol doing "Teddy Bear's Picnic" and "I'm A Little Teapot"; "Rudolph" and "Christmas Boogie." (You can swing from the tree to that one).

The accent is definitely on the lighter side, but there are some good new traditional offerings.

Such as "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" and "No Room At the Inn" as told by Lionel Barrymore (MGM). Arthur Godfrey does "Night Before" for Columbia, backed by "Jingle Bells."

There are Christmas carols by the Boys' Town Choir and the Mitchell Boys Choir. Lauritz Melchior has a full-voiced coupling of "Silent Night" and "O Holy Night" (MGM).

For those who want to interest their children in better music, there are a number of choices from the output of the Young People's Record Club, the Children's Record Guild, Allegro and Magic-Tone, in addition to a few from the major companies.

Expert Says U. S. Would Save 25% More Lives Than Japs In Event Of Atomic Attack

CHICAGO (INS)—A naval radiation expert reports that science has not found a "magic remedy" yet against deadly rays given off by the blast of an atomic bomb, but he predicted American medicine would be able to save 25 per cent more people than did the Japanese in the event of atomic attack.

He is Capt. Charles F. Behrens, medical director of the Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital, in Chicago to discuss treatment of radiation injury at the 36th annual meeting of the Radiological Society of North America, being attended by some 2,000 x-ray specialists.

Captain Behrens said in an interview:

"In the event of an atomic attack, we will rescue more persons and save more than the Japanese did. They were disorganized and bewildered. We are preparing for all eventualities ahead of time."

New antibiotic drugs and huge stores of blood and blood substitutes, Captain Behrens explained, will play a vital role in helping American physicians and rescue workers to save lives.

With better preparation and with new drugs available, he added, it should be possible for American medical men to save 26 per cent more victims of an a-bomb blast than were the doctors of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Best estimates now, according to Captain Behrens, are that about 15 per cent of the some 60,000-odd casualties at Hiroshima were due to radiation injury—roughly 9,000. Burns and shock were greatest cause of death.

Captain Behrens said that casualties were very high at Hiroshima because both the flat terrain the high density of population made an ideal setting for the earth-shaking blow.

Recent experiments, the naval scientist declared, have indicated however that even those who do not receive slight amounts of radiation—in itself not serious—are made much more vulnerable to death from burns, shock of other injuries.

He added:

"We do not know yet what increase, percentage-wise, in other types of deaths resulted in Japan from prior exposure to small doses of radiation.

"It is almost impossible to evaluate, but we do know that radiation was a nasty and complicating factor in many otherwise routine injuries."

He explained that the Japanese studies indicated that 90 per cent of those who were within a mile or two of the blast center showed some radiation symptoms.

Record Firms Pull Out All Stops In Holiday Platters For Juveniles

By BILL BECKER

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Don the ear-muffs, pop. Santa Claus—plus a bunch of other noisy characters—is coming to town again.

The record companies have pulled out all stops this season in turning their talent-loaded stables loose to beguile and belabor the fancy of your kids and mine.

In addition to the customary conversion of crooners to "Silent Night" and "Adeste Fidelis" and umpteen new versions of "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and "S. C. Is Coming To Town," the flood of Christmas records is boosted by television favorites.

The trend is paced by "Hopalong Cassidy and the Square Dance Holdup," a new Capitol album complete with script and 17 pages of photographs "taken on location with Hoppy!"

Other items slanted for video-minded youngsters include "Howdy Doody's Laughing Circus" and a new Mother Goose by Kukla, Fran and Ollie, both via Victor. The same outfit offers Roy Rogers' "Rodeo" for would-be cowpokes.

A new Yuletide character, "Frosty the Snow Man," is off to a fast start with the support of such as Jimmy Durante (on MGM), Ken Carson (Capitol) and Gene Autry (Columbia).

The kiddies' platter list has songs for almost any purpose including painless education (if you remember the ear-muffs, pop). Exhibits include Baby Snooks (Fanny Brice) learning lessons in truth-telling, cleanliness and assorted virtues (Capitol), and Irving Caesar's "Songs of Safety" (Caravan).

By DON WHITEHEAD

TOKYO—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker saved his U. S. Eighth Army by a skillful retreat which was planned in detail even before the Chinese Reds began their big offensive 16 days ago.

This Eighth Army still is a potent fighting force. Although greatly outnumbered by the Chinese and North Korean Red troops, its losses to the enemy have been remarkably small.

When the full story is written it may be that the Eighth Army's withdrawal will be compared to the famed retreat of German Gen. Erwin Rommel across the desert of North Africa in World War II.

"The enemy's pickings were damn slim in this withdrawal," one staff officer said. "They got little they can use."

There was no headlong flight in the Eighth's retreat. After the first four confused days of the Chinese offensive, the withdrawal was orderly and according to plan.

When the United Nations "end the war" offensive was planned Eighth Army strategists anticipated the possibility of a retreat. They were apprehensive because they did not know the strength of the Chinese force that was being attacked.

"We always try to plan for every eventuality," an officer said. "We must look ahead to anticipate every thing that might happen."

Two days after the Chinese began their offensive, the commanders in the field had the retreat plans in their hands.

The withdrawal plans in general terms went to the commanders of the First and Ninth Corps. They, in turn, made more detailed plans for any backward movement of their divisions.

"There never was a time when this withdrawal was not under full control," one headquarters officer said.

This is the way the retreat developed:

The Chinese Reds attacked the Eighth Army on the night of Nov. 25. They hurled overwhelming numbers of men at the U. N. forces. They hit hardest on the right flank held by the Second South Korean Corps.

Military men estimate the South Koreans were hit by two Chinese armies, at least six divisions battering at two divisions. The ROK (Republic of Korea) Second Corps had the Seventh and Eighth Divisions in the line and the Ninth Division in reserve.

The Reds struck toward Tokchon in the ROK corps sector while also battering at the U. S. Second and 25th Divisions and the First ROK Division on the left side of the line.

On Nov. 27, an Eighth Army staff officer said, it was apparent the army had to withdraw in the face of such odds. On that day an order went out from Eighth Army headquarters for the divisions to pull back to a small bridgehe north of the Chongchon River roughly the starting point of tl Allied offensive.

This decision was made to coordinate the pullback and also tc regroup the forces for renewed attack in case the Chinese were making only a limited counterattack.

But by Nov. 28 it was apparent the Chinese were making an all-out drive with powerful forces. And so on Nov. 29 the Eighth Army began its withdrawal under orders from Gen. Walker.

The Second Infantry Division and the Turkish brigade were moved across the roads leading from Tokchon to guard the flank of the retreating forces. These two groups kept the escape corridor open.

The Second Division took heavy casualties and the Turks lost about one-fifth of their fighting force. Their gallant stand saved the rest of the Eighth Army from being flanked and chewed to bits.

The hard-hit Second ROK Corps pulled out the Ninth Division intact and about half of the other two divisions. They saved much of their transport but lost about two-thirds of one battalion of artillery.

But one U. S. officers said: "I don't believe the Eighth Army lost a single gun to the enemy which can be used again."

The First Cavalry Division helped the Second Division and the Turks to block the roads leading into the right flank. The army quickly moved back to the Sukchon-Sun- ıon line south of the Chongchon iver.

The 24th Division, the First ROK ivision and the 25th Division came ut of the bridgehead in good order None of the divisions lost their service units except in occasional uerrilla attacks behind the lines.

The crossing of the Chongchon was the critical period of the withdrawal. Here the enemy had a chance to cut the Eighth Army to pieces. But the flank defenses he and the river crossing was made good order.

The Chinese Reds attacked the Eighth Army on the night of Nov. 25. They hurled overwhelming numbers of men at the U. N. forces. They hit hardest on the right flank held by the Second South Korean Corps.

Military men estimate the South Koreans were hit by two Chinese armies, at least six divisions battering at two divisions. The ROK (Republic of Korea) Second Corps had the Seventh and Eighth Divisions in the line and the Ninth Division in reserve.

The Reds struck toward Tokchon in the ROK corps sector while also battering at the U. S. Second and 25th Divisions and the First ROK Division on the left side of the line.

On Nov. 27, an Eighth Army staff officer said, it was apparent the army had to withdraw in the face of such odds. On that day an order went out from Eighth Army headquarters for the divisions to pull back to a small bridgehe north of the Chongchon River roughly the starting point of th Allied offensive.

This decision was made to coordinate the pullback and also to regroup the forces for renewed attack in case the Chinese were making only a limited counterattack.

But by Nov. 28 it was apparent the Chinese were making an all-out drive with powerful forces. And so on Nov. 29 the Eighth Army began its withdrawal under orders from Gen. Walker.

The Second Infantry Division and the Turkish brigade were moved across the roads leading from Tokchon to guard the flank of the retreating forces. These two groups kept the escape corridor open.

The Second Division took heavy casualties and the Turks lost about one-fifth of their fighting force. Their gallant stand saved the rest of the Eighth Army from being flanked and chewed to bits.

The hard-hit Second ROK Corps pulled out the Ninth Division intact and about half of the other two divisions. They saved much of their transport but lost about two-thirds of one battalion of artillery.

But one U. S. officers said: "I don't believe the Eighth Army lost a single gun to the enemy which can be used again."

The First Cavalry Division helped the Second Division and the Turks to block the roads leading into the right flank. The army quickly moved back to the Sukchon-Sunhon line south of the Chongchon iver.

The 24th Division, the First ROK ivision and the 25th Division came ut of the bridgehead in good order. None of the divisions lost their service units except in occasional guerrilla attacks behind the lines.

The crossing of the Chongchon was the critical period of the withdrawal. Here the enemy had a chance to cut the Eighth Army to pieces. But the flank defenses he and the river crossing was made good order.

By DON WHITEHEAD

TOKYO—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker saved his U. S. Eighth Army by a skillful retreat which was planned in detail even before the Chinese Reds began their big offensive 16 days ago.

This Eighth Army still is a potent fighting force. Although greatly outnumbered by the Chinese and North Korean Red troops, its losses to the enemy have been remarkably small.

When the full story is written it may be that the Eighth Army's withdrawal will be compared to the famed retreat of German Gen. Erwin Rommel across the desert of North Africa in World War II.

"The enemy's pickings were damn slim in this withdrawal," one staff officer said. "They got little they can use."

There was no headlong flight in the Eighth's retreat. After the first four confused days of the Chinese offensive, the withdrawal was orderly and according to plan.

When the United Nations "end the war" offensive was planned Eighth Army strategists anticipated the possibility of a retreat. They were apprehensive because they did not know the strength of the Chinese force that was being attacked.

"We always try to plan for every eventuality," an officer said. "We must look ahead to anticipate every thing that might happen."

Two days after the Chinese began their offensive, the commanders in the field had the retreat plans in their hands.

The withdrawal plans in general terms went to the commanders of the First and Ninth Corps. They, in turn, made more detailed plans for any backward movement of their divisions.

"There never was a time when this withdrawal was not under full control," one headquarters officer said.

This is the way the retreat developed:

The Chinese Reds attacked the Eighth Army on the night of Nov. 25. They hurled overwhelming numbers of men at the U. N. forces. They hit hardest on the right flank held by the Second South Korean Corps.

Military men estimate the South Koreans were hit by two Chinese armies, at least six divisions battering at two divisions. The ROK (Republic of Korea) Second Corps had the Seventh and Eighth Divisions in the line and the Ninth Division in reserve.

New Celanese Paper Published For Employes

The first issue of the Celanese Corporation of America's publication, Celanese News, has been received by all company personnel. The paper is being published to acquaint employes with the end-uses of the many Celanese products.

Utilizing photographs and brief stories, the new publication will show how the employee and Celanese are making news "by providing better, more useful products for the people of America." Celanese News will appear at frequent intervals.

"In an organization as large as Celanese Corporation of America," the publication said in a message to employees, "it is often difficult to determine just how our individual job fits into the over-all scheme of things. Even more difficult is an understanding of what happens to Celanese products after they leave our shipping platforms.

"Many of us have actually worn or used manufactured products which make use of Celanese basic materials without ever realizing the fact. These products could be a summer suit woven of Celanese staple fiber of acetate rayon; automobile anti-freeze that includes methanol, a chemical made at the Chemcel plant, Bishop, Texas; and even vegetables and fruit prepackaged in Lumarith, the Celanese plastic film."

One of the features of the first issue of Celanese News is a photographic-story treatment of Celanese staple fiber. From this versatile fiber—either used alone or blended with natural or other chemical fibers—have come such diverse end-products as men's summer suits and the interlinings of children's snowsuits, women's leisure jackets and floor coverings, home draperies and auto upholstery.

Other pages of the Celanese News present pictorially end-uses of textile, chemical and plastics products manufactured at the twelve plants of the corporation in eight different states.

Skillful Retreat

since then the withdrawal has been made according to the Eighth Army's advance planning.

No one has tried to hide the fact that the Eighth Army suffered losses in men and equipment in the retreat. The greatest losses, perhaps, were in the trucks and jeeps and the communications equipment of the combat units.

In many cases, artillerymen fired heir last rounds of ammunition, piked their guns, and then left hem so they could not be used by he enemy.

In Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, the army was forced to abandon supply dumps. They burned most of them and then sent the Air Force in to blast the others from the air.

"When we had to abandon a truck," an officer said "we pinpointed its location for the Air Force so that it would be destroyed by the pilots."

A staff officer said: "It hurts to lose anything. But we have had no supply losses that can't be replaced. The trucks and the communications equipment hurt most. But such losses are to be expected in combat and there's nothing we can't replace."

If and when we need air raid wardens, we'll nominate the lady next door who always detects anything unusual in the neighborhood hours before it happens.

first be given to the kind of world settlement to be proposed, to the probable Soviet response, and above all, to our "atomic strength's" practical value. But it is also certain that if the odds on an early war at a "moment of the Soviets' choosing" are already two or three or four to one, as they undoubtedly appear at present, Winston Churchill's advice at least deserves to be honestly and carefully canvassed.

New Celanese Paper Published For Employes

The first issue of the Celanese Corporation of America's publication, Celanese News, has been received by all company personnel. The paper is being published to acquaint employes with the end-uses of the many Celanese products.

Utilizing photographs and brief stories, the new publication will show how the employee and Celanese are making news "by providing better, more useful products for the people of America." Celanese News will appear at frequent intervals.

"In an organization as large as Celanese Corporation of America," the publication said in a message to employees, "it is often difficult to determine just how our individual job fits into the over-all scheme of things. Even more difficult is an understanding of what happens to Celanese products after they leave our shipping platforms.

"Many of us have actually worn or used manufactured products which make use of Celanese basic materials without ever realizing the fact. These products could be a summer suit woven of Celanese staple fiber of acetate rayon; automobile anti-freeze that includes methanol, a chemical made at the Chemcel plant, Bishop, Texas; and even vegetables and fruit prepackaged in Lumarith, the Celanese plastic film."

One of the features of the first issue of Celanese News is a photographic-story treatment of Celanese staple fiber. From this versatile fiber—either used alone or blended with natural or other chemical fibers—have come such diverse end-products as men's summer suits and the interlinings of children's snowsuits, women's leisure jackets and floor coverings, home draperies and auto upholstery.

Other pages of the Celanese News present pictorially end-uses of textile, chemical and plastics products manufactured at the twelve plants of the corporation in eight different states.

since then the withdrawal has been made according to the Eighth Army's advance planning.

No one has tried to hide the fact that the Eighth Army suffered losses in men and equipment in the retreat. The greatest losses, perhaps, were in the trucks and jeeps and the communications equipment of the combat units.

In many cases, artillerymen fired heir last rounds of ammunition, piked their guns, and then left hem so they could not be used by he enemy.

In Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, the army was forced to abandon supply dumps. They burned most of them and then sent the Air Force in to blast the others from the air.

"When we had to abandon a truck," an officer said "we pinpointed its location for the Air Force so that it would be destroyed by the pilots."

A staff officer said: "It hurts to lose anything. But we have had no supply losses that can't be replaced. The trucks and the communications equipment hurt most. But such losses are to be expected in combat and there's nothing we can't replace."

If and when we need air raid wardens, we'll nominate the lady next door who always detects anything unusual in the neighborhood hours before it happens.

Rev. Morrow To Begin Duties

Beginning his ministry here Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church will be Rev. Seth C. Morrow, it has been announced.

Rev. Morrow will replace Rev. William A. Eisenberger who resigned the local pastorate last May to accept a church in Carlisle, Pa.

Rev. Morrow's topic at his opening service here will be "The Roads We Travel Together."

The new minister comes to the local church from First Presbyterian Church, Pottsville, Pa., where he had served since 1943. He was minister of First Presbyterian Church, Gettysburg, Pa., from 1938 to 1943.

Rev. Morrow received a bachelor of arts degree from Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va., and a bachelor of theology degree from Princeton Theological Seminary Princeton, N. J., in 1938. He took additional graduate work at Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., and received a master of theology degree in 1948.

During his ministry in Pottsville, the Rev. Morrow was also active in community affairs and served as secretary and president of the ministerial association. He was a member of the Rotary Club and a director of the Southern Schuykill Chapter of the American Red Cross. In 1949, he served as moderator of Lehigh Presbytery. He also served as chairman of the United Promotion Committee of the Presbytery and was a member of the committee on National Missions.

Rev. Morrow was chairman of the New Life Movement for the Synod of Pennsylvania for three years until moving to Cumberland and has served as chairman of the Synod of Pennsylvania's Evangelism Committee.

The minister and Mrs. Morrow and their two children, Elizabeth, 9, and David, 4, are moving Friday to the new manse at 827 Buckingham Road which was recently purchased by First Presbyterian Church.

Messiah Concert Slated Tonight

The Cumberland Choral Society will present Handel's "Messiah" tonight at 8:15 o'clock in Fort Hill High School auditorium with Lucille Cummings, concert, opera, radio and stage star singing the contralto solo parts.

Jack E. Platt, director, said the 18-piece Cumberland Civic Symphony will furnish accompaniment for the main choruses. More than 90 singers will appear.

Other featured artists are William Maun, who proved a popular hit in his "Elijah" performance in October here; Betty Wilson, Frostburg soprano, now of New York; James Hager, tenor, a Fort Hill High School graduate; and Aden Lewis, piano accompanist.

Admission is free.

Special buses will leave Baltimore Street for the auditorium every 15 minutes from 7 to 8 p. m. There will also be bus service after the presentation.

Bank Debits Show Increase

The first ten months of this year have brought a decided upswing in bank debits to individual accounts and building permit valuations as compared with the same period last year.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond in its Monthly Review puts Cumberland third among four major Maryland cities in bank debits. The city is headed by Baltimore and Hagerstown and trailed by Frederick.

For the ten-month period through October Cumberland's bank debits amounted to $229,981,000 as compared to $206,228,000 a year ago, or an increase of $23,753,000. For October, debits increased $1,765,000 over a year ago, the report says.

Despite its increases, the city is in last place among the four cities in building permit valuations.

For the ten-month period, valuations increased $541,360. This year's ten-month total is $1,027,750 as compared to $486,390 a year ago. In October this year, permit valuations here totaled $103,850 as compared to $35,825 last October.

In Maryland, the report says seven retail furniture dealers noted a drop of 11 per cent in sales for October as compared to the same month last year. A six per cent gain in sales was reported for the ten-month period.

Department stores in the state reported a two per cent increase in sales for October and for the ten-months.

Rev. Morrow To Begin Duties

Beginning his ministry here Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church will be Rev. Seth C. Morrow, it has been announced.

Rev. Morrow will replace Rev. William A. Eisenberger who resigned the local pastorate last May to accept a church in Carlisle, Pa.

Rev. Morrow's topic at his opening service here will be "The Roads We Travel Together."

The new minister comes to the local church from First Presbyterian Church, Pottsville, Pa., where he had served since 1943. He was minister of First Presbyterian Church, Gettysburg, Pa., from 1938 to 1943.

Rev. Morrow received a bachelor of arts degree from Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va., and a bachelor of theology degree from Princeton Theological Seminary Princeton, N. J., in 1938. He took additional graduate work at Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., and received a master of theology degree in 1948.

During his ministry in Pottsville, the Rev. Morrow was also active in community affairs and served as secretary and president of the ministerial association. He was a member of the Rotary Club and a director of the Southern Schuykill Chapter of the American Red Cross. In 1949, he served as moderator of Lehigh Presbytery. He also served as chairman of the United Promotion Committee of the Presbytery and was a member of the committee on National Missions.

Rev. Morrow was chairman of the New Life Movement for the Synod of Pennsylvania for three years until moving to Cumberland and has served as chairman of the Synod of Pennsylvania's Evangelism Committee.

The minister and Mrs. Morrow and their two children, Elizabeth, 9, and David, 4, are moving Friday to the new manse at 827 Buckingham Road which was recently purchased by First Presbyterian Church.

Messiah Concert Slated Tonight

The Cumberland Choral Society will present Handel's "Messiah" tonight at 8:15 o'clock in Fort Hill High School auditorium with Lucille Cummings, concert, opera, radio and stage star singing the contralto solo parts.

Jack E. Platt, director, said the 18-piece Cumberland Civic Symphony will furnish accompaniment for the main choruses. More than 90 singers will appear.

Other featured artists are William Maun, who proved a popular hit in his "Elijah" performance in October here; Betty Wilson, Frostburg soprano, now of New York; James Hager, tenor, a Fort Hill High School graduate; and Aden Lewis, piano accompanist.

Admission is free.

Special buses will leave Baltimore Street for the auditorium every 15 minutes from 7 to 8 p. m. There will also be bus service after the presentation.

Bank Debits Show Increase

The first ten months of this year have brought a decided upswing in bank debits to individual accounts and building permit valuations as compared with the same period last year.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond in its Monthly Review puts Cumberland third among four major Maryland cities in bank debits. The city is headed by Baltimore and Hagerstown and trailed by Frederick.

For the ten-month period through October Cumberland's bank debits amounted to $229,981,000 as compared to $206,228,000 a year ago, or an increase of $23,753,000. For October, debits increased $1,765,000 over a year ago, the report says.

Despite its increases, the city is in last place among the four cities in building permit valuations.

For the ten-month period, valuations increased $541,360. This year's ten-month total is $1,027,750 as compared to $486,390 a year ago. In October this year, permit valuations here totaled $103,850 as compared to $35,825 last October.

In Maryland, the report says seven retail furniture dealers noted a drop of 11 per cent in sales for October as compared to the same month last year. A six per cent gain in sales was reported for the ten-month period.

Department stores in the state reported a two per cent increase in sales for October and for the ten-months.

Two Yule Trees Are Placed For Christmas Celebrations

Plans for community Christmas celebrations moved forward yesterday as workmen placed Christmas trees at City Hall Plaza and in South Cumberland.

Work started on the decoration of the rotunda yesterday as the community tree was erected on the Bedford Street side of the plaza, across from the Liberty Street entrance to the City Hall.

Two small trees will be set up at the entrances to the hall on Centre and Liberty Streets. All trees will be illuminated.

The community tree has been set up on a wooden stand which will also be decorated in greenery.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery said the community tree is not as large as had been hoped. The tree was brought here from Garrett county by Robert R. Golden, Constitution Park superintendent, who found it impossible to reach the larger trees in Garrett because of the inclement weather, Ullery said.

The community tree is about 20 feet tall.

The community tree will be dedicated at a program Monday night in the plaza. Complete details of the program are being worked out.

The rotunda will have several new features in addition to the decorations used last year. Boughs of pine will be used to offset the brightly-colored wreaths of red and green. Clusters of bells of red and silver foil, green, red and silver tinsel decorate the balcony and at each side three lighted candle tapers have been placed.

The trees at City Hall and in South Cumberland were set up by workers of the C. and P. Telephone Company.

Don't be HALF-SAFE

by VALDA SHERMAN

Many mysterious changes take place in your body as you mature. Now, the glands under your arms begin to secrete daily a new type of perspiration containing substances which will—if they reach your dress—cause ugly stains and clinging odor

You'll face this problem throughout womanhood. It's not enough merely to stop the odor of this perspiration. You must now use a deodorant that stops the perspiration itself before it reaches—and ruins—your clothes.

As doctors know, not all deodorants stop both perspiration and odor. But Arrid does! It's been proved that the new cream deodorant Arrid stops underarm perspiration 1 to 3 days safely—keeps underarms dry and sweet.

Remember this, too. Arrid's antiseptic action kills odor on contact—prevents formation of odor up to 48 hours and keeps you "shower-bath" fresh. And it's safe for skin—safe for fabrics.

So, don't be half-safe. Don't risk your happiness with half-safe deodorants. Be Arrid-safe! Use Arrid to be sure. Arrid with Creamogen will not dry out, and it's so pleasant and easy to apply. Get Arrid today—only 39¢ plus tax.

Two Area Soldiers Are Hurt In Korea

Two area soldiers are listed on the new Korean casualty lists released yesterday by the Department of Defense. They are:

Pfc. Grover Lolay Tichinel, son of John W. Tichinel, Route 3, Swanton, Garrett county, and Cpl. Wilber A. Rinker, son of Earl E. Rinker, Keyser, W. Va. Both were wounded in action.

Mail Workers Expect Peak Load Next Week

Increases of postage sales and package handling since December 1 foreshadow a busy next ten days for the Cumberland Post Office.

W. R. Thayer, superintendent of mails, reported this morning that parcel post load has doubled in the past few days and the peak period is expected the first of next week.

Thomas B. Cumiskey, assistant postmaster, said postage sales have increased $2,107.50 over the December 1-12 period of 1949. From December 1 through Tuesday sales amounted to $15,089.55 as compared to $12,982.05 in the same period a year ago.

Air Mail Overseas Jumps

Cumiskey said there had been "only a few" packages for servicemen handled during the period set aside for overseas mailing. But since the overseas deadline passed, there has been a definite pickup in air mailed packages for overseas. No record is kept of the number of these packages, only the poundage.

Parcels destined for foreign places may still be sent air mail with delivery possible by Christmas.

Whether this year's mail handling at the office will set a record can not be determined. But so far, the business has been on a par with that of last year, one of the heaviest in history here.

Patrons are urged to take care in addressing packages and letters in an effort to save postal workers time and insure delivery before Christmas.

Suggests Separating Cards

Thayer suggested that those sending cards separate their "in city" and "out of city" cards and tie them in bundles. This will expedite their handling, he said.

Three or four temporary employes have been put to work on the floor of the office to help with the increase in packages and mail, Cumiskey said. The builk of the estimated 87 to be hired for the holiday rush will report the first of the week. Most of them will be used for carrier duty.

The one-a-day delivery regulation will be relaxed during the holiday season. The regulation will be put into effect again immediately after, however. That means the postman may deliver twice or more a day in one neighborhood before Christmas.

Two Yule Trees Are Placed For Christmas Celebrations

Plans for community Christmas celebrations moved forward yesterday as workmen placed Christmas trees at City Hall Plaza and in South Cumberland.

Work started on the decoration of the rotunda yesterday as the community tree was erected on the Bedford Street side of the plaza, across from the Liberty Street entrance to the City Hall.

Two small trees will be set up at the entrances to the hall on Centre and Liberty Streets. All trees will be illuminated.

The community tree has been set up on a wooden stand which will also be decorated in greenery.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery said the community tree is not as large as had been hoped. The tree was brought here from Garrett county by Robert R. Golden, Constitution Park superintendent, who found it impossible to reach the larger trees in Garrett because of the inclement weather, Ullery said.

The community tree is about 20 feet tall.

The community tree will be dedicated at a program Monday night in the plaza. Complete details of the program are being worked out.

The rotunda will have several new features in addition to the decorations used last year. Boughs of pine will be used to offset the brightly-colored wreaths of red and green. Clusters of bells of red and silver foil, green, red and silver tinsel decorate the balcony and at each side three lighted candle tapers have been placed.

The trees at City Hall and in South Cumberland were set up by workers of the C. and P. Telephone Company.

Don't be HALF-SAFE

by VALDA SHERMAN

Many mysterious changes take place in your body as you mature. Now, the glands under your arms begin to secrete daily a new type of perspiration containing substances which will—if they reach your dress—cause ugly stains and clinging odor

You'll face this problem throughout womanhood. It's not enough merely to stop the odor of this perspiration. You must now use a deodorant that stops the perspiration itself before it reaches—and ruins—your clothes.

As doctors know, not all deodorants stop both perspiration and odor. But Arrid does! It's been proved that the new cream deodorant Arrid stops underarm perspiration 1 to 3 days safely—keeps underarms dry and sweet.

Remember this, too. Arrid's antiseptic action kills odor on contact—prevents formation of odor up to 48 hours and keeps you "shower-bath" fresh. And it's safe for skin—safe for fabrics.

So, don't be half-safe. Don't risk your happiness with half-safe deodorants. Be Arrid-safe! Use Arrid to be sure. Arrid with Creamogen will not dry out, and it's so pleasant and easy to apply. Get Arrid today—only 39¢ plus tax.

HERALDING THE OPENING of the Christmas season in New York, a chorus, accompanied by Boy Scouts and spectators, sings some Christmas carols around a brightly lighted tree on famed Park Avenue. Previous to the singing, a switch was thrown that illuminated 30 other gaily-bedecked trees lining a 60-block section of the avenue. (International)

Two Area Soldiers Are Hurt In Korea

Two area soldiers are listed on the new Korean casualty lists released yesterday by the Department of Defense. They are:

Pfc. Grover Lolay Tichinel, son of John W. Tichinel, Route 3, Swanton, Garrett county, and Cpl. Wilber A. Rinker, son of Earl E. Rinker, Keyser, W. Va. Both were wounded in action.

Mail Workers Expect Peak Load Next Week

Increases of postage sales and package handling since December 1 foreshadow a busy next ten days for the Cumberland Post Office.

W. R. Thayer, superintendent of mails, reported this morning that parcel post load has doubled in the past few days and the peak period is expected the first of next week.

Thomas B. Cumiskey, assistant postmaster, said postage sales have increased $2,107.50 over the December 1-12 period of 1949. From December 1 through Tuesday sales amounted to $15,089.55 as compared to $12,982.05 in the same period a year ago.

Air Mail Overseas Jumps

Cumiskey said there had been "only a few" packages for servicemen handled during the period set aside for overseas mailing. But since the overseas deadline passed, there has been a definite pickup in air mailed packages for overseas. No record is kept of the number of these packages, only the poundage.

Parcels destined for foreign places may still be sent air mail with delivery possible by Christmas.

Whether this year's mail handling at the office will set a record can not be determined. But so far, the business has been on a par with that of last year, one of the heaviest in history here.

Patrons are urged to take care in addressing packages and letters in an effort to save postal workers time and insure delivery before Christmas.

Suggests Separating Cards

Thayer suggested that those sending cards separate their "in city" and "out of city" cards and tie them in bundles. This will expedite their handling, he said.

Three or four temporary employes have been put to work on the floor of the office to help with the increase in packages and mail, Cumiskey said. The builk of the estimated 87 to be hired for the holiday rush will report the first of the week. Most of them will be used for carrier duty.

The one-a-day delivery regulation will be relaxed during the holiday season. The regulation will be put into effect again immediately after, however. That means the postman may deliver twice or more a day in one neighborhood before Christmas.

Mongol Cavalry In Korea Fights In Own Element

(Spencer Davis, who here writes of the Mongolian cavalry now reported in Korea, knows the Mongolians. He met them while covering North China and Manchuria in 1945-46 when Manchuria was switching from Japanese to Russian to Chinese Nationalist and finally to Chinese Communist control. He now is on the Associated Press cable desk at San Francisco.)

By SPENCER DAVIS

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Two divisions of tough Mongolian cavalrymen, identified by Gen. MacArthur's headquarters as among the Chinese Communist vanguard in Korea, are fighting in their own element.

Accustomed to the bleak plains and howling winds of the Mongolian plateau, they were raised to the life of a nomad and a fighter.

They were operating over ground stained red by illustrious ancestors. The great Mogol conqueror Genghis Khan subdivided Korea in 1218 and a half century later his grandson Kublai Khan, at the head of another army, did it again.

As recently as August, 1945, shaggy little Mongolian ponies galloped again throuh Manchuria into Korea, carrying their stocky, high cheekboned masters to battle with the Japanese.

Mongolian banner-men—most of them fierce Buryat tribesmen—then were attached to Russia's Second Ukrainian Army. It was the Soviet armored force sent from Stalingrad and Eastern Europe to crush the Japanese Kwantung army and occupy Manchuria and Korea down to the 38th Parallel.

The fighting lasted little more than one week in 1945—the last week of World War II.

The Mongols terrorized Chinese civilians in Manchuria. They were dreaded more than even the Soviet "long-noses" as the Chinese called the Russian troops.

Then, as now, long lines of civilian refugees poured out of the cities, towns and villages to avoid contact with the long-robed, high-booted Mongol cavalrymen.

And with the refugees came tales of the no-quarter ferocity in battle accompanied by whopping battle screams.

The sack of Mukden in September, 1945, following its capture by the Red army was attributed by Chinese civilians largely to these wiry, cold-blooded little men.

The Mongolians wore durable sheepskin-lined winter uniforms. Their tight-fitting civet skin or beaver skull caps, pulled down over ears and nose, gave them an even wilder aspect. They were crack shots, even when riding at full gallop.

For centuries fighting has been a way of life to these sons of the great Khans.

In recent times the Mongols have fiercely resented the mass migration of Chinese from south of the Great Wall into territory they considered their own.

For the same reason they bitterly but ineffectually opposed the Japanese entry into fertile Manchuria in 1931.

It was not too hard to convince independent-minded Outer Mongolia to tear away from weak Chinese sovereignty and proclaim itself a "Peoples Republic" of the USSR several years ago.

Airmen's reports that Mongolian cavalrymen in Korea refused to break rank under low-level strafing and rocket attack is typical of these Buddhist troops. Their unquestioned bravery more than once has led them into mass slaughter in battle.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Give Seagram's and be Sure of the finest

Say Seagram's and be Sure of the finest

Thanks a Million—and a Merry Christmas!

THIS GAY Christmas window and this beaming gentleman represent the thousands of neat, well stocked stores, of equally neat, well run taverns from coast to coast—and the thousands of hard working, responsible business men, who serve you in them.

During this holiday season they're very busy supplying a wide selection of the finest liquors and helping you choose the sure-to-be-appreciated gift.

Or they're busy welcoming you to an attractive gathering place where you and your friends can raise a toast or two of convivial Yuletide cheer.

But busy as they are—and you can help the store folks, particularly, by doing your Christmas liquor buying early—they are all anxious to say, "Thanks a million and a very Merry Christmas to you!"

This message of appreciation to the Licensed Liquor Dealers of the United States is sponsored by The House of Seagram.

Mongol Cavalry In Korea Fights In Own Element

(Spencer Davis, who here writes of the Mongolian cavalry now reported in Korea, knows the Mongolians. He met them while covering North China and Manchuria in 1945-46 when Manchuria was switching from Japanese to Russian to Chinese Nationalist and finally to Chinese Communist control. He now is on the Associated Press cable desk at San Francisco.)

By SPENCER DAVIS

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Two divisions of tough Mongolian cavalrymen, identified by Gen. MacArthur's headquarters as among the Chinese Communist vanguard in Korea, are fighting in their own element.

Accustomed to the bleak plains and howling winds of the Mongolian plateau, they were raised to the life of a nomad and a fighter.

They were operating over ground stained red by illustrious ancestors. The great Mogol conqueror Genghis Khan subdivided Korea in 1218 and a half century later his grandson Kublai Khan, at the head of another army, did it again.

As recently as August, 1945, shaggy little Mongolian ponies galloped again throuh Manchuria into Korea, carrying their stocky, high cheekboned masters to battle with the Japanese.

Mongolian banner-men—most of them fierce Buryat tribesmen—then were attached to Russia's Second Ukrainian Army. It was the Soviet armored force sent from Stalingrad and Eastern Europe to crush the Japanese Kwantung army and occupy Manchuria and Korea down to the 38th Parallel.

The fighting lasted little more than one week in 1945—the last week of World War II.

The Mongols terrorized Chinese civilians in Manchuria. They were dreaded more than even the Soviet "long-noses" as the Chinese called the Russian troops.

Then, as now, long lines of civilian refugees poured out of the cities, towns and villages to avoid contact with the long-robed, high-booted Mongol cavalrymen.

And with the refugees came tales of the no-quarter ferocity in battle accompanied by whopping battle screams.

The sack of Mukden in September, 1945, following its capture by the Red army was attributed by Chinese civilians largely to these wiry, cold-blooded little men.

The Mongolians wore durable sheepskin-lined winter uniforms. Their tight-fitting civet skin or beaver skull caps, pulled down over ears and nose, gave them an even wilder aspect. They were crack shots, even when riding at full gallop.

For centuries fighting has been a way of life to these sons of the great Khans.

In recent times the Mongols have fiercely resented the mass migration of Chinese from south of the Great Wall into territory they considered their own.

For the same reason they bitterly but ineffectually opposed the Japanese entry into fertile Manchuria in 1931.

It was not too hard to convince independent-minded Outer Mongolia to tear away from weak Chinese sovereignty and proclaim itself a "Peoples Republic" of the USSR several years ago.

Airmen's reports that Mongolian cavalrymen in Korea refused to break rank under low-level strafing and rocket attack is typical of these Buddhist troops. Their unquestioned bravery more than once has led them into mass slaughter in battle.

Declaration Of Emergency Won't Automatically Put Reserves On Active Duty

By MAX HALL

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Military reservists all over the country are asking: "What happens to us if President Truman declares a national emergency?"

Defense Department officials, asked to clarify the situation, expressed the following views today:

1. The October "slow-down" policy in calling reserves to active duty, though technically still in effect, is not being carried out as originally planned, because of the pressure of events in Korea.

2. If a national emergency is declared, this might be the occasion for throwing the "slow-down" policy out the window entirely.

3. But a declaration of national emergency would not, in itself, require reservists to report for active duty. It would not automatically mean the mobilization of reservists. The Army, Navy and Air Force would continue to use their regular procedures, each service calling up men according to its needs.

That statement should relieve the minds of some reservists who had the impression that a national emergency declaration would automatically put them on active duty within 24 hours.

A "slow-down" policy on reserve callups was ordered by Secretary of Defense Marshall last October 23, at a time when the military situation in Korea looked pretty good.

The policy was designed to establish an "orderly" procedure in calling reserves.

"Insofar as military conditions permit," it provided, a reservist must be allowed at least 30 days between the time he is called and the date he reports for active duty.

The services were supposed to determine their manpower requirements six months ahead, choose the reservists they would need, and notify all others that unless a material change in military requirements otherwise dictates," their recall was at least four months distant.

Marshall also instructed each service—"provided that the required strength can be maintained"—to release reservists who had been called involuntarily to active duty, as soon as replacements could be provided and certain other conditions met.

It will be noted that the Oct. 23 policy contains loopholes in the 30-day and four-month requirements, and in the other provisions.

With the adverse turn of battle in Korea, these loopholes have been used more than had been expected previously.

For example, the Navy, which had planned to send several hundred reservists back to civilian life next spring, is reported to have reconsidered this plan.

Along with uncertainty over the future of reservists, there has been increasing speculation that more National Guard divisions will be called upon soon. The armed services will not discuss their plans in this respect, nor will they disclose figures on the number of reservists called to active duty month by month.

Other questions have arisen as to whether a declaration of national emergency would change the present pay, allowances, or insurance for reservists on active duty. Spokesmen for the Army, Navy and Air Force say flatly that it would not.

Hotel losses from souvenir hunters amount to $1,000,000 each year.

Maybe everybody should give everybody towels for Christmas.

The annual cost of crime runs into the billions—and who can say we aren't getting our money's worth.

Walking is good for the health only when you are careful enough not to get run down.

Here's An "Expert" Example!

When our Main Street parking problem cropped up again, we announced a strict one-hour parking policy, and swore in extra deputies to enforce it.

We also sent over to the State Capitol for a traffic expert, to give us pointers. He turned out to be real helpful—spent a whole afternoon with us talking about zoning and such. And when he left the building he found a ticket on his car for overtime parking!

Could have gotten sore, I guess—or asked us to "fix" the ticket. But instead, he insisted on going over to the Sheriff's Office and paying his fine.

From where I sit, it's good to know people, like that young fellow, who refuse to be treated any different than anyone else. City people and farmers—those of us who prefer cider and those who'd rather have a cool glass of temperate beer—we're all entitled to the same privileges. Solons Indicate Bi-Racial Plan

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—(AP)—The Maryland Legislature "has indicated approval" of racial segregation in education in the state, the president of the University of Maryland said yesterday.

Dr. H. C. Byrd said the University's Board of Regents has no policy on the admission of negro students but that it is up to the deans of each school to pass on applications.

And he added, "Every action of the Legislature has indicated approval of a bi-racial system."

The Maryland State Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Baltimore Chapter of the Americans for Democratic Action have urged immediate admission of negroes to the university's graduate and professional schools.

Negroes have been admitted to the University Law and Nursing Schools after law suits by students seeking acceptance. But none has been admitted to the Schools of Medicine, Dentistry and Pharmacy. The dentistry and medicine deans said no negro has ever met the entrance requirements.

Canning Boosts Farm Income

Maryland's approximately 14,000 farmers growing vegetables for sale have an important stake in an industry which in the past 32 years has provided a total farm income in Maryland of $201,053,000. The industry is canning, now ranked among the top five in the state on the basis of the number of people employed.

In a special study of the importance of food processing and can making to Maryland's agricultural welfare, the American Can Company reports that during the last five years the state's farms have received an average of about $10,000,000 annually for their canning vegetables alone.

Tracing the farmers' income from crops sold to food packers back to 1918, the earliest year for which reliable figures are available, the survey points out that only in a few war years have Maryland vegetable growers received more for their products than during the post World War II era.

In the decades between the two world wars, the state's farmers averaged about $3,000,000 annually for their canning crops, the can company report continues.

"The rising level of income that growers have received for crops produced for canning is largely attributable to the combined efforts of agronomists, canners and can companies in obtaining larger crop yields per acre, developing highly efficient canning techniques and perfecting new and improved containers," H. E. Michl, American Can Company economist who prepared the Maryland study, explains.

"These developments not only have expanded markets for high quality processed foods at reasonable prices the year around, but also have made possible the packing of some items, such as tomato juice, not previously available in metal containers," Michl said.

Canning Boosts Farm Income

Maryland's approximately 14,000 farmers growing vegetables for sale have an important stake in an industry which in the past 32 years has provided a total farm income in Maryland of $201,053,000. The industry is canning, now ranked among the top five in the state on the basis of the number of people employed.

In a special study of the importance of food processing and can making to Maryland's agricultural welfare, the American Can Company reports that during the last five years the state's farms have received an average of about $10,000,000 annually for their canning vegetables alone.

Tracing the farmers' income from crops sold to food packers back to 1918, the earliest year for which reliable figures are available, the survey points out that only in a few war years have Maryland vegetable growers received more for their products than during the post World War II era.

In the decades between the two world wars, the state's farmers averaged about $3,000,000 annually for their canning crops, the can company report continues.

"The rising level of income that growers have received for crops produced for canning is largely attributable to the combined efforts of agronomists, canners and can companies in obtaining larger crop yields per acre, developing highly efficient canning techniques and perfecting new and improved containers," H. E. Michl, American Can Company economist who prepared the Maryland study, explains.

"These developments not only have expanded markets for high quality processed foods at reasonable prices the year around, but also have made possible the packing of some items, such as tomato juice, not previously available in metal containers," Michl said.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD
By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 13. (INS)—Just about an hour after Harry Cohn refused to confirm to me that Burt Lancaster and Harold Hecht were set for two Norma productions (their independent setup) at Columbia—Harry was lunching with the boys and closed the deal.

Well, since I had to get the story the hard way—I'll give you the details: Burt stars in the first, "Ten Tall Men" with Hecht producing. Burt may not be in the second story, but will operate as the co-producer.

Things are certainly happening fast for my friend, Burt. He and Norma expect their fourth baby next summer plus all this movie activity. And they are happy parents, indeed, that their three-year-old-son is well on the way to complete recovery from polio.

Eleanor Parker was on the Paramount lot today for an interview with Willie Wyler. The reason is that she may play the role of the beautiful wife in "Detective Story" opposite Kirk Douglas.

I want to say aloud now that for both looks and acting I can think of not one better qualified than Eleanor for this role, and she is under contract to Paramount. It would be wonderful, too, for Eleanor to have William Wyler direct her.

This is a casting — Kirk and Eleanor—and if anyone cares it has my 100 per cent approval.

On the set of "Show Boat," Kathryn Grayson told me that as soon as she finishes this picture, and before she goes abroad, she's going to get her divorce from Johnny Johnston.

She and her director, George Sidney, were patiently waiting for the sun to come out so they could get busy.

I told Agnes Moorehead that she is a much younger Parthenia Hawks (Kathryn's mother) than Edna Mae Oliver had been, and Joe E. Brown is a much more slender Captain Andy than was Charles Winninger, who created the role. But the teenagers won't remember Edna May and Charles in those roles anyway, and both Agnes and Joe E. are what the customers will like.

Arch Oboler flies out with a print of his secret picture "Five" which will be shown to a special committee of the United Nations at Lake Success on Monday.

If he had the atomic bomb under his arm the whole venture couldn't have been more guarded from start to finish. As I told you, when the project was undertaken, it was written, directed and produced by Oboler and is a devastating thriller about the complete destruction of the world by radioactive dust.

Only five people are left—hence the title.

Farley Granger received a visit from Shelley Winters on the set at Warners. No, I wouldn't say that little romance is cold.

Jimmy Cagney sent word to some of his pals that he and his family are snowed in at Martha's Vineyard. What! When he could be here in this marvelous weather!

Dorothy Lamour tells me that she and Phil Harris played a one-day bit in Bing Crosby's picture "Here Comes The Groom." It's one of those surprise appearances such as Bob Hope sometimes does for Bing, and vice versa.

The Fred Packards are going to England to live. He's J. Arthur Rank's son-in-law.

Jim Wakely, popular singing cowboy star, and his wife celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary today.

From Paris comes word that Dusty Anderson (Mrs. Jean Negulesco in private life) is making a sensational name for herself in art circles.

"The Magnificent Yankee" is going to have a big splashy premiere. It should have what with being previewed before the Supreme Court.

NEW YORK (INS)

THE PASSING SHOW.

From a usually sound source I learn that Mao has four and a half full armies in uniform, roughly 4,000,000 men.

His entire Fourth Army and about two thirds of his Third Army are in Korea. They are the well-trained "volunteers" who are hurling back a United Nations forces composed in the main of Americans.

Mao's Second Army is on the French-Indonesia border. His First Army is on the Chinese-Tibetan border or entering Tibet. About half an army is stationed in and around Peiping, and the rest of his men are scattered thinly along the China Coast.

Nothing can minimize the loss of American life in Korea. Yet it is true that we suffer about as many casualties each day on our American roads.

Matter of fact, automobile accidents have killed more Americans in the past 14 years than have been killed or fatally wounded in all the wars in U. S. history, including Korea—says a well-known insurance company.

In the same 14-year period automobiles have injured 13 times as many Americans as the non-fatally wounded in all U. S. wars. Sample statistic: Non-fatal auto accident injuries since January 1, 1937— 15,503,950!

In death, wonderful Louise Baer continues to work, not only through good friends but through her inspiring memory.

The popular New York girl who died last month of the same heart trouble she had been fighting, with all her strength, for so many years, is now responsible for the raising of an additional $25,000 for heart research.

This sum has been derived from sales of a pretty enchanting book named "The Iron Gate," which has nothing to do with the iron curtain or anything else that's serious. It is a handsomely done tribute to one of the best restaurants in the land, Jack and Charlie's "21," written by half a hundred of the top wits and writers in the country.

The Jack Kriendler Memorial Foundation is turning over all profits on the book to the Louise Baer Memorial Fund of the N. Y. Heart Association. With little or no fanfare the book already has raised the above-mentioned $25,000—and there seems to be no reason why it shouldn't go on beyond the $100,000 class.

If you want a laugh, or a hunk of good writing, and cartoons and paintings by the finest contemporary artists, latch on to a copy of "The Iron Gate." You can get one by writing "The Iron Gate" Box 521, New York City. There is no set charge, but contributions to "the Jack Kriendler Memorial Foundation, Inc." of $5 or more will get you your book or books by Xmas.

Speaking of Christmas you may soon be seeing an unusual filming of Christmas ceremonies at the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem—via a movie short (and TV feature) named "The Holy Land."

The remarkable feature, first ever filmed in such holy places as the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, is the work of Alfred Wagg, of the United Nations film department. "The Holy Land" is co-sponsored by the Catholic Near East Welfare Association and the Franciscan Commissariat of the Holy Land, Clubs and other organizations may obtain prints from the film department of the Catholic Near East Welfare Assn., 480 Lexington Avenue, N.Y.C.

The Christmas sequences were shot under tremendous handicaps, U. S. Marines assigned to U. N.'s conciliation board in the Holy Land trucked the heavy equipment along military roads to Bethlehem. Rather than offend Orthodox eastern religions, which objected to wires and lights in the Church of the Nativity, more than 700 yards of wiring had to be strung through subterranean passages, while the Marines outside kept the generator going in a blizzard.

The Arc de Triomphe in Paris, which was built by Napoleon to commemorate his victories, was only one-third finished at the time of his downfall.

Lowest point not on dry land in North America is in Lake Huron, where depths reach 500 feet below sea level.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 13. (INS)—Just about an hour after Harry Cohn refused to confirm to me that Burt Lancaster and Harold Hecht were set for two Norma productions (their independent setup) at Columbia—Harry was lunching with the boys and closed the deal.

Well, since I had to get the story the hard way—I'll give you the details: Burt stars in the first, "Ten Tall Men" with Hecht producing. Burt may not be in the second story, but will operate as the co-producer.

Things are certainly happening fast for my friend, Burt. He and Norma expect their fourth baby next summer plus all this movie activity. And they are happy parents, indeed, that their three-year-old-son is well on the way to complete recovery from polio.

Eleanor Parker was on the Paramount lot today for an interview with Willie Wyler. The reason is that she may play the role of the beautiful wife in "Detective Story" opposite Kirk Douglas.

I want to say aloud now that for both looks and acting I can think of not one better qualified than Eleanor for this role, and she is under contract to Paramount. It would be wonderful, too, for Eleanor to have William Wyler direct her.

"This is a casting — Kirk and Eleanor—and if anyone cares it has my 100 per cent approval.

On the set of "Show Boat," Kathryn Grayson told me that as soon as she finishes this picture, and before she goes abroad, she's going to get her divorce from Johnny Johnston.

She and her director, George Sidney, were patiently waiting for the sun to come out so they could get busy.

I told Agnes Moorehead that she is a much younger Parthenia Hawks (Kathryn's mother) than Edna Mae Oliver had been, and Joe E. Brown is a much more slender Captain Andy than was Charles Winninger, who created the role. But the teenagers won't remember Edna May and Charles in those roles anyway, and both Agnes and Joe E. are what the customers will like.

Arch Oboler flies out with a print of his secret picture "Five" which will be shown to a special committee of the United Nations at Lake Success on Monday.

If he had the atomic bomb under his arm the whole venture couldn't have been more guarded from start to finish. As I told you, when the project was undertaken, it was written, directed and produced by Oboler and is a devastating thriller about the complete destruction of the world by radioactive dust.

Only five people are left—hence the title.

Farley Granger received a visit from Shelley Winters on the set at Warners. No, I wouldn't say that little romance is cold.

Jimmy Cagney sent word to some of his pals that he and his family are snowed in at Martha's Vineyard. What! When he could be here in this marvelous weather!

Dorothy Lamour tells me that she and Phil Harris played a one-day bit in Bing Crosby's picture "Here Comes The Groom." It's one of those surprise appearances such as Bob Hope sometimes does for Bing, and vice versa.

The Fred Packards are going to England to live. He's J. Arthur Rank's son-in-law.

Jim Wakely, popular singing cowboy star, and his wife celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary today.

From Paris comes word that Dusty Anderson (Mrs. Jean Negulesco in private life) is making a sensational name for herself in art circles.

"The Magnificent Yankee" is going to have a big splashy premiere. It should have what with being previewed before the Supreme Court.

THE PASSING SHOW.

From a usually sound source I learn that Mao has four and a half full armies in uniform, roughly 4,000,000 men.

His entire Fourth Army and about two thirds of his Third Army are in Korea. They are the well-trained "volunteers" who are hurling back a United Nations forces composed in the main of Americans.

Mao's Second Army is on the French-Indonesia border. His First Army is on the Chinese-Tibetan border or entering Tibet. About half an army is stationed in and around Peiping, and the rest of his men are scattered thinly along the China Coast.

Nothing can minimize the loss of American life in Korea. Yet it is true that we suffer about as many casualties each day on our American roads.

Matter of fact, automobile accidents have killed more Americans in the past 14 years than have been killed or fatally wounded in all the wars in U. S. history, including Korea—says a well-known insurance company.

In the same 14-year period automobiles have injured 13 times as many Americans as the non-fatally wounded in all U. S. wars. Sample statistic: Non-fatal auto accident injuries since January 1, 1937— 15,503,950!

In death, wonderful Louise Baer continues to work, not only through good friends but through her inspiring memory.

The popular New York girl who died last month of the same heart trouble she had been fighting, with all her strength, for so many years, is now responsible for the raising of an additional $25,000 for heart research.

This sum has been derived from sales of a pretty enchanting book named "The Iron Gate," which has nothing to do with the iron curtain or anything else that's serious. It is a handsomely done tribute to one of the best restaurants in the land, Jack and Charlie's "21," written by half a hundred of the top wits and writers in the country.

The Jack Kriendler Memorial Foundation is turning over all profits on the book to the Louise Baer Memorial Fund of the N. Y. Heart Association. With little or no fanfare the book already has raised the above-mentioned $25,000—and there seems to be no reason why it shouldn't go on beyond the $100,000 class.

If you want a laugh, or a hunk of good writing, and cartoons and paintings by the finest contemporary artists, latch on to a copy of "The Iron Gate." You can get one by writing "The Iron Gate" Box 521, New York City. There is no set charge, but contributions to "the Jack Kriendler Memorial Foundation, Inc." of $5 or more will get you your book or books by Xmas.

Speaking of Christmas you may soon be seeing an unusual filming of Christmas ceremonies at the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem—via a movie short (and TV feature) named "The Holy Land."

The remarkable feature, first ever filmed in such holy places as the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, is the work of Alfred Wagg, of the United Nations film department. "The Holy Land" is co-sponsored by the Catholic Near East Welfare Association and the Franciscan Commissariat of the Holy Land. Clubs and other organizations may obtain prints from the film department of the Catholic Near East Welfare Assn., 480 Lexington Avenue, N.Y.C.

The Christmas sequences were shot under tremendous handicaps. U. S. Marines assigned to U. N.'s conciliation board in the Holy Land trucked the heavy equipment along military roads to Bethlehem. Rather than offend Orthodox eastern religions, which objected to wires and lights in the Church of the Nativity, more than 700 yards of wiring had to be strung through subterranean passages, while the Marines outside kept the generator going in a blizzard.

The Arc de Triomphe in Paris, which was built by Napoleon to commemorate his victories, was only one-third finished at the time of his downfall.

Lowest point not on dry land in North America is in Lake Huron, where depths reach 500 feet below sea level.

McKeldin Backs Army Building For This Area

Governor-Elect Notes Unemployment Here

McKeldin in a letter to Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant secretary of Defense, wrote:

"I am beseeching your active consideration and support for directing desirable federal expenditures into such areas as to fully utilize these available human resources, and simultaneously alleviate distress within these areas."

Would Aid Employment

The governor-elect pointed out he is interested in the defense effort as well as the relationship between the state and the federal government in a program to "alleviate acute unemployment in critical industrial areas."

"I dread the thought of what the situation would be in this area if our national economic picture were to decline for any reason," he continued.

McKeldin wrote the Cumberland area "has a unique unemployment situation without equal anywhere else in the country." He added: "It is currently, and has been for some time, the top critical unemployment area in the nation."

The governor-elect also wrote:

"The federal government at this time has an unusual opportunity to locate many of its facilities, with an eye toward the stabilization of many unstable communities, so that a long-term economy may be reasonably adjusted. This not only holds for the government's direction of capital facilities into special areas, but holds equally well for directing government contracts into the same channels. Many such installations as the quartermaster depot would remain as a peacetime federal enterprise with long enduring favorable effects upon the community.

"The extent to which the federal government directs projects like the quartermaster depot in to the areas of labor surplus, the easier will become the problem later on of minimizing shifting populations, providing of additional public facilities, and creating a stimulated demand for critical construction materials for such things as new housing and a variety of other public facilities."

The action of McKeldin is in line with the viewpoint of a local group which conferred with federal officials in Washington December 4.

Headed by David Kauffman, chairman of the Steering Committee of Economic Development for Allegany County, the group urged that full consideration be given to the Cumberland district because of its surplus manpower.

Cumberland, one of 11 cities still in the running for the laboratory, does not fully meet all of the requirements set up for the project

"Return Home Safely" Is National Theme

The national safety theme for December is "Return Home Safely," according to Maryland State Police.

Backed up by "Don't Let Death Take Your Holiday," the slogan is being circulated to convince the motoring public of the necessity to operate with all available caution during months ahead.

Ice, snow and reduced visibility increase the number of ever present hazards on our highways, authorities said. An additional important factor is the prevalence of drinking drivers on roads due to the season of increased celebrations.

Aluminum sheet, mounted on a high tower, will relay television microwaves into Valleys which otherwise would not have have good TV reception.

'Mad Mike's' Men Ferret Out Reds In Malay Jungle

By LARRY ALLEN

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya—(AP)—A secret force of picked men is living deep in the Malayan jungle, spying out Communist terrorist hideouts and pinpointing their positions for destruction by the British army and air force.

These men are called the Malayan Scouts. They are a branch of the special air service regiment whose members distinguished themselves for exploits behind enemy lines in daring raids during World War II.

The Malayan Scouts are led by Lt. Col. J. M. Calvert, known to the British army as "Mad Mike." He did a lot of fighting behind enemy lines in Burma, North Africa and Norway in World War II.

The Scouts underwent gruelling training in Johore state before being sent out to remote jungle areas. All members are volunteers. They include men of the Royal Armoured Corps, the Royal Artillery and Infantry units serving in Malaya.

There is also technical personnel composed of British engineers, signalmen, army service corpsmen, electrical and mechanical engineers, and the catering corps.

A British army spokesman said the Scouts "have been specially raised and trained" to further the so-called "Briggs Plan," devised by Lt. Gen Sir Harold Briggs, army director of operations, to wipe out Communist bands.

Under this plan, any area which the British consider cleared of Communists is turned over for resettlement by law-abiding civilians.

The British spokesman said the Malayan Scouts "seek out the terrorists in the remote districts and can, when necessary, call up either a force of normal infantry or the Royal Air Force, and direct them on to targets which the Scouts have located and which might be beyond the resources of the regiment alone."

He added the Malayan Scouts hoped to maintain the traditions of forbears like the Tochi and Gilgit Scouts, who in India patrolled the northwest frontier.

The Scouts' commander, Lt. Col. Calvert, came to Malaya early in 1950 as a technical adviser to the Far East jungle training centre in Johore. Early in the Japanese campaign he founded the guerrilla warfare school in Victoria. Calvert also organized a jungle warfare school at Maymo, in Burma.

McKeldin Backs Army Building For This Area

Governor-Elect Notes Unemployment Here

McKeldin in a letter to Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant secretary of Defense, wrote:

"I am beseeching your active consideration and support for directing desirable federal expenditures into such areas as to fully utilize these available human resources, and simultaneously alleviate distress within these areas."

Would Aid Employment

The governor-elect pointed out he is interested in the defense effort as well as the relationship between the state and the federal government in a program to "alleviate acute unemployment in critical industrial areas."

"I dread the thought of what the situation would be in this area if our national economic picture were to decline for any reason," he continued.

McKeldin wrote the Cumberland area "has a unique unemployment situation without equal anywhere else in the country." He added: "It is currently, and has been for some time, the top critical unemployment area in the nation."

The governor-elect also wrote:

"The federal government at this time has an unusual opportunity to locate many of its facilities, with an eye toward the stabilization of many unstable communities, so that a long-term economy may be reasonably adjusted. This not only holds for the government's direction of capital facilities into special areas, but holds equally well for directing government contracts into the same channels. Many such installations as the quartermaster depot would remain as a peacetime federal enterprise with long enduring favorable effects upon the community.

"The extent to which the federal government directs projects like the quartermaster depot in to the areas of labor surplus, the easier will become the problem later on of minimizing shifting populations, providing of additional public facilities, and creating a stimulated demand for critical construction materials for such things as new housing and a variety of other public facilities."

The action of McKeldin is in line with the viewpoint of a local group which conferred with federal officials in Washington December 4.

Headed by David Kauffman, chairman of the Steering Committee of Economic Development for Allegany County, the group urged that full consideration be given to the Cumberland district because of its surplus manpower.

Cumberland, one of 11 cities still in the running for the laboratory, does not fully meet all of the requirements set up for the project

"Return Home Safely" Is National Theme

The national safety theme for December is "Return Home Safely," according to Maryland State Police.

Backed up by "Don't Let Death Take Your Holiday," the slogan is being circulated to convince the motoring public of the necessity to operate with all available caution during months ahead.

Ice, snow and reduced visibility increase the number of ever present hazards on our highways, authorities said. An additional important factor is the prevalence of drinking drivers on roads due to the season of increased celebrations.

Six-Horse Spill Causes Charles Town To Cancel Day's Card

Jocks Refuse To Ride After Five Are Hurt

Four Horses Finish In First Race; Ice Thaw Causes Mishap

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Dec. 13 (AP) — Jockeys forced the Charles Town track to call it a day after today's first race in which six of them were thrown in a wild spill of men and horses.

Five of the jockeys were hurt, none seriously. The others refused to ride any more, claiming the horses weren't wearing the proper shoes for the track condition.

Admissions Refunded

A. J. Boyle, track president, called off the seven other races and refunded admissions and daily double bets to the 3,500 spectators.

He also announced that shoes on the horses will be examined tomorrow before each race which are to go on as scheduled.

The injured jockeys were C. L. Bakhsh, Tommy Kane, Arthur Carvalho, Nick Shuk and Ed Robart. Also thrown, but without injury, was George Bush.

It all started as the field of 10 swung around the far turn of the three-quarter mile track in a four and a half furlong race.

Debonaire, running second on the rail with Carvalho in the saddle, stumbled and fell. The horses and riders behind flew and fell all around as the jockeys either pulled up sharply or banged into each other.

Crash Through Fence

Kane and Feffie crashed right through the outside fence.

After the mess was cleared and only four of the ten starters had finished, the jockeys led by Sam Palumbo advanced on track officials. They claimed Debonaire had slipped because it was wearing smooth shoes and they refused to finish the card.

H. K. Riley, track secretary, said the track had been frozen and was thawing out with a lot of water on it today. It was officially called muddy.

Monday's entire card at the three-quarter mile track in the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia also had been cancelled. Several inches of snow fell here Sunday and the management said that while the track was fit for racing the highways leading to it were unsafe for driving.

Horses Uninjured

None of the six horses involved in today's scramble was hurt badly. Of the four to finish, Chance Bras finished first and paid $13.20. It was in front at the time of the spill while the other three, Fenestara, by Me and His Jewel, wended their way through from the rear.

Besides Debonaire and Feffie, the other horses throwing their jocks and going down in the mud were Agilant, Jomixion, Fair Bid and One Play.

Maxim Will Defend Title Against Matthews

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (INS) — Fight Manager Jack Hurley said today his Seattle light heavyweight Harry Matthews will meet Champion Joey Maxim for the title in Boise, Idaho next June.

Hurley said he had a wire today from H. W. Hager informing him that Jack Kearns, Maxim's manager, had agreed to accept a guarantee of $60,000 for Maxim.

Group Asks Board For Stock Car Races

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 13 (AP) — The Anne Arundel county board of zoning appeals today heard counsel for the Arundel Horse Harness Club, Inc., ask that motor cycle and stock car racing be allowed on the Ritchie Highway track.

The case was taken under advisement, pending notice from the owner of the land that he was agreeable to the idea.

The club has leased the land just north of Glen Burnie since 1945 from Carl Shipley.

Rizzuto And Evers Make New Records

Set Marks Afield In 1950 AL Season

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Shortstop Phil Rizzuto of the champion New York Yankees gloved his way to two new American League fielding records and Outfielder Hoot Evers of second-place Detroit set another in the 1950 campaign.

In official American loop defensive statistics released today, Rizzuto, the league's most valuable player, was credited with 58 straight errorless games and 288 chances without a bobble for new junior circuit shortstop marks.

Those bettered the former records of 42 perfect games and 226 unmarred chances set by Philadelphia's Eddie Joost spanning the 1947-48 seasons.

In addition, Rizzuto repeated as the league's best fielding shortstop with a season percentage of .982, one point better than Vern Stephens of the Boston Red Sox. Rizzuto's average, actually .9817, fell just short of the league record of .982 set by Cleveland's Lou Boudreau in 1947.

Evers, handling 341 chances and committing only one error, fashioned a new outfield fielding record of .9970 through 139 games. That topped the former mark of .9968 recorded by Yankee Joe DiMaggio for the same number of games in 1947.

Defensive laurels at first base were shared by Mickey Vernon of Washington and Cleveland's Luke Easter with .991 each. A point behind was Ed Robinson, who operated for both Washington and Chicago.

Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox led the second basemen with .988. The top fielding third sacker was Detroit's ace, George Kell, who had only nine errors in 510 chances for a .982 percentage.

Phil Masi of Chicago was the league's best catcher defensively with .996. Yogi Berra of the Yankees had most passed balls, seven.

Team fielding honors were shared by Boston and Detroit, each with .981. The Tigers handled most chances, 6,218. Philadelphia worked the most double-plays, 208, while the Red Sox had fewest miscues, 111.

Stadium Inn Bags Sweep Over WOW In Shuffle Loop

Stadium Inn blanked the Woodmen of the World yesterday by a 3-0 count in the ladies national shuffleboard league. Other results were all by 2-1 verdicts. Clingerman's lost to Pocahontas, Moose defeated Ruth's Tavern, Frostburg American Legion topped South End Republican Club, and Century A. C. edged Cresap Tavern.

High scorers were Nellie Porter, Stadium, 25; M. Henderson, WOW, 15; V. Fields and Elsie Phillips, Clingerman's, 17; L. Liller, Pocahontas, 20; Lou Freeland, Moose, 28; Olive Bottorf, Ruth's, 20; M. Snyder, American Legion, 21; H. Ryan, SERC, 26; Ann Engle, Century, 27; and B. Lee, Cresap Tavern, 18.

Red Sox Again Involved In Key Player Trades

Sell Tebbetts To Tribe; Buy Guerra

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 13 (AP) — The Boston Red Sox sold Catcher Birdie Tebbetts to Cleveland and bought Catcher Mike Guerra from the Philadelphia A's today in two cash deals involving veteran players.

Tebbetts, 36, hit .310 in 79 games with the Red Sox last season. The noisy little receiver with the squeaky voice is regarded as one of the smartest in the majors.

Under Manager Joe McCarthy, Tebbetts caught almost every game in 1948 and 1949. After Steve O'Neill replaced McCarthy in mid-season of 1950 he was not worked so hard.

O'Neill traded Tebbetts away from Detroit to Boston in 1947 when he managed the Tigers. Detroit got Hal Wagner in exchange at that time.

The Red Sox get a 38-year-oldster in Guerra, a Cuban from Havana who hit .282 in 87 games with the A's last season. He originally came to the majors with Washington but has been playing for the A's since 1947.

With Guerra gone, the Athletics catching staff consists of Joe Tipton and Joe Astroth. They probably will make another deal, to get Catcher Ray Murray from Cleveland.

By far the most important players news was the five-man swap that brought Lefty Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough, two regular starting pitchers, to the Boston Red Sox from Chicago for Outfielder Al Zarilla, and Pitchers Joe Dobson and Dick Littlefield. Some $500,000 worth of talent was involved.

Shuffleboard League Lists Six Matches

Six matches will be placed tonight in the Men's National Shuffleboard League of Allegany county.

The schedule:

Frostburg K. of C. at Viaduct Inn.

Stadium Inn, Frostburg, at Mt. Savage VFW.

Cumberland VFW at Century Club, Frostburg.

Frostburg American Legion at Goodfellowship Club.

Mount St. Mary's To Drop Football

A spokesman said Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president, and the college council had decided to discontinue the sport because of "the uncertainty of the student enrollment and manpower situation next year."

The Mount's football hopes soared in 1948 with the arrival of John Law, Captain of the great 1929 Notre Dame Eleven, as director of athletics and head coach of football and baseball.

But his undermanned squad won only two of ten games that season, and three of twelve last year and one out of seven the past season.

Leahy Will Get Salary Hike, Notre Dame President Flays Rumors Of Grid De-Emphasis

Father J. J. Cavanaugh Makes Bristling Vote Of Confidence Speech

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 13 (AP)—A salary hike for Coach Frank Leahy in the wake of his poorest Notre Dame football season tonight was announced in a bristling "vote of confidence" speech by the school's president.

Fr. J. J. Cavanaugh

"For those who have any misgivings about Frank Leahy's status with Notre Dame, I should like to say this: Mr. Leahy's present contract still has several years to run. At the risk of embarrassing Frank, and as an added vote of confidence in him, I am making the announcement for the first time tonight that the university is increasing his salary."

Leahy, whose 1950 eleven had a 39-game defeatless string snapped and was voted the "flop" of the collegiate season in an AP poll after ending with a 4-4-1 record, reported received $15,000 last season. In seven previous seasons, Leahy's Irish won 60, lost only three and tied five. Amount of the increase was not disclosed.

After praising the job Leahy and his staff did with the material on hand last season, Father Cavanaugh loosed a stinging criticism of "playing for pay" practices which "some xxx now wonder" if Notre Dame must adopt.

Against Paying Players

"xxx We are flatly and irreconcilably against paying football players directly or indirectly," asserted Father Cavanaugh. "We think that that chicanery by which this is done is the major injury from which intercollegiate football is suffering."

Any college which tries to lure a high school football star with promise of an automobile and $40 or $100 a month," the Irish school head said, "forfeits the hope of giving the boy a genuine education and enters into competition with the Bears and Giants and Redskins (pro football teams) that is manifestly unfair to the boy."

"He should receive not $40 or $100 a month, but perhaps seven or eight thousand dollars a year, which would enable him to enroll in some reputable educational institution and in off-season get a really bona fide education."

Father Cavanaugh branded as "absolutely untrue" rumors that Notre Dame is in the process of de-emphasizing football."

"Bear in mind, now," he said, "Notre Dame never did over-emphasize football. Football and other forms of athletics have been, and will continue to be, an important part in the training of the whole man at Notre Dame. We are not going to de-emphasize this training, and I don't think anyone would want us to. xxx We shall always want Notre Dame men to play to win so long as there is a Notre Dame."

Father Cavanaugh said Notre Dame "is frankly hopeful that fine, outstanding ends, and tackles, and guards, and centers, and backs, will continue to come to the university. We urge our alumni to try to attract such boys.

Offered Real Education

"What will they get? they will get what they have always got, no matter how poor they may be, an opportunity for a real education. They will get tuition scholarships, and a job that will interfere neither with their studies nor with their athletics, to help defray the expenses of their board and lodging."

Father Cavanaugh stressed "there will be no coddling of the athletes," pointing out they must attain a 77 class-room average, "rather than merely get by."

Other speakers at the grid dinner, sponsored by the St. Joseph Valley Notre Dame Club, included Bud Wilkinson whose Oklahoma team replaced Notre Dame as the mythical national champion, and Stu Holcomb whose Purdue eleven shattered Notre Dame's 39-game defeatless string by a 28-14 score.

Gridder To Quit

ATLANTA, Dec. 13 (AP)—Joe Domnanovich, New York Yankee center and All-America at Alabama in 1942, announced today that he is retiring from professional football.

Domnanovich said he planned to quit the Yankees in favor of a "possible coaching job."

Six-Horse Spill Causes Charles Town To Cancel Day's Card

Jocks Refuse To Ride After Five Are Hurt

Four Horses Finish In First Race; Ice Thaw Causes Mishap

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Dec. 13 (AP) — Jockeys forced the Charles Town track to call it a day after today's first race in which six of them were thrown in a wild spill of men and horses.

Five of the jockeys were hurt, none seriously. The others refused to ride any more, claiming the horses weren't wearing the proper shoes for the track condition.

Admissions Refunded

A. J. Boyle, track president, called off the seven other races and refunded admissions and daily double bets to the 3,500 spectators.

He also announced that shoes on the horses will be examined tomorrow before each race which are to go on as scheduled.

The injured jockeys were C. L. Bakhsh, Tommy Kane, Arthur Carvalho, Nick Shuk and Ed Robart. Also thrown, but without injury, was George Bush.

It all started as the field of 10 swung around the far turn of the three-quarter mile track in a four and a half furlong race.

Debonaire, running second on the rail with Carvalho in the saddle, stumbled and fell. The horses and riders behind flew and fell all around as the jockeys either pulled up sharply or banged into each other.

Crash Through Fence

Kane and Feffie crashed right through the outside fence.

After the mess was cleared and only four of the ten starters had finished, the jockeys led by Sam Palumbo advanced on track officials. They claimed Debonaire had slipped because it was wearing smooth shoes and they refused to finish the card.

H. K. Riley, track secretary, said the track had been frozen and was thawing out with a lot of water on it today. It was officially called muddy.

Monday's entire card at the three-quarter mile track in the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia also had been cancelled. Several inches of snow fell here Sunday and the management said that while the track was fit for racing the highways leading to it were unsafe for driving.

Horses Uninjured

None of the six horses involved in today's scramble was hurt badly. Of the four to finish, Chance Bras finished first and paid $13.20. It was in front at the time of the spill while the other three, Fenestara, by Me and His Jewel, wended their way through from the rear.

Besides Debonaire and Feffie, the other horses throwing their jocks and going down in the mud were Agilant, Jomixion, Fair Bid and One Play.

Group Asks Board For Stock Car Races

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 13 (AP) — The Anne Arundel county board of zoning appeals today heard counsel for the Arundel Horse Harness Club, Inc., ask that motor cycle and stock car racing be allowed on the Ritchie Highway track.

The case was taken under advisement, pending notice from the owner of the land that he was agreeable to the idea.

The club has leased the land just north of Glen Burnie since 1945 from Carl Shipley.

Rizzuto And Evers Make New Records

Set Marks Afield In 1950 AL Season

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Shortstop Phil Rizzuto of the champion New York Yankees gloved his way to two new American League fielding records and Outfielder Hoot Evers of second-place Detroit set another in the 1950 campaign.

In official American loop defensive statistics released today, Rizzuto, the league's most valuable player, was credited with 58 straight errorless games and 288 chances without a bobble for new junior circuit shortstop marks.

Those bettered the former records of 42 perfect games and 226 unmarred chances set by Philadelphia's Eddie Joost spanning the 1947-48 seasons.

In addition, Rizzuto repeated as the league's best fielding shortstop with a season percentage of .982, one point better than Vern Stephens of the Boston Red Sox. Rizzuto's average, actually .9817, fell just short of the league record of .982 set by Cleveland's Lou Boudreau in 1947.

Evers, handling 341 chances and committing only one error, fashioned a new outfield fielding record of .9970 through 139 games. That topped the former mark of .9968 recorded by Yankee Joe DiMaggio for the same number of games in 1947.

Defensive laurels at first base were shared by Mickey Vernon of Washington and Cleveland's Luke Easter with .991 each. A point behind was Ed Robinson, who operated for both Washington and Chicago.

Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox led the second basemen with .988. The top fielding third sacker was Detroit's ace, George Kell, who had only nine errors in 510 chances for a .982 percentage.

Phil Masi of Chicago was the league's best catcher defensively with .996. Yogi Berra of the Yankees had most passed balls, seven.

Team fielding honors were shared by Boston and Detroit, each with .981. The Tigers handled most chances, 6,218. Philadelphia worked the most double-plays, 208, while the Red Sox had fewest miscues, 111.

Stadium Inn Bags Sweep Over WOW In Shuffle Loop

Stadium Inn blanked the Woodmen of the World yesterday by a 3-0 count in the ladies national shuffleboard league. Other results were all by 2-1 verdicts. Clingerman's lost to Pocahontas, Moose defeated Ruth's Tavern, Frostburg American Legion topped South End Republican Club, and Century A. C. edged Cresap Tavern.

High scorers were Nellie Porter, Stadium, 25; M. Henderson, WOW, 15; V. Fields and Elsie Phillips, Clingerman's, 17; L. Liller, Pocahontas, 20; Lou Freeland, Moose, 28; Olive Bottorf, Ruth's, 20; M. Red Sox Again Involved In Key Player Trades

Sell Tebbetts To Tribe; Buy Guerra

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 13 (AP) — The Boston Red Sox sold Catcher Birdie Tebbetts to Cleveland and bought Catcher Mike Guerra from the Philadelphia A's today in two cash deals involving veteran players.

Tebbetts, 36, hit .310 in 79 games with the Red Sox last season. The noisy little receiver with the squeaky voice is regarded as one of the smartest in the majors.

Under Manager Joe McCarthy, Tebbetts caught almost every game in 1948 and 1949. After Steve O'Neill replaced McCarthy in mid-season of 1950 he was not worked so hard.

O'Neill traded Tebbetts away from Detroit to Boston in 1947 when he managed the Tigers. Detroit got Hal Wagner in exchange at that time.

The Red Sox get a 38-year-oldster in Guerra, a Cuban from Havana who hit .282 in 87 games with the A's last season. He originally came to the majors with Washington but has been playing for the A's since 1947.

With Guerra gone, the Athletics catching staff consists of Joe Tipton and Joe Astroth. They probably will make another deal, to get Catcher Ray Murray from Cleveland.

By far the most important players news was the five-man swap that brought Lefty Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough, two regular starting pitchers, to the Boston Red Sox from Chicago for Outfielder Al Zarilla, and Pitchers Joe Dobson and Dick Littlefield. Some $500,000 worth of talent was involved.

Shuffleboard League Lists Six Matches

Leahy Will Get Salary Hike, Notre Dame President Flays Rumors Of Grid De-Emphasis

Father J. J. Cavanaugh Makes Bristling Vote Of Confidence Speech

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 13 (AP)—A salary hike for Coach Frank Leahy in the wake of his poorest Notre Dame football season tonight was announced in a bristling "vote of confidence" speech by the school's president.

Fr. J. J. Cavanaugh

"For those who have any misgivings about Frank Leahy's status with Notre Dame, I should like to say this: Mr. Leahy's present contract still has several years to run. At the risk of embarrassing Frank, and as an added vote of confidence in him, I am making the announcement for the first time tonight that the university is increasing his salary."

Leahy, whose 1950 eleven had a 39-game defeatless string snapped and was voted the "flop" of the collegiate season in an AP poll after ending with a 4-4-1 record, reported received $15,000 last season. In seven previous seasons, Leahy's Irish won 60, lost only three and tied five. Amount of the increase was not disclosed.

After praising the job Leahy and his staff did with the material on hand last season, Father Cavanaugh loosed a stinging criticism of "playing for pay" practices which "some xxx now wonder" if Notre Dame must adopt.

Against Paying Players

"xxx We are flatly and irreconcilably against paying football players directly or indirectly," asserted Father Cavanaugh. "We think that that chicanery by which this is done is the major injury from which intercollegiate football is suffering."

Any college which tries to lure a high school football star with promise of an automobile and $40 or $100 a month," the Irish school head said, "forfeits the hope of giving the boy a genuine education and enters into competition with the Bears and Giants and Redskins (pro football teams) that is manifestly unfair to the boy."

"He should receive not $40 or $100 a month, but perhaps seven or eight thousand dollars a year, which would enable him to enroll in some reputable educational institution and in off-season get a really bona fide education."

Father Cavanaugh branded as "absolutely untrue" rumors that Notre Dame is in the process of de-emphasizing football."

"Bear in mind, now," he said, "Notre Dame never did over-emphasize football. Football and other forms of athletics have been, and will continue to be, an important part in the training of the whole man at Notre Dame. We are not going to de-emphasize this training, and I don't think anyone would want us to. xxx We shall always want Notre Dame men to play to win so long as there is a Notre Dame."

Father Cavanaugh said Notre Dame "is frankly hopeful that fine, outstanding ends, and tackles, and guards, and centers, and backs, will continue to come to the university. We urge our alumni to try to attract such boys.

Offered Real Education

"What will they get? they will get what they have always got, no matter how poor they may be, an opportunity for a real education. They will get tuition scholarships, and a job that will interfere neither with their studies nor with their athletics, to help defray the expenses of their board and lodging."

Father Cavanaugh stressed "there will be no coddling of the athletes," pointing out they must attain a 77 class-room average, "rather than merely get by."

Other speakers at the grid dinner, sponsored by the St. Joseph Valley Notre Dame Club, included Bud Wilkinson whose Oklahoma team replaced Notre Dame as the mythical national champion, and Stu Holcomb whose Purdue eleven shattered Notre Dame's 39-game defeatless string by a 28-14 score.

Gridder To Quit

ATLANTA, Dec. 13 (AP)—Joe Domnanovich, New York Yankee center and All-America at Alabama in 1942, announced today that he is retiring from professional football.

Domnanovich said he planned to quit the Yankees in favor of a "possible coaching job."

Six-Horse Spill Causes Charles Town To Cancel Day's Card

Jocks Refuse To Ride After Five Are Hurt

Four Horses Finish In First Race; Ice Thaw Causes Mishap

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Dec. 13 (AP) — Jockeys forced the Charles Town track to call it a day after today's first race in which six of them were thrown in a wild spill of men and horses.

Five of the jockeys were hurt, none seriously. The others refused to ride any more, claiming the horses weren't wearing the proper shoes for the track condition.

Admissions Refunded

A. J. Boyle, track president, called off the seven other races and refunded admissions and daily double bets to the 3,500 spectators.

He also announced that shoes on the horses will be examined tomorrow before each race which are to go on as scheduled.

The injured jockeys were C. L. Bakhsh, Tommy Kane, Arthur Carvalho, Nick Shuk and Ed Robart. Also thrown, but without injury, was George Bush.

It all started as the field of 10 swung around the far turn of the three-quarter mile track in a four and a half furlong race.

Debonaire, running second on the rail with Carvalho in the saddle, stumbled and fell. The horses and riders behind flew and fell all around as the jockeys either pulled up sharply or banged into each other.

Crash Through Fence

Kane and Feffie crashed right through the outside fence.

After the mess was cleared and only four of the ten starters had finished, the jockeys led by Sam Palumbo advanced on track officials. They claimed Debonaire had slipped because it was wearing smooth shoes and they refused to finish the card.

H. K. Riley, track secretary, said the track had been frozen and was thawing out with a lot of water on it today. It was officially called muddy.

Monday's entire card at the three-quarter mile track in the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia also had been cancelled. Several inches of snow fell here Sunday and the management said that while the track was fit for racing the highways leading to it were unsafe for driving.

Horses Uninjured

None of the six horses involved in today's scramble was hurt badly. Of the four to finish, Chance Bras finished first and paid $13.20. It was in front at the time of the spill while the other three, Fenestara, by Me and His Jewel, wended their way through from the rear.

Besides Debonaire and Feffie, the other horses throwing their jocks and going down in the mud were Agilant, Jomixion, Fair Bid and One Play.

Rizzuto And Evers Make New Records

Set Marks Afield In 1950 AL Season

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Shortstop Phil Rizzuto of the champion New York Yankees gloved his way to two new American League fielding records and Outfielder Hoot Evers of second-place Detroit set another in the 1950 campaign.

In official American loop defensive statistics released today, Rizzuto, the league's most valuable player, was credited with 58 straight errorless games and 288 chances without a bobble for new junior circuit shortstop marks.

Those bettered the former records of 42 perfect games and 226 unmarred chances set by Philadelphia's Eddie Joost spanning the 1947-48 seasons.

In addition, Rizzuto repeated as the league's best fielding shortstop with a season percentage of .982, one point better than Vern Stephens of the Boston Red Sox. Rizzuto's average, actually .9817, fell just short of the league record of .982 set by Cleveland's Lou Boudreau in 1947.

Evers, handling 341 chances and committing only one error, fashioned a new outfield fielding record of .9970 through 139 games. That topped the former mark of .9968 recorded by Yankee Joe DiMaggio for the same number of games in 1947.

Defensive laurels at first base were shared by Mickey Vernon of Washington and Cleveland's Luke Easter with .991 each. A point behind was Ed Robinson, who operated for both Washington and Chicago.

Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox led the second basemen with .988. The top fielding third sacker was Detroit's ace, George Kell, who had only nine errors in 510 chances for a .982 percentage.

Phil Masi of Chicago was the league's best catcher defensively with .996. Yogi Berra of the Yankees had most passed balls, seven.

Team fielding honors were shared by Boston and Detroit, each with .981. The Tigers handled most chances, 6,218. Philadelphia worked the most double-plays, 208, while the Red Sox had fewest miscues, 111.

Stadium Inn Bags Sweep Over WOW In Shuffle Loop

Stadium Inn blanked the Woodmen of the World yesterday by a 3-0 count in the ladies national shuffleboard league. Other results were all by 2-1 verdicts. Clingerman's lost to Pocahontas, Moose defeated Ruth's Tavern, Frostburg American Legion topped South End Republican Club, and Century A. C. edged Cresap Tavern.

High scorers were Nellie Porter, Stadium, 25; M. Henderson, WOW, 15; V. Fields and Elsie Phillips, Clingerman's, 17; L. Liller, Pocahontas, 20; Lou Freeland, Moose, 28; Olive Bottorf, Ruth's, 20; M. Red Sox Again Involved In Key Player Trades

Sell Tebbetts To Tribe; Buy Guerra

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 13 (AP) — The Boston Red Sox sold Catcher Birdie Tebbetts to Cleveland and bought Catcher Mike Guerra from the Philadelphia A's today in two cash deals involving veteran players.

Tebbetts, 36, hit .310 in 79 games with the Red Sox last season. The noisy little receiver with the squeaky voice is regarded as one of the smartest in the majors.

Under Manager Joe McCarthy, Tebbetts caught almost every game in 1948 and 1949. After Steve O'Neill replaced McCarthy in mid-season of 1950 he was not worked so hard.

O'Neill traded Tebbetts away from Detroit to Boston in 1947 when he managed the Tigers. Detroit got Hal Wagner in exchange at that time.

The Red Sox get a 38-year-oldster in Guerra, a Cuban from Havana who hit .282 in 87 games with the A's last season. He originally came to the majors with Washington but has been playing for the A's since 1947.

With Guerra gone, the Athletics catching staff consists of Joe Tipton and Joe Astroth. They probably will make another deal, to get Catcher Ray Murray from Cleveland.

By far the most important players news was the five-man swap that brought Lefty Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough, two regular starting pitchers, to the Boston Red Sox from Chicago for Outfielder Al Zarilla, and Pitchers Joe Dobson and Dick Littlefield. Some $500,000 worth of talent was involved.

Mount St. Mary's To Drop Football

A spokesman said Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president, and the college council had decided to discontinue the sport because of "the uncertainty of the student enrollment and manpower situation next year."

The Mount's football hopes soared in 1948 with the arrival of John Law, Captain of the great 1929 Notre Dame Eleven, as director of athletics and head coach of football and baseball.

But his undermanned squad won only two of ten games that season, and three of twelve last year and one out of seven the past season.

Father J. J. Cavanaugh Makes Bristling Vote Of Confidence Speech

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 13 (AP)— A salary hike for Coach Frank Leahy in the wake of his poorest Notre Dame football season tonight was announced in a bristling "vote of confidence" speech by the school's president.

Fr. J. J. Cavanaugh

"For those who have any misgivings about Frank Leahy's status with Notre Dame, I should like to say this: Mr. Leahy's present contract still has several years to run. At the risk of embarrassing Frank, and as an added vote of confidence in him, I am making the announcement for the first time tonight that the university is increasing his salary."

Leahy, whose 1950 eleven had a 39-game defeatless string snapped and was voted the "flop" of the collegiate season in an AP poll after ending with a 4-4-1 record, reported received $15,000 last season. In seven previous seasons, Leahy's Irish won 60, lost only three and tied five. Amount of the increase was not disclosed.

After praising the job Leahy and his staff did with the material on hand last season, Father Cavanaugh loosed a stinging criticism of "playing for pay" practices which "some xxx now wonder" if Notre Dame must adopt.

Against Paying Players

"xxx We are flatly and irreconcilably against paying football players directly or indirectly," asserted Father Cavanaugh. "We think that that chicanery by which this is done is the major injury from which intercollegiate football is suffering."

Any college which tries to lure a high school football star with promise of an automobile and $40 or $100 a month," the Irish school head said, "forfeits the hope of giving the boy a genuine education and enters into competition with the Bears and Giants and Redskins (pro football teams) that is manifestly unfair to the boy."

"He should receive not $40 or $100 a month, but perhaps seven or eight thousand dollars a year, which would enable him to enroll in some reputable educational institution and in off-season get a really bona fide education."

Father Cavanaugh branded as "absolutely untrue" rumors that Notre Dame is in the process of de-emphasizing football."

"Bear in mind, now," he said, "Notre Dame never did over-emphasize football. Football and other forms of athletics have been, and will continue to be, an important part in the training of the whole man at Notre Dame. We are not going to de-emphasize this training, and I don't think anyone would want us to. xxx We shall always want Notre Dame men to play to win so long as there is a Notre Dame."

Father Cavanaugh said Notre Dame "is frankly hopeful that fine, outstanding ends, and tackles, and guards, and centers, and backs, will continue to come to the university. We urge our alumni to try to attract such boys.

Offered Real Education

"What will they get? they will get what they have always got, no matter how poor they may be, an opportunity for a real education. They will get tuition scholarships, and a job that will interfere neither with their studies nor with their athletics, to help defray the expenses of their board and lodging."

Father Cavanaugh stressed "there will be no coddling of the athletes," pointing out they must attain a 77 class-room average, "rather than merely get by."

Other speakers at the grid dinner, sponsored by the St. Joseph Valley Notre Dame Club, included Bud Wilkinson whose Oklahoma team replaced Notre Dame as the mythical national champion, and Stu Holcomb whose Purdue eleven shattered Notre Dame's 39-game defeatless string by a 28-14 score.

Gridder To Quit

ATLANTA, Dec. 13 (AP)—Joe Domnanovich, New York Yankee center and All-America at Alabama in 1942, announced today that he is retiring from professional football.

Domnanovich said he planned to quit the Yankees in favor of a "possible coaching job."

Spunky Cops Feature Race At Tropical

Culmone Is Held To Just One Winner

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 13 (AP) — Spunky, owned by Mrs. E. F. Simms, of Kentucky had too much of that important thing called speed for his six rivals in the featured seventh race at Tropical Park today.

The fleet son of Xalapa Clown made it a front-running score, carrying Don Scurlock home 3½ lengths before the recent winner Ogre. Motorist was third, another length away, with Swift Swiv, the favorite, finishing a well-beaten fourth.

A peculiar mishap caused the late withdrawal by the stewards of Brown Hotel Stable's Juliets Nurse. She was bitten by a bug while being saddled in the paddock, and because of a swelling in the region of her side, was ordered scratched while betting was in progress. Before she was taken out, she was the betting favorite.

The weather turned warm and muggy. The nine-race card was witnessed by a crowd of 6,053.

The secondary feature — sixth on the bill, went to W. G. Williams' reformed jumper, Alphabetical which paid $59.10 straight. She overhauled Contral, the favorite, by a half length under a smooth ride by Apprentice Jim Picouc. Final Touch was third.

Joe Culmone, nation's leading rider, who was shut out for the first time here yesterday, broke the ice on Potent $5.00, in the eighth race.

Takes Army Exam

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 13 (AP) — Lewis "Bud" McFadin, the University of Texas' All-American guard took his pre-induction draft physical examination here today.

Don't let this happen to you!
Stalling that occurs on damp, chilly, winter days (30° to 55° temperatures, humidity above 65%) is generally caused by carburetor "icing." Evaporation of the highly volatile gasolines required for modern cars has a refrigerating effect which freezes moisture out of the air, accumulating icy frost in the carburetor. New Winter-Grade Anti-Stalling Esso Extra Gasoline helps eliminate this cause of stalling, which is experienced with most cars on the road today. It will not, of course, prevent stalling caused by faulty carburetor adjustment or electrical failure.

Spunky Cops Feature Race At Tropical

Culmone Is Held To Just One Winner

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 13 (AP) — Spunky, owned by Mrs. E. F. Simms, of Kentucky had too much of that important thing called speed for his six rivals in the featured seventh race at Tropical Park today.

The fleet son of Xalapa Clown made it a front-running score, carrying Don Scurlock home 3½ lengths before the recent winner Ogre. Motorist was third, another length away, with Swift Swiv, the favorite, finishing a well-beaten fourth.

A peculiar mishap caused the late withdrawal by the stewards of Brown Hotel Stable's Juliets Nurse. She was bitten by a bug while being saddled in the paddock, and because of a swelling in the region of her side, was ordered scratched while betting was in progress. Before she was taken out, she was the betting favorite.

The weather turned warm and muggy. The nine-race card was witnessed by a crowd of 6,053.

The secondary feature — sixth on the bill, went to W. G. Williams' reformed jumper, Alphabetical which paid $59.10 straight. She overhauled Contral, the favorite, by a half length under a smooth ride by Apprentice Jim Picouc. Final Touch was third.

Joe Culmone, nation's leading rider, who was shut out for the first time here yesterday, broke the ice on Potent $5.00, in the eighth race.

STALLED AGAIN!

Balky buggy?

get new winter-grade Anti-stalling ESSO EXTRA GASOLINE

Helps prevent stalling! On these damp, chilly mornings does your car sputter and stall right after you start it? . . . Conk out at traffic lights or parking?

Now, for the first time in motoring history, you can "fill 'er up" with Winter-Grade Esso Extra Gasoline and enjoy new anti-stall driving convenience! It's a special benefit in cars with automatic transmissions, where restarting after stalling is more troublesome.

It's another big Extra for your money in Esso Extra—the gasoline long famous for quick starting, fast warm-up, high anti-knock power and long mileage! And Esso Extra is the ONLY premium gasoline with patented Esso Solvent Oil that fights harmful engine deposits.

Don't stall another day—try a tankful right away!

Esso ESSO STANDARD OIL COMPANY

Don't let this happen to you!

Stalling that occurs on damp, chilly, winter days (30° to 55° temperatures, humidity above 65%) is generally caused by carburetor "icing." Evaporation of the highly volatile gasolines required for modern cars has a refrigerating effect which freezes moisture out of the air, accumulating icy frost in the carburetor. New Winter-Grade Anti-Stalling Esso Extra Gasoline helps eliminate this cause of stalling, which is experienced with most cars on the road today. It will not, of course, prevent stalling caused by faulty carburetor adjustment or electrical failure.

Spunky Cops Feature Race At Tropical

Culmone Is Held To Just One Winner

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 13 (AP) — Spunky, owned by Mrs. E. F. Simms, of Kentucky had too much of that important thing called speed for his six rivals in the featured seventh race at Tropical Park today.

The fleet son of Xalapa Clown made it a front-running score, carrying Don Scurlock home 3½ lengths before the recent winner Ogre. Motorist was third, another length away, with Swift Swiv, the favorite, finishing a well-beaten fourth.

A peculiar mishap caused the late withdrawal by the stewards of Brown Hotel Stable's Juliets Nurse. She was bitten by a bug while being saddled in the paddock, and because of a swelling in the region of her side, was ordered scratched while betting was in progress. Before she was taken out, she was the betting favorite.

The weather turned warm and muggy. The nine-race card was witnessed by a crowd of 6,053.

The secondary feature — sixth on the bill, went to W. G. Williams' reformed jumper, Alphabetical which paid $59.10 straight. She overhauled Contral, the favorite, by a half length under a smooth ride by Apprentice Jim Picouc. Final Touch was third.

Joe Culmone, nation's leading rider, who was shut out for the first time here yesterday, broke the ice on Potent $5.00, in the eighth race.

Santa Anita Track To Open Dec. 29

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 13 (AP) — Santa Anita announced today it would open Friday, December 29, instead of Saturday, December 30th.

The change in the opening date was approved by the California Horse Racing Board, Executive Vice President Strub said.

To conform to the schedule of fifty racing days, the track will race only four days a week during the first three weeks of January, Wednesday through Saturday.

STALLED AGAIN!

get new winter-grade
Anti-stalling
ESSO EXTRA GASOLINE
Helps prevent stalling! On these damp, chilly mornings does your car sputter and stall right after you start it? . . . Conk out at traffic lights or parking?
Now, for the first time in motoring history, you can "fill 'er up" with Winter-Grade Esso Extra Gasoline and enjoy new anti-stall driving convenience! It's a special benefit in cars with automatic transmissions, where restarting after stalling is more troublesome.
It's another big Extra for your money in Esso Extra—the gasoline long famous for quick starting, fast warm-up, high anti-knock power and long mileage! And Esso Extra is the ONLY premium gasoline with patented Esso Solvent Oil that fights harmful engine deposits.
Don't stall another day—try a tankful right away!
ESSO STANDARD OIL COMPANY

Don't let this happen to you!
Stalling that occurs on damp, chilly, winter days (30° to 55° temperatures, humidity above 65%) is generally caused by carburetor "icing." Evaporation of the highly volatile gasolines required for modern cars has a refrigerating effect which freezes moisture out of the air, accumulating icy frost in the carburetor. New Winter-Grade Anti-Stalling Esso Extra Gasoline helps eliminate this cause of stalling, which is experienced with most cars on the road today. It will not, of course, prevent stalling caused by faulty carburetor adjustment or electrical failure.

Seamen Set a Style Hit

Woolly, Warm and Dry

FASHION: The Duffer Coat, copied from storm coats of British seamen, is one of this season's popular garments. It's all wool, in a variety of colors and with water-repellent finish.

New Ideas: A new anti-slip fluid for the bottom of bathtubs and showers called "Foot-Hold" and comes in a spray-bottle. . . . A 10 x 14 luminous mat, for a night table, that glows. Especially helpful in sickroom or nursery—you can find medicines without turning on lights.

Handyman: For artificial snow this Christmas try soapsuds. Using minimum of water, whip thick, dry soapsuds with egg beater or electric mixer. Apply to tree and they'll cling.

Gifts for Gals: Tiny mink muffs, each containing a vial of perfume, for her bag. . . . Newly designed Mini-Kit in a satin-like plastic leather case, with zippered money pocket. . . . A jewel case in simulated ostrich, that has a clock on the lid.

Here's How: To tie those neat Ascots, start by folding scarf in half lengthwise. Then (1) place around neck, (2) loop on one end over the other, and (3) unfold ends so they lie flat. Buttoned-up coat will hold them in place.

Maggi's Natural

In the Stores: Space-saving initialled Magnatray, the magnetized utility tray for your car's dashboard. . . . Suction-clamp pipe rack for the same dashboard.

Odd Notes: Think the little woman has it easy when you're slaving at the office? A recent survey claims the average housewife walks about fourteen miles a day! . . . In Charlotte, N. C.—250 miles from any navigable water—there's a plaque marking the site of the "Confederate States Navy Yard—1862-1865"! . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" will be changed to "Pass the Perfume" to—Maggi McNellis, one of too few gals on TV who has remained her completely uncondescending unaffected and natural self.

COUNT NINE ON DEFENSE

Every declarer of any consequence goes through the simple procedure of counting up to nine, when he is in a 3-No Trump contract, to see if enough tricks are in sight for his game. Defenders should do likewise when it appears as if there may be nearly enough instant tricks to give their enemy the game. When the declarer seems to lack about one trick to have what he needs, it is sometimes unwise to continue your own suit to the stage where you build that additional trick for him.

Obediently leading the heart suit his partner had bid, East selected his top card, the 7 West won with the Q, quickly scored the K and A and then led the 9 to the J, setting up his own 6. That was of no use to him, however, as North promptly followed his one heart trick with five in clubs and three in spades to have the nine he required.

West should have foreseen the danger of exactly that happening. He knew that his lead of a third heart would build North a trick in the suit. A look at the five clubs in the dummy and the two top spades should have told him that, if North happened to have the spade Q, there might be eight tricks available in the black suits, since whatever East held in clubs would be right where North could finesse against it if necessary.

It should have been clear to West that the sole reasonable chance to beat the contract lay in finding East holding something in diamonds. If that happened to be the case, West's job was to score only two heart tricks and then shift to his diamond Q. Doing that would have resulted in four tricks there plus three in hearts for the defense, beating the contract three tricks.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Seamen Set a Style Hit

Woolly, Warm and Dry

FASHION: The Duffer Coat, copied from storm coats of British seamen, is one of this season's popular garments. It's all wool, in a variety of colors and with water-repellent finish.

New Ideas: A new anti-slip fluid for the bottom of bathtubs and showers called "Foot-Hold" and comes in a spray-bottle. . . . A 10 x 14 luminous mat, for a night table, that glows. Especially helpful in sickroom or nursery—you can find medicines without turning on lights.

Handyman: For artificial snow this Christmas try soapsuds. Using minimum of water, whip thick, dry soapsuds with egg beater or electric mixer. Apply to tree and they'll cling.

Gifts for Gals: Tiny mink muffs, each containing a vial of perfume, for her bag. . . . Newly designed Mini-Kit in a satin-like plastic leather case, with zippered money pocket. . . . A jewel case in simulated ostrich, that has a clock on the lid.

Here's How: To tie those neat Ascots, start by folding scarf in half lengthwise. Then (1) place around neck, (2) loop on one end over the other, and (3) unfold ends so they lie flat. Buttoned-up coat will hold them in place.

Maggi's Natural

In the Stores: Space-saving initialled Magnatray, the magnetized utility tray for your car's dashboard. . . . Suction-clamp pipe rack for the same dashboard.

Odd Notes: Think the little woman has it easy when you're slaving at the office? A recent survey claims the average housewife walks about fourteen miles a day! . . . In Charlotte, N. C.—250 miles from any navigable water—there's a plaque marking the site of the "Confederate States Navy Yard—1862-1865"! . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" will be changed to "Pass the Perfume" to—Maggi McNellis, one of too few gals on TV who has remained her completely uncondescending unaffected and natural self.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

COUNT NINE ON DEFENSE

Every declarer of any consequence goes through the simple procedure of counting up to nine, when he is in a 3-No Trump contract, to see if enough tricks are in sight for his game. Defenders should do likewise when it appears as if there may be nearly enough instant tricks to give their enemy the game. When the declarer seems to lack about one trick to have what he needs, it is sometimes unwise to continue your own suit to the stage where you build that additional trick for him.

Obediently leading the heart suit his partner had bid, East selected his top card, the 7. West won with the Q, quickly scored the K and A and then led the 9 to the J, setting up his own 6. That was of no use to him, however, as North promptly followed his one heart trick with five in clubs and three in spades to have the nine he required.

West should have foreseen the danger of exactly that happening. He knew that his lead of a third heart would build North a trick in the suit. Seamen Set a Style Hit

Woolly, Warm and Dry

FASHION: The Duffer Coat, copied from storm coats of British seamen, is one of this season's popular garments. It's all wool, in a variety of colors and with water-repellent finish.

New Ideas: A new anti-slip fluid for the bottom of bathtubs and showers called "Foot-Hold" and comes in a spray-bottle. . . . A 10 x 14 luminous mat, for a night table, that glows. Especially helpful in sickroom or nursery—you can find medicines without turning on lights.

Handyman: For artificial snow this Christmas try soapsuds. Using minimum of water, whip thick, dry soapsuds with egg beater or electric mixer. Apply to tree and they'll cling.

Gifts for Gals: Tiny mink muffs, each containing a vial of perfume, for her bag. . . . Newly designed Mini-Kit in a satin-like plastic leather case, with zippered money pocket . . . A jewel case in simulated ostrich, that has a clock on the lid.

Here's How: To tie those neat Ascots, start by folding scarf in half lengthwise. Then (1) place around neck, (2) loop on one end over the other, and (3) unfold ends so they lie flat. Buttoned-up coat will hold them in place.

Maggi's Natural

In the Stores: Space-saving initialled Magnatray, the magnetized utility tray for your car's dashboard. . . . Suction-clamp pipe rack for the same dashboard.

Odd Notes: Think the little woman has it easy when you're slaving at the office? A recent survey claims the average housewife walks about fourteen miles a day! . . . In Charlotte, N. C.—250 miles from any navigable water—there's a plaque marking the site of the "Confederate States Navy Yard—1862-1865"! . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" will be changed to "Pass the Perfume" to—Maggi McNellis, one of too few gals on TV who has remained her completely uncondescending unaffected and natural self.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

COUNT NINE ON DEFENSE

Every declarer of any consequence goes through the simple procedure of counting up to nine, when he is in a 3-No Trump contract, to see if enough tricks are in sight for his game. Defenders should do likewise when it appears as if there may be nearly enough instant tricks to give their enemy the game. When the declarer seems to lack about one trick to have what he needs, it is sometimes unwise to continue your own suit to the stage where you build that additional trick for him.

North:
♠ Q 2
♥ J 10 4 3
♦ K 9 6
♣ Q 6 5 4

West:
♠ 10 7 3
♥ A K Q 9 6
♦ Q 10 4

East:
♠ J 8 5 4
♥ 7 5 2
♦ A J 5 3

South:
♠ A K 9 6
♦ 8 7 2
♣ A K 10 9 3

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♥	Pass	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT

Obediently leading the heart suit his partner had bid, East selected his top card, the 7 West won with the Q, quickly scored the K and A and then led the 9 to the J, setting up his own 6. That was of no use to him, however, as North promptly followed his one heart trick with five in clubs and three in spades to have the nine he required.

West should have foreseen the danger of exactly that happening. He knew that his lead of a third heart would build North a trick in the suit. A look at the five clubs in the dummy and the two top spades should have told him that, if North happened to have the spade Q, there might be eight tricks available in the black suits, since whatever East held in clubs would be right where North could finesse against it if necessary.

It should have been clear to West that the sole reasonable chance to beat the contract lay in finding East holding something in diamonds. If that happened to be the case, West's job was to score only two heart tricks and then shift to his diamond Q. Doing that would have resulted in four tricks there plus three in hearts for the defense, beating the contract three tricks.

Tomorrow's Problem

North:
♠ K 9 8 7

♦ A 9 5

West:
♠ A 5 3 2

East:

♣ Q 4 3

South:
♠ J 10 4
♥ J 6 5
♦ J 10 8 7 3 2

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

If after the heart 10 lead South had cross-ruffed enough to have eight tricks and then led the diamond J to the K, what is West's only try to beat 5-Diamonds?

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Is "common sense" all that parents need?

Answer: No, warns Dr. Celia B. Stendler in the Journal of Pediatrics. For what we consider "sensible" largely depends upon current opinion and varies from one generation to another. What most parents accepted as "common sense" twenty years ago—for instance, keeping babies on a rigid feeding schedule—seems dangerous nonsense to modern child specialists. There is still a great deal that we do not know about child training, but the two things parents need most—and have always needed—are love for their children and a sense of personal security.

Will carbon dioxide treatment cure a neurosis?

Answer: I very much doubt it. As a psychologist, I believe that emotional disturbances (which cannot be measured in a test tube) can cause physical and mental illness. However, a physician has been treating anxiety neurosis by making the patient inhale large amounts of carbon dioxide. This chokes him into unconsciousness. The inventor claims a large percentage of "cures." What probably happens is that the peculiar terror caused by partial strangulation is so intense as to obscure older fears for the time being.

Is it easy to "say what you mean"?

Answer: It's one of the hardest things in the world. If you understand your ideas clearly, it's not too hard to put them into words that express your meaning—to you. But to get that meaning across to others, you must know not only what your words mean to them, but the feelings the words arouse. For example, to me "psychological" and "mental" mean substantially the same, yet when many people speak of someone as "a mental case" they mean that he is insane. At best, what you mean and what your neighbors think you mean will not be the same.

Another Dose Of Bad News Taken In Stride By Market

Few issues changed by more than $1 a share. Losses outnumbered gains by a slim margin.

Airline shares attracted a lot of attention at higher prices but advances were meager. Auto stocks were under steady pressure and radio-televisions gently sagged.

Despite the market's tame performance, a substantial amount of business was done. Sales crossed the 2,000,000-share mark for the fourth time in a row although turnover of 2,030,000 shares was a trifle below Tuesday's 2,140,000.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at $85 a share. A moderate rise in the rail component was offset by minor declines in the utility and industrial groups.

Four of the 15 most active issues were airlines. Gains were limited to 25 cents or less a share each for Pan American at $10 a share, American $12.25, United $21.12, Eastern $18 and Trans World $20.87.

Rails quickly caught their balance after slipping Tuesday. Up as much as $1 a share each were Missouri Pacific preferred at $18.37, N. Y. Central $18.12, Canadian Pacific $21.12, Santa Fe $147.25, Nickel Plate $175, Southern Pacific $63.75 and Baltimore & Ohio $17.62.

Keen interest was stirred up in International Telephone, the most active issue, by news of a cash dividend plus a stock dividend. The final price, however, was unchanged at $13.25.

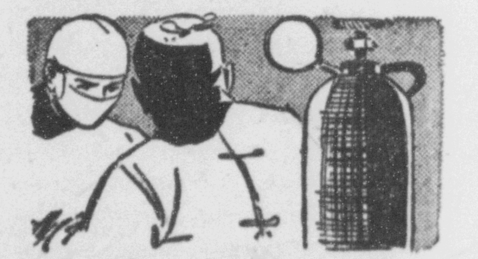
MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

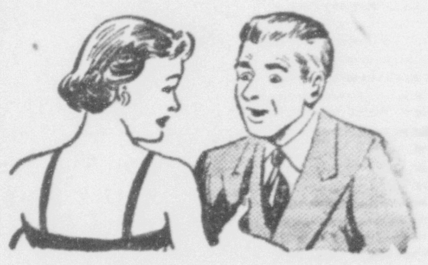
Is "common sense" all that parents need?

Answer: No, warns Dr. Celia B. Stendler in the Journal of Pediatrics. For what we consider "sensible" largely depends upon current opinion and varies from one generation to another. What most parents accepted as "common sense" twenty years ago—for instance, keeping babies on a rigid feeding schedule—seems dangerous nonsense to modern child specialists. There is still a great deal that we do not know about child training, but the two things parents need most—and have always needed—are love for their children and a sense of personal security.



Will carbon dioxide treatment cure a neurosis?

Answer: I very much doubt it. As a psychologist, I believe that emotional disturbances (which cannot be measured in a test tube) can cause physical and mental illness. However, a physician has been treating anxiety neurosis by making the patient inhale large amounts of carbon dioxide. This chokes him into unconsciousness. The inventor claims a large percentage of "cures." What probably happens is that the peculiar terror caused by partial strangulation is so intense as to obscure older fears for the time being.



Is it easy to "say what you mean"?

Answer: It's one of the hardest things in the world. If you understand your ideas clearly, it's not too hard to put them into words that express your meaning—to you. But to get that meaning across to others, you must know not only what your words mean to them, but the feelings the words arouse. For example, to me "psychological" and "mental" mean substantially the same, yet when many people speak of someone as "a mental case" they mean that he is insane. At best, what you mean and what your neighbors think you mean will not be the same.

Another Dose Of Bad News Taken In Stride By Market

Few issues changed by more than $1 a share. Losses outnumbered gains by a slim margin.

Airline shares attracted a lot of attention at higher prices but advances were meager. Auto stocks were under steady pressure and radio-televisions gently sagged.

Despite the market's tame performance, a substantial amount of business was done. Sales crossed the 2,000,000-share mark for the fourth time in a row although turnover of 2,030,000 shares was a trifle below Tuesday's 2,140,000.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at $85 a share. A moderate rise in the rail component was offset by minor declines in the utility and industrial groups.

Four of the 15 most active issues were airlines. Gains were limited to 25 cents or less a share each for Pan American at $10 a share, American $12.25, United $21.12, Eastern $18 and Trans World $20.87.

Rails quickly caught their balance after slipping Tuesday. Up as much as $1 a share each were Missouri Pacific preferred at $18.37, N. Y. Central $18.12, Canadian Pacific $21.12, Santa Fe $147.25, Nickel Plate $175, Southern Pacific $63.75 and Baltimore & Ohio $17.62.

Keen interest was stirred up in International Telephone, the most active issue, by news of a cash dividend plus a stock dividend. The final price, however, was unchanged at $13.25.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Is "common sense" all that parents need?

Answer: No, warns Dr. Celia B. Stendler in the Journal of Pediatrics. For what we consider "sensible" largely depends upon current opinion and varies from one generation to another. What most parents accepted as "common sense" twenty years ago—for instance, keeping babies on a rigid feeding schedule—seems dangerous nonsense to modern child specialists. There is still a great deal that we do not know about child training, but the two things parents need most—and have always needed—are love for their children and a sense of personal security.

Will carbon dioxide treatment cure a neurosis?

Answer: I very much doubt it. As a psychologist, I believe that emotional disturbances (which cannot be measured in a test tube) can cause physical and mental illness. However, a physician has been treating anxiety neurosis by making the patient inhale large amounts of carbon dioxide. This chokes him into unconsciousness. The inventor claims a large percentage of "cures." What probably happens is that the peculiar terror caused by partial strangulation is so intense as to obscure older fears for the time being.

Is it easy to "say what you mean"?

Answer: It's one of the hardest things in the world. If you understand your ideas clearly, it's not too hard to put them into words that express your meaning—to you. But to get that meaning across to others, you must know not only what your words mean to them, but the feelings the words arouse. For example, to me "psychological" and "mental" mean substantially the same, yet when many people speak of someone as "a mental case" they mean that he is insane. At best, what you mean and what your neighbors think you mean will not be the same.

Another Dose Of Bad News Taken In Stride By Market

Few issues changed by more than $1 a share. Losses outnumbered gains by a slim margin.

Airline shares attracted a lot of attention at higher prices but advances were meager. Auto stocks were under steady pressure and radio-televisions gently sagged.

Despite the market's tame performance, a substantial amount of business was done. Sales crossed the 2,000,000-share mark for the fourth time in a row although turnover of 2,030,000 shares was a trifle below Tuesday's 2,140,000.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at $85 a share. A moderate rise in the rail component was offset by minor declines in the utility and industrial groups.

Four of the 15 most active issues were airlines. Gains were limited to 25 cents or less a share each for Pan American at $10 a share, American $12.25, United $21.12, Eastern $18 and Trans World $20.87.

Rails quickly caught their balance after slipping Tuesday. Up as much as $1 a share each were Missouri Pacific preferred at $18.37, N. Y. Central $18.12, Canadian Pacific $21.12, Santa Fe $147.25, Nickel Plate $175, Southern Pacific $63.75 and Baltimore & Ohio $17.62.

Keen interest was stirred up in International Telephone, the most active issue, by news of a cash dividend plus a stock dividend. The final price, however, was unchanged at $13.25.

2,800 More Men To Be Inducted Into Army Soon

Calls Being Issued For 21-Year-Olds

BALTIMORE, Dec. 13 (AP) — Maryland already has sent more than 3,000 draftees into the Army since the outbreak of the Korean War and another 2,800 are to go by the end of February.

This would include approximately 250 men still to be called to fill a December quota of 562. Many of these probably will be able to spend Christmas at home.

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, Selective Service director in Maryland, said he expects the state's January quota to total 1,144 men and the February call to reach 1,408.

This would be in line with National Selective Service orders to double the call for January and raise the February draft by 60 per per cent.

Stanwood said calls were being issued to 21-year-olds.

He said the Army has asked that shipment of selectees be suspended from December 16 until after Christmas day.

The draft director reported that since July, 3,072 Maryland men, 21 to 26 years old, have been inducted by the Army.

Light Snow Falls In Area

After three consecutive days of snow fall, Garrett County was reported to have three more inches of new snow last night.

State Police were recommending that motorists use chains on the roads in Garrett County.

Temperatures were rising slowly late last night at Frostburg, 24 degrees being recorded at 10:45 o'clock. Some snow flurries were reported there.

Route 40 west of Frostburg was said to be clear, the road being bare in most places, but G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, was asking motorists to use chains because of the icy spots.

At Oakland, it snowed most of the day yesterday and at 10:45 p. m. the temperature was slowly falling, 23 degrees being recorded then.

A temperature of 22 degrees was reported from Deal, Pa., and a light snow was falling. Six inches of old snow was on the ground.

It was also snowing at Thomas, W. Va., where 10 inches of old snow was reported with the thermometer at 20 degrees.

Potomac Park Tree To Be Erected Tomorrow

The treats will be distributed to children of Potomac Park at the tree lighting ceremony Tuesday evening, December 19.

The property was sold by the Allegany County Board of Education and the Allegany County Commissioners, according to the deed. The land was a part of the old Beall High School property.

Just 15 years ago, the land was acquired by the school board from the Frostburg Baseball Association.

Toy Band Holds Program

Varied Christmas Activities Planned By Allegany High School Student Groups

Girls and boys in two clubs have accepted the responsibility of decorating the school's corridors. They are the Senior High Poster Club and the Senior High Art Club. If everything goes according to schedule, they will have their decorations complete when classes close tomorrow afternoon.

A number of yuletide exhibits, most of them on the unusual side, have been planned by the Poster Club. One of the arrangements will be displayed in the showcase in the arcade between the old and new wings of the school. There, the boys and girls will rig up a Santa Claus, whose form is made of wire. He will receive letters from "good little boys and girls," brought to him by his little helpers.

Among those whose letters will be featured are Ralph R. Webster, principal; Foy Curry, assistant principal; Mrs. Anna B. Higgins, vice principal, and Bob Pence, football coach.

Mural Is Planned

In the arcade windows, the Poster Club members will show carol singers and other characters made in the shape of candy canes, according to Mrs. Ethel C. Bruce, club adviser.

The gymnasium doors will feature silhouettes in blue and white (the school colors) showing the Christ child, a cherub and a candle. The frames around these silhouettes will be of pine. Snow men and snow women will be shown on the cafeteria walls and a large Christmas tree also will be placed in the eating room.

Bulletin board and door decorations are being arranged by the Senior High Art Club, whose adviser is Miss Betty Strawmire.

Miss Strawmire said yesterday the bulletin board exhibits will emphasize happy Christmas themes. Girls who are painting these displays include Jean Kressig, Beverly Buskirk, Joan Cooksey, Emily Butler, Alice Doyle, Betty Whetzel, Alma Lauder, Christine Lease, Nancy Dixon, Helen Everett, Mildred McDonald, Barbara Jean Henry and Barbara Anne Henry.

Already brightening the Alcohi corridors yesterday afternoon were the miscellaneous door decorations. These include white-painted twigs, red candy canes, with green leaves, blue bells with red bows and blue stars interspersed with smaller yellow stars.

Music Program Set

Musically, the feature of Allegany High Christmas activities will be the assemblies next Wednesday morning. The Senior Choral Club, directed by Miss Joyce Bestwick, will form a human Christmas tree on the stage of the auditorium. There 60 of the 90 girls will sit on specially-built platforms so that they form a huge Christmas tree.

Many of the favorite carols and hymns for this happy season will be sung by the girls. Soloists will include Marian Lippel, Nancy Wilson, Stella Charuhas, Judy Johnson, Ann Riggleman. The Allegany High School mixed octet also will sing "O Blessed Night."

The public is invited to this musical proram which will get underway at 10 a. m. next Wednesday. The various junior singing groups, directed by Miss Dorothy Willison and Miss Bestwick, will present a Christmas assembly for the junior high pupils at 10:45 a. m. Wednesday.

Commissioners Endorse Unity

Allegany county's three commissioners attended a meeting in Annapolis yesterday at which two groups of commissioners, from the Eastern Shore and from Western Maryland, voted to unite in one state-wide body.

The joint group, representing 20 of the 23 counties, passed a motion to form a single organization with two branches. The commissioners also went on record against changing Maryland's rotating property assessment program.

Representatives from Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties said in Annapolis yesterday that plans for a full-time coordinator and secretary had been drawn up in their respective counties but no money has been appropriated.

Commenting on the formation of a unified organization, Montgomery County Manager Irving G. McNayr said, "The county commissioners can pretty much influence what is done throughout the state. This Maryland organization will carry tremendous weight."

U. Grant Hooper, Frederick County, was elected president of the Western Shore group.

Dick Hockman, professional parachutist from Washington, D. C., will impersonate Saint Nick in a stunt jump over the Williams Road area to increase public interest in the Salvation Army kettle drive.

Settlement Ends Condemnation

A land condemnation case in Allegany County Circuit Court ended yesterday with an out-of-court settlement before the jury could hear the evidence.

A motion to amend the petition was heard yesterday morning by Judge George Henderson. After a recess for lunch, the two parties informed the judge that an agreement had been reached.

The suit was brought by the State Roads Commission against Walter W. White, 607 Fairview Avenue. The agency had offered White $4,000 for a 25 foot by 18 foot strip along Bedford Road near the city limits in a curve modification project. A check for the $4,000 has been on deposit with the clerk of circuit court for a year. White rejected this offer and the condemnation suit was started.

Several Suggestions Cited For Grassland Improvement

Several practices included in the Agricultural Conservation Program conducted by the Production and Marketing Administration in Maryland will help farmers in a new grassland improvement program, according to Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee.

The new program aimed at better grassland has been announced jointly by the Department of Agriculture and the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities.

In announcing the program, the two organizations stated, "Agriculture has an ideal opportunity through better grasslands for America to serve and support the nation's mobilization. The Colleges and the Department will work together with all their resources to gain the widespread improvement of the nation's billion acres of pasture, hay land, and range.

"Final responsibility for the improvements rests, of course, with farmers themselves."

Blandford said his agency assists farmers with the purchase of liming materials, phosphate and potash for grassland improvement. Payments are also made for establishment of permanent pasture and for clipping weeds on such pastures. Drainage and other soil-improving practices are also included in the programs adopted in many counties of Maryland.

"Star" Salesmen Will Aid Kettle Drive Saturday

Christmas Basket Goal Is $2,000

But members of six local service clubs are going to try exactly that when they man Salvation Army kettles in downtown Cumberland and the South End on Saturday.

It's for a worthy cause, too. All proceeds — the goal is $2,000 — will be turned over to the Salvation Army to provide Christmas baskets for needy families.

Lewis J. Ort, chairman of the event, said the united effort will begin at 9:30 Saturday morning and will continue until 5 that afternoon.

Optimist Club — on Virginia Avenue.

Rotary Club — in front of Peoples Store.

Lions Club — in front of Murphy's Store.

Frostburg Drive Set

In addition, a similar collection will be made in Frostburg on Saturday by the Lions and Rotarians of that city. The Salvation Army gives extensive assistance to families in the Georges Creek area.

Dick Hockman, professional parachutist from Washington, D. C., will take off from Cumberland Municipal Airport at 2 p. m. and will parachute to a landing on Fort Hill.

There he will be greeted by a group of children led by City Recreation Director Edmund F. Hoey.

Santa will ride downtown on a special float bearing the sign "Give To Your Kettle Drive."

Santa To Jump

The parade will be led by the Allegany High School Band.

Ort said that Warren Mullenax, operator of the Municipal Airport, has donated his services to fly Santa over the city for his parachute jump.

Also donated will be services of Nelson Russler's sound truck and the Light and Decker Company truck bearing the float.

Ort is chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board's Christmas committee, which is handling arrangements for the event.

For the past four years, local service clubs have manned the Kettle Houses and tripods used to raise funds for holiday work of the Salvation Army.

Tederick Clarifies Status Changes

Several inquiries have been received regarding classification changes of nine Water Department employes, according to Water Commissioner George H. Tederick.

The changes were approved Monday night by the Mayor and Council.

Tederick said the action was taken at the request of the employes concerned and represented only a "trading of jobs."

He explained that changes involving demotions were voluntary transfers on the part of the men themselves for reasons of different working hours and health.

The classification of "laborer" includes night duty at the Water Department warehouse, which had been requested in some cases, Tederick explained.

Contractor Asks $1,500 In Suit

A building contractor who contends he was injured by a backing truck which was delivering materials for a garage which he was building at Mt. Savage, filed a $1,500 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday against the Cement Products Company, Inc.

The suit was filed for Keller H. Johnson by Thomas Lohn Richards, attorney.

Johnson alleges that he was injured in Mt. Savage on or about October 18. He charges that the agent, servant and employe of the defendant, who was delivering building materials, backed the truck "in a negligent and careless manner."

As a result, Johnson alleges, the end gate of the truck caught his right hand, injuring three fingers and keeping him from work for five weeks.

Cableway Will Be Erected Soon

Towers for the cableway to be erected across the Potomac River at Kitzmiller have arrived, according to L. A. Koffman, engineer in charge of the Water Resources Branch, U. S. Geological Survey.

Weather conditions have delayed the installation of the system which is to aid in measuring the flow of water in the river.

Koffman said construction will begin as soon as possible because they are especially anxious to use it in measuring the flow of water during the winter and spring season, when high waters are more likely.

The towers arrived here from The Christensen Company, York, Pa., where they were fabricated.

Besides the two towers, the cableway consists of a strong cable connecting them, one being on each side of the river. A small cable is to be attached to the cable and move between the towers over the river.

There will be a span of 297 feet between the two towers, enabling a man to move in the car from one bank of the river to the other. Koffman said that he will be able to measure the flow of water at any point and periodic readings will be made, especially at times of high water.

The cable car is being fabricated in Columbus, Ohio.

Controversy In Naming School Ended By Kopp

Mt. Savage PTA Receives Letter

A controversy over the naming of the new high school being constructed in Mt. Savage has ended.

Charles L. Kopp, county superintendent of schools, said the building will be called "Mt. Savage High School."

Kopp sent a letter with this statement to the Mt. Savage Parent-Teacher Association. It was read at a meeting this week.

Previously, two petitions for other names had been circulated by the PTA and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post.

The PTA wanted to name the new school in honor of Mt. Savage resident, Lester B. Reed, a member of the House of Delegates. Reed introduced the bill for funds to build the school and was instrumental in its passage.

In tribute to veterans of the area, the VFW suggested that the school be named Memorial High School.

Both petitions had been forwarded to Kopp and apparently prompted the letter clarifying the name chosen for the school.

Following the PTA business session, a travel movie was shown of Rome and Paris. Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Crump, Mrs. Mary Wilhelm, Mrs. Ray Weimer and Mrs. Paul Dickel.

2,800 More Men To Be Inducted Into Army Soon

Calls Being Issued For 21-Year-Olds

BALTIMORE, Dec. 13 (AP) — Maryland already has sent more than 3,000 draftees into the Army since the outbreak of the Korean War and another 2,800 are to go by the end of February.

This would include approximately 250 men still to be called to fill a December quota of 562. Many of these probably will be able to spend Christmas at home.

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, Selective Service director in Maryland, said he expects the state's January quota to total 1,144 men and the February call to reach 1,408.

This would be in line with National Selective Service orders to double the call for January and raise the February draft by 60 per per cent.

Stanwood said calls were being issued to 21-year-olds.

He said the Army has asked that shipment of selectees be suspended from December 16 until after Christmas day.

The draft director reported that since July, 3,072 Maryland men, 21 to 26 years old, have been inducted by the Army.

Varied Christmas Activities Planned By Allegany High School Student Groups

Girls and boys in two clubs have accepted the responsibility of decorating the school's corridors. They are the Senior High Poster Club and the Senior High Art Club. If everything goes according to schedule, they will have their decorations complete when classes close tomorrow afternoon.

A number of yuletide exhibits, most of them on the unusual side, have been planned by the Poster Club. One of the arrangements will be displayed in the showcase in the arcade between the old and new wings of the school. There, the boys and girls will rig up a Santa Claus, whose form is made of wire. He will receive letters from "good little boys and girls," brought to him by his little helpers.

Among those whose letters will be featured are Ralph R. Webster, principal; Foy Curry, assistant principal; Mrs. Anna B. Higgins, vice principal, and Bob Pence, football coach.

Mural Is Planned

In the arcade windows, the Poster Club members will show carol singers and other characters made in the shape of candy canes, according to Mrs. Ethel C. Bruce, club adviser.

The gymnasium doors will feature silhouettes in blue and white (the school colors) showing the Christ child, a cherub and a candle. The frames around these silhouettes will be of pine. Snow men and snow women will be shown on the cafeteria walls and a large Christmas tree also will be placed in the eating room.

Bulletin board and door decorations are being arranged by the Senior High Art Club, whose adviser is Miss Betty Strawmire.

Miss Strawmire said yesterday the bulletin board exhibits will emphasize happy Christmas themes. Girls who are painting these displays include Jean Kressig, Beverly Buskirk, Joan Cooksey, Emily Butler, Alice Doyle, Betty Whetzel, Alma Lauder, Christine Lease, Nancy Dixon, Helen Everett, Mildred McDonald, Barbara Jean Henry and Barbara Anne Henry.

Already brightening the Alcohi corridors yesterday afternoon were the miscellaneous door decorations. These include white-painted twigs, red candy canes, with green leaves, blue bells with red bows and blue stars interspersed with smaller yellow stars.

Music Program Set

Musically, the feature of Allegany High Christmas activities will be the assemblies next Wednesday morning. The Senior Choral Club, directed by Miss Joyce Bestwick, will form a human Christmas tree on the stage of the auditorium. There 60 of the 90 girls will sit on specially-built platforms so that they form a huge Christmas tree.

"Star" Salesmen Will Aid Kettle Drive Saturday

Christmas Basket Goal Is $2,000

But members of six local service clubs are going to try exactly that when they man Salvation Army kettles in downtown Cumberland and the South End on Saturday.

It's for a worthy cause, too. All proceeds — the goal is $2,000 — will be turned over to the Salvation Army to provide Christmas baskets for needy families.

Lewis J. Ort, chairman of the event, said the united effort will begin at 9:30 Saturday morning and will continue until 5 that afternoon.

"Stands" assigned to the various clubs are as follows:

Optimist Club — on Virginia Avenue.

Rotary Club — in front of Peoples Store.

Lions Club — in front of Murphy's Store.

Frostburg Drive Set

In addition, a similar collection will be made in Frostburg on Saturday by the Lions and Rotarians of that city. The Salvation Army gives extensive assistance to families in the Georges Creek area.

Dick Hockman, professional parachutist from Washington, D. C., will take off from Cumberland Municipal Airport at 2 p. m. and will parachute to a landing on Fort Hill.

There he will be greeted by a group of children led by City Recreation Director Edmund F. Hoey.

Santa will ride downtown on a special float bearing the sign "Give To Your Kettle Drive."

Santa To Jump

The parade will be led by the Allegany High School Band.

Ort said that Warren Mullenax, operator of the Municipal Airport, has donated his services to fly Santa over the city for his parachute jump.

Also donated will be services of Nelson Russler's sound truck and the Light and Decker Company truck bearing the float.

Ort is chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board's Christmas committee, which is handling arrangements for the event.

For the past four years, local service clubs have manned the Kettle Houses and tripods used to raise funds for holiday work of the Salvation Army.

Tederick Clarifies Status Changes

Several inquiries have been received regarding classification changes of nine Water Department employes, according to Water Commissioner George H. Tederick.

The changes were approved Monday night by the Mayor and Council.

Tederick said the action was taken at the request of the employes concerned and represented only a "trading of jobs."

He explained that changes involving demotions were voluntary transfers on the part of the men themselves for reasons of different working hours and health.

The classification of "laborer" includes night duty at the Water Department warehouse, which had been requested in some cases, Tederick explained.

Contractor Asks $1,500 In Suit

A building contractor who contends he was injured by a backing truck which was delivering materials for a garage which he was building at Mt. Savage, filed a $1,500 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday against the Cement Products Company, Inc.

The suit was filed for Keller H. Johnson by Thomas Lohn Richards, attorney.

Johnson alleges that he was injured in Mt. Savage on or about October 18. He charges that the agent, servant and employe of the defendant, who was delivering building materials, backed the truck "in a negligent and careless manner."

As a result, Johnson alleges, the end gate of the truck caught his right hand, injuring three fingers and keeping him from work for five weeks.

Cableway Will Be Erected Soon

Towers for the cableway to be erected across the Potomac River at Kitzmiller have arrived, according to L. A. Koffman, engineer in charge of the Water Resources Branch, U. S. Geological Survey.

Weather conditions have delayed the installation of the system which is to aid in measuring the flow of water in the river.

Koffman said construction will begin as soon as possible because they are especially anxious to use it in measuring the flow of water during the winter and spring season, when high waters are more likely.

Besides the two towers, the cableway consists of a strong cable connecting them, one being on each side of the river. A small cable is to be attached to the cable and move between the towers over the river.

There will be a span of 297 feet between the two towers, enabling a man to move in the car from one bank of the river to the other. Koffman said that he will be able to measure the flow of water at any point and periodic readings will be made, especially at times of high water.

The cable car is being fabricated in Columbus, Ohio.

Controversy In Naming School Ended By Kopp

Mt. Savage PTA Receives Letter

A controversy over the naming of the new high school being constructed in Mt. Savage has ended.

Charles L. Kopp, county superintendent of schools, said the building will be called "Mt. Savage High School."

Kopp sent a letter with this statement to the Mt. Savage Parent-Teacher Association. It was read at a meeting this week.

Previously, two petitions for other names had been circulated by the PTA and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post.

The PTA wanted to name the new school in honor of Mt. Savage resident, Lester B. Reed, a member of the House of Delegates. Reed introduced the bill for funds to build the school and was instrumental in its passage.

In tribute to veterans of the area, the VFW suggested that the school be named Memorial High School.

Both petitions had been forwarded to Kopp and apparently prompted the letter clarifying the name chosen for the school.

Following the PTA business session, a travel movie was shown of Rome and Paris. Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Crump, Mrs. Mary Wilhelm, Mrs. Ray Weimer and Mrs. Paul Dickel.

The Legion has received some contributions for the Christmas baskets which they distribute to needy families.

A contribution of $25 has been received from Forty and Eight Voiture No. 164. The American Legion Auxiliary of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 has contributed $25 and the Legion itself, $175.

2,800 More Men To Be Inducted Into Army Soon

Calls Being Issued For 21-Year-Olds

BALTIMORE, Dec. 13 (AP) — Maryland already has sent more than 3,000 draftees into the Army since the outbreak of the Korean War and another 2,800 are to go by the end of February.

This would include approximately 250 men still to be called to fill a December quota of 562. Many of these probably will be able to spend Christmas at home.

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, Selective Service director in Maryland, said he expects the state's January quota to total 1,144 men and the February call to reach 1,408.

This would be in line with National Selective Service orders to double the call for January and raise the February draft by 60 per per cent.

Stanwood said calls were being issued to 21-year-olds.

He said the Army has asked that shipment of selectees be suspended from December 16 until after Christmas day.

The draft director reported that since July, 3,072 Maryland men, 21 to 26 years old, have been inducted by the Army.

At Oakland, it snowed most of the day yesterday and at 10:45 p. m. the temperature was slowly falling, 23 degrees being recorded then.

A temperature of 22 degrees was reported from Deal, Pa., and a light snow was falling. Six inches of old snow was on the ground.

Varied Christmas Activities Planned By Allegany High School Student Groups

Girls and boys in two clubs have accepted the responsibility of decorating the school's corridors. They are the Senior High Poster Club and the Senior High Art Club. If everything goes according to schedule, they will have their decorations complete when classes close tomorrow afternoon.

A number of yuletide exhibits, most of them on the unusual side, have been planned by the Poster Club. One of the arrangements will be displayed in the showcase in the arcade between the old and new wings of the school. There, the boys and girls will rig up a Santa Claus, whose form is made of wire. He will receive letters from "good little boys and girls," brought to him by his little helpers.

Among those whose letters will be featured are Ralph R. Webster, principal; Foy Curry, assistant principal; Mrs. Anna B. Higgins, vice principal, and Bob Pence, football coach.

Mural Is Planned

In the arcade windows, the Poster Club members will show carol singers and other characters made in the shape of candy canes, according to Mrs. Ethel C. Bruce, club adviser.

The gymnasium doors will feature silhouettes in blue and white (the school colors) showing the Christ child, a cherub and a candle. The frames around these silhouettes will be of pine. Snow men and snow women will be shown on the cafeteria walls and a large Christmas tree also will be placed in the eating room.

Bulletin board and door decorations are being arranged by the Senior High Art Club, whose adviser is Miss Betty Strawmire.

Miss Strawmire said yesterday the bulletin board exhibits will emphasize happy Christmas themes. Girls who are painting these displays include Jean Kressig, Beverly Buskirk, Joan Cooksey, Emily Butler, Alice Doyle, Betty Whetzel, Alma Lauder, Christine Lease, Nancy Dixon, Helen Everett, Mildred McDonald, Barbara Jean Henry and Barbara Anne Henry.

Already brightening the Alcohi corridors yesterday afternoon were the miscellaneous door decorations. These include white-painted twigs, red candy canes, with green leaves, blue bells with red bows and blue stars interspersed with smaller yellow stars.

Music Program Set

Musically, the feature of Allegany High Christmas activities will be the assemblies next Wednesday morning. The Senior Choral Club, directed by Miss Joyce Bestwick, will form a human Christmas tree on the stage of the auditorium. There 60 of the 90 girls will sit on specially-built platforms so that they form a huge Christmas tree.

Many of the favorite carols and hymns for this happy season will be sung by the girls. Soloists will include Marian Lippel, Nancy Wilson, Stella Charuhas, Judy Johnson, Ann Riggleman. The Allegany High School mixed octet also will sing "O Blessed Night."

The public is invited to this musical proram which will get underway at 10 a. m. next Wednesday. The various junior singing groups, directed by Miss Dorothy Willison and Miss Bestwick, will present a Christmas assembly for the junior high pupils at 10:45 a. m. Wednesday.

Commissioners Endorse Unity

Allegany county's three commissioners attended a meeting in Annapolis yesterday at which two groups of commissioners, from the Eastern Shore and from Western Maryland, voted to unite in one state-wide body.

The joint group, representing 20 of the 23 counties, passed a motion to form a single organization with two branches. The commissioners also went on record against changing Maryland's rotating property assessment program.

Representatives from Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties said in Annapolis yesterday that plans for a full-time coordinator and secretary had been drawn up in their respective counties but no money has been appropriated.

Commenting on the formation of a unified organization, Montgomery County Manager Irving G. McNayr said, "The county commissioners can pretty much influence what is done throughout the state. This Maryland organization will carry tremendous weight."

U. Grant Hooper, Frederick County, was elected president of the Western Shore group.

Those attending from Allegany county were Commissioners William H. Lemmert, James Holmes and James Orr; Gorman Getty, attorney for the commissioners, and Somerville Nicholson, county supervisor of assessments and acting clerk to the commissioners.

Santa Claus Has Problem—He May Lose His Suit

Santa Claus is all set to parachute into the city Saturday afternoon, except for one thing. He might lose his costume.

Dick Hockman, professional parachutist from Washington, D. C., will impersonate Saint Nick in a stunt jump over the Williams Road area to increase public interest in the Salvation Army kettle drive.

Settlement Ends Condemnation

A land condemnation case in Allegany County Circuit Court ended yesterday with an out-of-court settlement before the jury could hear the evidence.

A motion to amend the petition was heard yesterday morning by Judge George Henderson. After a recess for lunch, the two parties informed the judge that an agreement had been reached.

The suit was brought by the State Roads Commission against Walter W. White, 607 Fairview Avenue. The agency had offered White $4,000 for a 25 foot by 18 foot strip along Bedford Road near the city limits in a curve modification project. A check for the $4,000 has been on deposit with the clerk of circuit court for a year. White rejected this offer and the condemnation suit was started.

Allegany Choir Has Full Card

A seven-selection program has been arranged by the Allegany High School choir to be presented at the annual Christmas party for children which the Potomac Park Improvement Association will sponsor at 8 p. m. next Tuesday in the basement of the Evangelical United Brethren Church there.

Numbers which Miss Dorothy Willison, chair director, plan are "Joy to the World," "Legend of the Bells," "Shine, O Shine," 'We Saw Him Sleeping," O Holy Night," "Silent Night" and "Adeste Fideles." For the "Legend of the Bells," Carole Rector will be the pianist and Judy Johnson the marimbist.

Five other Christmas programs have been arranged for the choir, Miss Willison said. First of these was an appearance before the Lions Club yesterday at luncheon.

The choir, augmented by the mixed octet, will entertain the Rotary Club at luncheon next Tuesday. The choir will sing for the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday, December 21, and finally at the B and O station on December 22.

Several Suggestions Cited For Grassland Improvement

Several practices included in the Agricultural Conservation Program conducted by the Production and Marketing Administration in Maryland will help farmers in a new grassland improvement program, according to Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee.

The new program aimed at better grassland has been announced jointly by the Department of Agriculture and the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities.

In announcing the program, the two organizations stated, "Agriculture has an ideal opportunity through better grasslands for America to serve and support the nation's mobilization. The Colleges and the Department will work together with all their resources to gain the widespread improvement of the nation's billion acres of pasture, hay land, and range.

"Final responsibility for the improvements rests, of course, with farmers themselves."

Blandford said his agency assists farmers with the purchase of liming materials, phosphate and potash for grassland improvement. Payments are also made for establishment of permanent pasture and for clipping weeds on such pastures. Drainage and other soil-improving practices are also included in the programs adopted in many counties of Maryland.

Controversy In Naming School Ended By Kopp

Mt. Savage PTA Receives Letter

A controversy over the naming of the new high school being constructed in Mt. Savage has ended.

Charles L. Kopp, county superintendent of schools, said the building will be called "Mt. Savage High School."

Kopp sent a letter with this statement to the Mt. Savage Parent-Teacher Association. It was read at a meeting this week.

Previously, two petitions for other names had been circulated by the PTA and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post.

The PTA wanted to name the new school in honor of Mt. Savage resident, Lester B. Reed, a member of the House of Delegates. Reed introduced the bill for funds to build the school and was instrumental in its passage.

In tribute to veterans of the area, the VFW suggested that the school be named Memorial High School.

Both petitions had been forwarded to Kopp and apparently prompted the letter clarifying the name chosen for the school.

Following the PTA business session, a travel movie was shown of Rome and Paris. Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Crump, Mrs. Mary Wilhelm, Mrs. Ray Weimer and Mrs. Paul Dickel.

"Tide Of Toys" Program Will Be Held Here

Legion Collection Will Benefit Area

This was announced by Albert M. Kerns, Sr., commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion.

At a meeting of the post last night, members decided that in view of area conditions any toys donated for deserving children should be distributed here.

The American Legion is sponsoring a national "Tide of Toys" program for the benefit of children in foreign countries.

Kerns said a program will be worked out with the Salvation Army.

Any families having extra toys are asked to bring them to the Legion Home, Harrison Street, or notify the home and the toys will be called for.

Toys also may be turned over to any member of the Legion's child welfare comittee, which includes Mrs. Martha McNary, chairman; Lawrence Lease and Galen Storer.

Lease will contact Major Elmer Wall of the Salvation Army to work out plans for distribution.

Toys donated should be in good condition since the Legion has no facalities for repairing them, Kerns said.

The post decided to eliminate its other meeting this month due to the holidays. The next meeting will be held January 10.

The Legion has received some contributions for the Christmas baskets which they distribute to needy families.

A contribution of $25 has been received from Forty and Eight Voiture No. 164. The American Legion Auxiliary of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 has contributed $25 and the Legion itself, $175.

The auxiliary will cooperate with Miss Jeanette Bonig, of the Associated Charities, in making selections of gifts.
